VOL. LXXXIV—No. 113 CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 1, 1955. PRICE FIVE CENTS

HATOYAMA THANKS SUPPORTERS — Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama of Japan stands amid cheering party workers outside his residence as he thanks Democratic party supporters for the 2-to-1 conservative victory in the Parliamentary (Diet) elections. Hatoyama had waged an American-style campaign for friendship with both sides in the East-West cold war. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo).

Churchill: U.S. Tops In Nuclear Field

London, March 1 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the United States is the only country in the world able to deliver a full scale hydrogen bomb attack "on a few hours notice."

Further, he said the United States has an overwhelming lead over Soviet Russia in the "knowledge and power to make nuclear weapons."

The threat of a hydrogen attack on these islands lies in the future," Churchill told the House of Commons in opening a debate on defense planning.

"It is not with us now, according to the information which we have been able to obtain."

Opening a debate in the House of Commons on Britain's defense plans, the prime minister declared:

"ONLY THREE COUNTRIES possess, in varying degrees, the knowledge and the power to make nuclear weapons. Of these, the United States is overwhelmingly the chief."

Churchill said Britain has started making a hydrogen bomb.

The United States explored its first hydrogen device in the Pacific in November, 1952. The Soviet Union declared last month that Russia leads the United States in hydrogen bomb production. U. S. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson promptly challenged this. He said the United States was in the lead and that the Russians knew it.

CHURCHILL SAID the United States and Britain must be able in the event of war to strike at a number of Communist bases in the first few hours and deal a paralyzing blow at the outset.

"There is no defense—no absolute defense—against the hydrogen bomb," he said.

"Nor is any method in sight by which any nation or any country could be completely guaranteed against devastating injury, which even a score of them might inflict in wide regions."

Bomber Crashes; Five Are Killed

Lake Charles, La., March 1 (AP)—A crippled B47 jet bomber smashed into a suburban residential area last night, killing five as it cut a fiery swath into a trailer park.

The dead included the three crewmen and a young couple whose house was demolished by flaming debris.

The six-engine Startojet was trying to make a landing at Lake Charles Air Force Base when it hit a power line, crashed and exploded in a field and sent heavy metal pieces knifing into the residential area.

THE AIR BASE SAID the plane reported one engine had failed.

Capt. George Spotswood, base public information officer, identified the dead crewmen as:

Capt. Clarence Wilson, 34, pilot, California, Pa. His next of kin were his wife and four children.

Capt. Mark M. Veck, 34, copilot, Downieville, Pa. His next of kin were his wife and two children.

Capt. Elwyn B. McBee, 33, observer, Fort Worth, Tex. His next of kin were his wife and two children.

Red Cross Seeks $40,000 in Drive

To continue its vital aid to people in distress and to provide necessary help to our servicemen, the local Red Cross chapter announced today it will seek $40,000 and 19,000 members in its March, 1955 campaign.

"In addition to its health and safety programs, and its nationwide network of daily emergency services, the Red Cross always must keep itself in readiness to meet great national emergencies," local chapter chairman Frederick Hoffman said.

"FAILURE TO DO THIS would be a remission in our duty to the people of this county who for more than 70 years have looked to the Red Cross as a rallying point in time of trouble."

"This preparedness for what may come—particularly in our disaster, first aid and nursing services — requires continual strengthening of our programs. They cannot be put in mothballs, to be pulled out in case of emergency."

Services to the Armed Forces and Veterans will again claim a major portion of the Red Cross budget next year.

TO HELP TRAIN CITIZENS in methods of health and safety to protect themselves and others, the Red Cross will budget through its first aid, water safety, and nursing programs. "Such training would be invaluable," Mr. Hoffman said, "should our civilian population ever be subjected to the direct effects of war."

Mr. Hoffman emphasized that all Red Cross services are provided to the American people without charge.

Mayor Seeks Help On Re-assessment

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will ask Common Council tonight to appoint a five-man advisory committee of council members to act with him on the re-assessment question.

He will also request the off-street parking committee of council to meet with representatives of business groups and the Chamber of Commerce to discuss "generally" the question of off-street parking and its solution. This meeting would be held in the city court room at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, March 10.

MAYOR STANG SAID the committee on re-assessment would interview various concerns that handle this type of work, discuss such a program, costs, execution, etc. The committee would then submit its recommendations to the council.

In his annual message to the council January 1 Stang called attention to the problem of assessments, urging that the city "face it."

GENERALLY SPEAKING, he said at that time, "the real estate tax has declined in importance in the overall amount of tax paid by the individual in all forms, yet it remains and will continue to occupy a leading position in our revenue system insofar as local government is concerned. Every American believes in fair play. He wants to pay his share and not be carried by his fellow citizens in the same community. The assessment process long neglected at all levels of government, has become the motivating cause of the revision of the state equalization rates and it now takes on a new significance and deserves our serious consideration. I therefore propose that we no longer 'hide our head in the sand' but take some positive action to at least start the machinery moving.

"OUR CITY, like most of the others in this state, has reached the point where our assessment structure must be modernized. Many of our citizens, individually, and as groups, have indicated to me that the assessment situation in our city bears study, and I welcome their cooperation. We must bear in mind that for the first time in most of our memories the City of Kingston is being called upon to provide municipal services for a great expansion in industry and population."

Egypt Says Israel Attack Is Violent

Cairo, March 1 (AP)—Egypt charged Israel today with unleashing the most violent attack along the Israeli-Egyptian border since the 1949 Palestine armistice.

The Cairo government accused Israeli forces of killing 38 Egyptians and wounding 31 others in a "sneak" attack last night on an army headquarters two miles inside Egypt's coastal Gaza strip.

Five hours after the first Egyptian announcement, an Israeli spokesman in Jerusalem countercharged that the Egyptians had crossed from Gaza into Israel to attack an Israeli unit. The Jewish spokesman said the battle had "continued into the Gaza strip" and the Israelis "suffered a number of casualties" before repulsing the Egyptians.

FROM THE JORDAN sector of Jerusalem, however, an announcement from the UN truce organization supervising the Palestine armistice supported the Egyptian version. A spokesman said observers in the Gaza area had reported that an Israeli army unit had penetrated into the Egyptian territory and opened fire on Egyptian army troops. The UN spokesman said Egyptian casualties were put at 37 officers and soldiers killed and

Business Failures Decline

New York, March 1 (AP)—Business failures in the holiday-shortened week ended Feb. 24 declined to 178, the lowest level so far this year, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. reported today. That compared with 205 in the preceding week and 204 a year ago. It was the third consecutive week in which casualties dipped below the 1954 level. Failures with liabilities of $5,000 or more dropped to 156 from 187 in the previous week and 182 a year ago.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Feb. 24: Balance $5,447,063,231.39; deposits for fiscal year (July 1) $36,118,089,766.48; withdrawals for fiscal year $44,136,688,698.93; total debt $278,509,035,575.12x; Gold assets $21,715,965,755.52. x—Includes $512,035,065.80 debt not subject to statutory limit.

C of C Banquet Begins 6:45

The annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will start promptly at 6:45 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel this evening and the dining room doors will open at 6:30 o'clock.

Reservations, which closed Monday noon, indicate a good attendance at the dinner which will be the 10th annual banquet since the Chamber was re-organized in 1945.

The entire program will be broadcast over radio station WKNY, starting at approximately 7:45. This will include the complete talk by the guest speaker, Dr. Charles F. Phillips of Lewiston, Maine, president of Bates College.

Governor Is Angry Over Cuts

Threatens Slash In Road Program

Albany, March 1 (AP)—An angry Gov. Harriman today threatened to slash road-building funds unless Republican legislators vote corporation tax boosts and drop some proposed budget cuts.

The governor accused the GOP majorities in the Legislature of "bookkeeping tricks and indifference to the needs of the people" in planning to trim his budget by $17,556,423.

Republican senators and assemblymen agreed yesterday to reduce Harriman's budget for 1955-56 to $1,327,643,577 and to kill his proposals for a $17,200,000 increase in corporation taxes.

A SOURCE close to the Democratic administration said the governor was "steaming" with anger at the plan.

Harriman lashed back at the Republicans today by declaring, "the Republican program again favors the corporate interests by refusal to reestablish corporate taxes to their prewar level.

"This irresponsible failure to provide necessary revenue, if adhered to, would necessitate a curtailment in this year's construction program, principally in highway improvements."

The governor had proposed a record state spending program of $1,345,200,000 for the fiscal year that begins April 1.

HARRIMAN SAID he intended to use his veto power to counter Republican rejection of his recommendations for five million dollars additional in state aid for New York city.

Charging the GOP with discriminating against the city, he pledged himself "to use all of my power" to gain appropriations of $3,500,000 for special language classes there, $500,000 to help handicapped pupils and $1,000,000 for day-care centers.

HARRIMAN REPEATED that he favored pegging state aid to education at current rates for another year "to avoid severe cuts in aid to education for upstate communities."

"But at the same time New York city must receive the modest increase I have recommended to help take care of its special educational problems," he declared.

He said he would veto any other approach to education aid.

The Democratic minority leader, Eugene F. Bannigan, said in the Assembly last night that Harriman might permit the current freeze on state school aid rates to lapse unless the items were approved. Most upstate communities would suffer losses in aid unless the freeze were continued beyond the current expiration date, June 30.

JOSEPH F. CARLINO, Republican majority leader, responded that Harriman was saying — through Bannigan — that if "we don't abide by his bidding, he'll cut off state aid for education" in upstate communities.

Harriman criticized sharply GOP proposals to trim $200,000 from his request for Moreland Act investigation funds and $125,000 from the appropriation requested for the office of the State Commissioner of Investigation.

"These cuts would emasculate the power of the administration to investigate fraud, inefficiency and corruption in the state," he said. "What is the Republican party afraid of?"

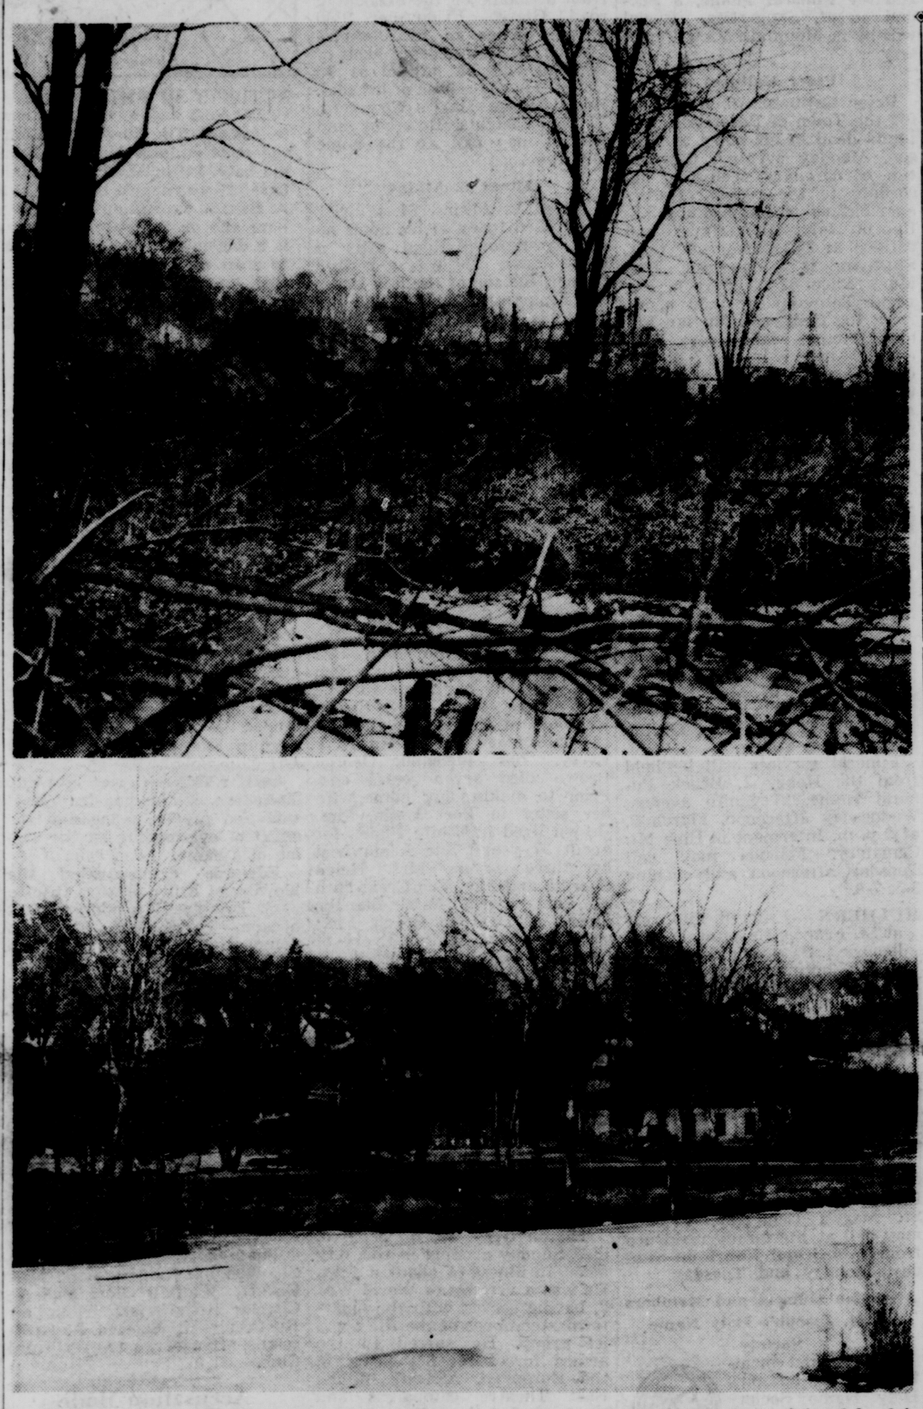

THE GOVERNOR ALSO suggested that the Republicans review proposals to slash appropriations for welfare services "with a view to humanizing their budget program."

Specifically he mentioned GOP plans to reduce his requests for local mental hygiene programs, health training, rehabilitation of handicapped workers' children.

Furthermore, Harriman maintained the Republican slash of $4,900,000 from aid to local governments was one he already had made. And Harriman said

Project Vital to City, Mayor Says of Plan

Block Park Work Is Example

Says Point Area Will Not Be Dump

A land reclamation project for Kingston will not only solve the city's refuse-disposal problem, but will save upwards of $10,000 in operational costs and ultimately provide a new area for municipal and industrial improvement, Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today.

"Disposal of waste material," he said, "is one of the city's most important problems," and he believes that one in the Kingston Point area would be wholly beneficial to the city.

A PUBLIC HEARING on the matter will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m., in the common council chambers at city hall, according to a notice published by Raymond L. Whitbeck, secretary of the board of public works.

"Let me stress, very sincerely," he said, "that this area will not become a dump, which would be unsightly and offensive." He cited a reclamation project in Block Park and one at the present Wilbur avenue dump as examples of efficient sanitary landfill.

"EVERYONE WILL ADMIT," he contended, "that the Wilbur avenue dump and Block Park show improvement. The Wilbur avenue dump, he noted however, "is not the city's answer to the refuse-disposal problem," and the city is forced to "decide where to go."

The wasteland site in the Kingston Point area, he said, is one that meets all requirements, and in the opinion of experts, including those brought here from New York city to inspect it, the land could not be more ideally suited for the purpose.

THE RECLAIMED LAND, it has been noted, could be used for park or playground purposes, for commercial use, and as the mayor said recently, it could be used someday as a helicopter port. When fully reclaimed the city would have 50 acres of usable land near the waterfront.

One authority on landfill noted recently that "If our living standards are to continue to rise, so must out sanitation standards," and cited as nine reasons why sanitary landfill is a successful method of refuse-disposal were:

1. IT SERVES the public interest from a health standpoint, because flies, mosquitoes, rats and other disease-carrying vermin are eliminated.
2. Ends fire and odor nuisances.
3. Can combine garbage and refuse collections and end the need for sorting.
4. Solves the problem of disposing of unburnable material.
5. Can locate disposal sites near centers of refuse.
6. Makes it possible to reclaim waste or useless lands and convert them into parks and recreation areas.
7. Completed fill enhances surrounding property values.
8. Landfill operations can help stop soil erosion.
9. Cost analysis points to the desirability of sanitary landfill methods.

EXPERTS ON THE SUBJECT note that World War 2 "brought out the economy and feasibility of landfill." Many army camps sprang up in short periods, immediate refuse disposal was required, and as the idea progressed, government officials became convinced of its efficiency.

As of this year, between 300 and 400 army bases use the landfill method of refuse disposal, and it is used also at air force bases. The army's experience encouraged communities of all sizes to use it.

The type proposed for Kingston is known as the "area landfill" type, which gradually reclaims sections of wasteland. In the trench method, trenches

New Mutual Aid Plan Is Drawn

Copies of a proposed Mutual Aid fire plan have been sent to all volunteer fire companies of Ulster county, fire districts, village fire departments, town boards and the board of supervisors for study, prior to its being presented to the next meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association for approval.

The meeting will be held at the common council chambers in the city hall, Kingston, on March 15.

The Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan, which is being presented by Joseph L. Murphy, chairman of the Ulster County Fire Advisory Board, and Arthur C. Chipp, Ulster County Fire Coordinator, will provide a written plan for Mutual Aid for the Ulster County Fire Service and must be approved by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. The proposed plan is similar to that in other counties in the state.

Copies of the proposed plan may be seen at any of the county's fire companies or through any fire official in the towns or City of Kingston.

A MUTUAL AID PROGRAM has been in effect in Ulster county for several years and has

Volcano Has New Fury in Pahoa Area

Pahoa, Hawaii, March 1 (AP)—A spectacular volcanic eruption spouted with new fury today and civil defense officials declared a state of emergency. One small village was virtually abandoned.

An estimated 100 acres of sugar cane fields and timber were ablaze with molten lava. More than 400 persons fled their homes in the path of the fiery rivers moving relentlessly forward.

Early today the main lava stream had traveled about 2½ miles, and was still about 4½ miles from the ocean.

CIVIL DEFENSE headquarters reported tons of fluid rock spreading out in three directions. Fountains of boiling lava shot 50 to 100 feet in the air from four white hot craters rising higher by the hour.

The state of emergency will permit officials to order people out of their homes. Some have refused. Sightseers are stopped at Pahoa.

There have been no casualties

Pontecorvo Accuses Nations Of Aggressive Atom Use

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian-born British scientist who disappeared from the west in 1950, said in letter to Soviet newspapers today he has been working on "peaceful" atomic projects in the Soviet Union since that time.

The letters accused Britain and the United States of "using atomic and nuclear weapons as a means of achieving world domination" and appealed to western scientists to protest against the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

(Pontecorvo took part in British-American work on the first atomic bomb. The U. S. joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee in 1951 rated him as a "first-class scientific brain" and "a storehouse of knowledge about Anglo-American-Canadian atomic projects." It said he also had knowledge of later hydrogen bomb developments.)

Pontecorvo's identical letters, the first definite word of him since his disappearance, appeared in Pravda and Izvestia, the Soviet Communist party and government newspapers. Without saying so specifically, they indicated he is working in Moscow.

Asserting he quit the west be-

Poughkeepsie Residents Get State Prison Terms

Peter Corcoran and Robert Kessler of Poughkeepsie were sentenced to terms of from one and one-half to three years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison Monday afternoon in county court following their plea of guilty to third degree robbery. However, both were placed on probation when execution of sentence was suspended during good behavior. Bail was exonerated and the first two counts of the indictment, charges of first degree robbery were dismissed.

The two were charged with having robbed one, William Johnson of about $5 in April, 1954, after taking him from a Poughkeepsie tavern and giving him a ride to Highland. Charles Saccoman appeared by assignment for the two defendants.

Victor Tompkins of Clintondale changed a former plea of innocent and entered a plea of guilty to rape, second degree. He was sentenced to a term of from one year to two years in Clinton prison and sentence was suspended during good behavior. He was placed on probation. M. A. Weishaupt, Jr., appeared for Thomas Saccoman, counsel for defendant.

PontecorvoAccusesNations Of Aggressive Atom Use

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian-born British scientist who disappeared from the west in 1950, said in letter to Soviet newspapers today he has been working on "peaceful" atomic projects in the Soviet Union since that time.

The letters accused Britain and the United States of "using atomic and nuclear weapons as a means of achieving world domination" and appealed to western scientists to protest against the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

(Pontecorvo took part in British-American work on the first atomic bomb. The U. S. joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee in 1951 rated him as a "first-class scientific brain" and "a storehouse of knowledge about Anglo-American-Canadian atomic projects." It said he also had knowledge of later hydrogen bomb developments.)

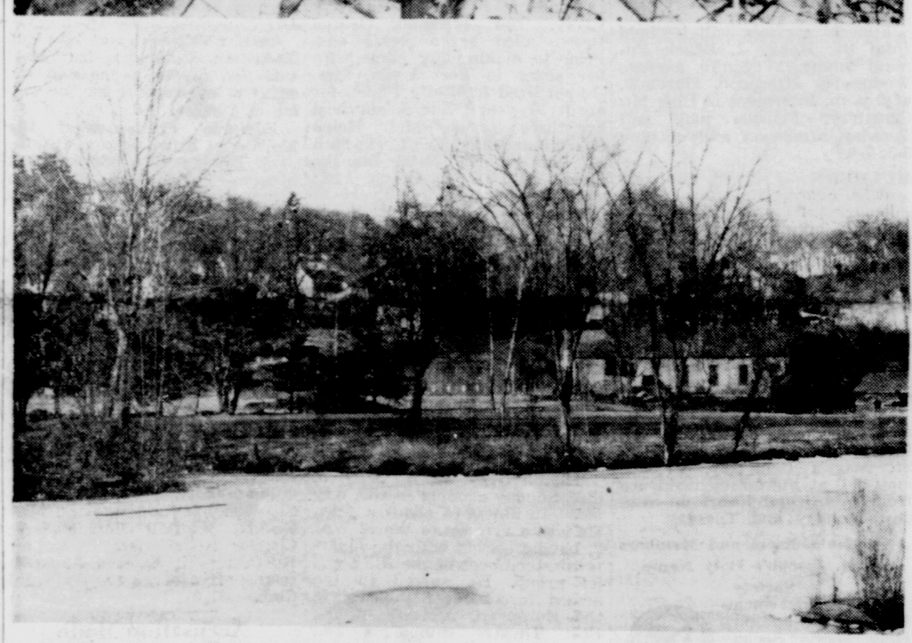

Pontecorvo's identical letters, the first definite word of him since his disappearance, appeared in Pravda and Izvestia, the Soviet Communist party and government newspapers. Without saying so specifically, they indicated he is working in Moscow.

Project Vital to City, Mayor Says of Plan

Block Park Work Is Example

Says Point Area Will Not Be Dump

A land reclamation project for Kingston will not only solve the city's refuse-disposal problem, but will save upwards of $10,000 in operational costs and ultimately provide a new area for municipal and industrial improvement, Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today.

"Disposal of waste material," he said, "is one of the city's most important problems," and he believes that one in the Kingston Point area would be wholly beneficial to the city.

A PUBLIC HEARING on the matter will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m., in the common council chambers at city hall, according to a notice published by Raymond L. Whitbeck, secretary of the board of public works.

"Let me stress, very sincerely," he said, "that this area will not become a dump, which would be unsightly and offensive." He cited a reclamation project in Block Park and one at the present Wilbur avenue dump as examples of efficient sanitary landfill.

"EVERYONE WILL ADMIT," he contended, "that the Wilbur avenue dump and Block Park show improvement. The Wilbur avenue dump, he noted however, "is not the city's answer to the refuse-disposal problem," and the city is forced to "decide where to go."

The wasteland site in the Kingston Point area, he said, is one that meets all requirements, and in the opinion of experts, including those brought here from New York city to inspect it, the land could not be more ideally suited for the purpose.

THE RECLAIMED LAND, it has been noted, could be used for park or playground purposes, for commercial use, and as the mayor said recently, it could be used someday as a helicopter port. When fully reclaimed the city would have 50 acres of usable land near the waterfront.

One authority on landfill noted recently that "If our living standards are to continue to rise, so must out sanitation standards," and cited as nine reasons why sanitary landfill is a successful method of refuse-disposal were:

1. IT SERVES the public interest from a health standpoint, because flies, mosquitoes, rats and other disease-carrying vermin are eliminated.
2. Ends fire and odor nuisances.
3. Can combine garbage and refuse collections and end the need for sorting.
4. Solves the problem of disposing of unburnable material.
5. Can locate disposal sites near centers of refuse.
6. Makes it possible to reclaim waste or useless lands and convert them into parks and recreation areas.
7. Completed fill enhances surrounding property values.
8. Landfill operations can help stop soil erosion.
9. Cost analysis points to the desirability of sanitary landfill methods.

EXPERTS ON THE SUBJECT note that World War 2 "brought out the economy and feasibility of landfill." Many army camps sprang up in short periods, immediate refuse disposal was required, and as the idea progressed, government officials became convinced of its efficiency.

As of this year, between 300 and 400 army bases use the landfill method of refuse disposal, and it is used also at air force bases. The army's experience encouraged communities of all sizes to use it.

The type proposed for Kingston is known as the "area landfill" type, which gradually reclaims sections of wasteland. In the trench method, trenches

New Mutual Aid Plan Is Drawn

Copies of a proposed Mutual Aid fire plan have been sent to all volunteer fire companies of Ulster county, fire districts, village fire departments, town boards and the board of supervisors for study, prior to its being presented to the next meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association for approval.

The meeting will be held at the common council chambers in the city hall, Kingston, on March 15.

The Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan, which is being presented by Joseph L. Murphy, chairman of the Ulster County Fire Advisory Board, and Arthur C. Chipp, Ulster County Fire Coordinator, will provide a written plan for Mutual Aid for the Ulster County Fire Service and must be approved by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. The proposed plan is similar to that in other counties in the state.

Copies of the proposed plan may be seen at any of the county's fire companies or through any fire official in the towns or City of Kingston.

A MUTUAL AID PROGRAM has been in effect in Ulster county for several years and has

Volcano Has New Fury in Pahoa Area

Pahoa, Hawaii, March 1 (AP)—A spectacular volcanic eruption spouted with new fury today and civil defense officials declared a state of emergency. One small village was virtually abandoned.

An estimated 100 acres of sugar cane fields and timber were ablaze with molten lava. More than 400 persons fled their homes in the path of the fiery rivers moving relentlessly forward.

Early today the main lava stream had traveled about 2½ miles, and was still about 4½ miles from the ocean.

CIVIL DEFENSE headquarters reported tons of fluid rock spreading out in three directions. Fountains of boiling lava shot 50 to 100 feet in the air from four white hot craters rising higher by the hour.

The state of emergency will permit officials to order people out of their homes. Some have refused. Sightseers are stopped at Pahoa.

There have been no casualties

Poughkeepsie Residents Get State Prison Terms

Peter Corcoran and Robert Kessler of Poughkeepsie were sentenced to terms of from one and one-half to three years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison Monday afternoon in county court following their plea of guilty to third degree robbery. However, both were placed on probation when execution of sentence was suspended during good behavior. Bail was exonerated and the first two counts of the indictment, charges of first degree robbery were dismissed.

The two were charged with having robbed one, William Johnson of about $5 in April, 1954, after taking him from a Poughkeepsie tavern and giving him a ride to Highland. Charles Saccoman appeared by assignment for the two defendants.

Victor Tompkins of Clintondale changed a former plea of innocent and entered a plea of guilty to rape, second degree. He was sentenced to a term of from one year to two years in Clinton prison and sentence was suspended during good behavior. He was placed on probation. M. A. Weishaupt, Jr., appeared for Thomas Saccoman, counsel for defendant.

Knowland Says Humphrey May Suggest Veto

Washington, March 1 (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said at the White House today he "would not be surprised" if Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey recommended that President Eisenhower veto any bill providing for a $20 per person income tax cut.

The Senate Republican leader made the statement to newsmen after he and other GOP congressional leaders had held their regular weekly meeting with the President.

KNOWLAND DECLINED to say whether Eisenhower himself gave any indication whether he would veto an income tax reduction measure. In response to a question, however, the senator said that he personally would recommend a veto.

Knowland said he was thinking specifically of such a bill as the House approved last week. In addition to calling for a $20 income tax cut for everybody starting next year, the bill would continue corporation and excise taxes at their present levels beyond April 1, when they are now scheduled to drop.

The administration wants the prevailing rate on corporation and excise levies continued.

Prospects for getting the bill through the Senate Finance Committee with the personal income tax cut provision in it already appeared dim.

ACTIVITY IN ANTARCTICA—With mission accomplished, the U.S.S. Atka has left the Antarctic continent and is en route home to Boston. The Navy expedition's purpose was to find and survey the most suitable base for future exploration. They found the old base, Little America (1) destroyed by ice breakup. The new base (2) was named in honor of Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, USN. A British expedition from the Falkland Islands is surveying a base site on the Palmer Peninsula (3), and under consideration is a daring plan for two English-Australian-New Zealand parties to cross the trackless wastes of the South Pole by land vehicles. The Australia-New Zealand party would strike out from a base on McMurdo Sound (4) and aim to link up with the English expedition traveling from Vahsel Bay on the Wedeel Sea (5).

4-Hers Hear Talk On Fuses, Wires

Carleton M. Edwards, rural engineering specialist of the college of Agricultural Engineering, Cornell, lectured to a group of Ulster county 4-H Club leaders last night at the office, 74 John street, on the project, Fun and Facts With Fuses and Wires.

Preceding the lecture and demonstration the group dined at the Stuyvesant Hotel as guests of Malcolm Sargeant, representing Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. Ten persons attended the dinner and lecture, including Edmund Bower, county 4-H Club agent.

THE EVENING was spent in discussion and demonstration of safe and proper fusing and the effect of overloading on the wiring of a home.

Edwards demonstrated the blowing of a five ampere fuse to show how easily a house circuit became overloaded. He also demonstrated a 15 ampere fuse under heavy loading with electrical appliances. When the lamp dimmed it indicated overloading, a source of danger.

The 4-H Club leaders who attended the meeting will train almost a hundred boys and girls in proper fusing and electrical safety.

Accusation Made

New York, March 1 (AP)—J. Irwin Shapiro, state commissioner of investigation, accused Republican legislative leaders today of trying to "paralyze" his department by cutting its budget. "If the majority of the Legislature doesn't want a State Department of Investigation, why don't they have the guts and gumption to come right out in the open and repeal the office entirely?" Shapiro asked newsmen. Confirming news reports that the $325,000 approved by the state budget director for his department was to be cut to $200,000, Shapiro asked: "Who is afraid of a live, virile commissioner of investigation whose hands are not tide?"

Basketball Player Killed

Trumbull, Conn., March 1 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old John Cordova, high scorer on the Stamford basketball team, was killed last night when a car carrying five members of the tournament-bound team crashed into a tree on the Merritt Parkway. The four others were injured. They are: Edward Lane, 17, severe lacerations of the head; Andrew Wasil, 16, the driver, arm and leg injuries; Julien Orlinski, 17, sprained left hand, and Robert LePare, 17, abrasions of the face and hands. They are admitted to Bridgeport Hospital.

Regents Back Bills

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The State Board of Regents threw its support today behind bills before the Legislature that would almost double the number of state scholarships awarded each year. In a memorandum to Gov. Harriman and the Democratic and Republican leaders of the Legislature, the Regents declared that the present scholarship program was "hopelessly outmoded."

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Leon Keyserling, economic expert in the Truman administration, told the Senate Finance Committee today that personal income taxes should be cut because there is a serious lag in consumer buying power.

Keyserling, testifying on a House bill which would give a tax cut of $20 a person starting next year, said it is "utterly indefensible" to contend that this reduction would be inflationary.

"The most rational criticism of this proposal (the House bill) would be that it is not large enough nor fast enough to respond adequately to the rising threat of unemployment and national economic deficits," he said.

Saugerties Woman Dies of Injuries

Miss Effie May Genthner, 47, of 167 Ulster avenue, Saugerties, died of a fractured skull last night in Albany Hospital.

Miss Genthner, an employe of Newberry's store, Saugerties, was reported by the village police department to have been carrying boxes up a flight of stairs yesterday at the store, when she apparently lost her balance and fell backward.

A verdict of accidental death was given by Coroner J. Gregory Nealon, of Albany county.

Following the accident Miss Genthner was brought to the Benedictine Hospital, this city, by ambulance and was transferred last night to Albany Hospital.

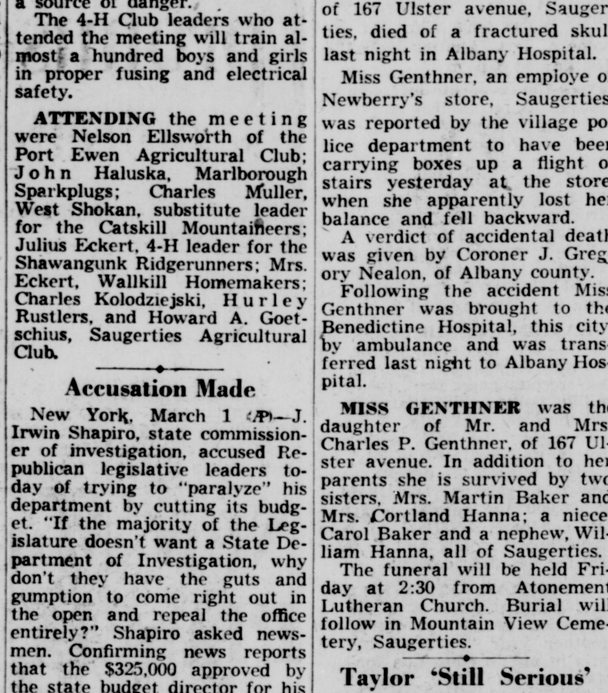

MISS GENTHNER was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Genthner, of 167 Ulster avenue. In addition to her parents she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martin Baker and Mrs. Cortland Hanna; a niece, Carol Baker and a nephew, William Hanna, all of Saugerties.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2:30 from Atonement Lutheran Church. Burial will follow in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

Taylor 'Still Serious'

Robert John Taylor, 19, of 60 12th street, Hoboken, N. J., who was found lying on the edge of the southbound lane of Route 9W near the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, early Monday morning, was reported "still serious" at Kingston Hospital today. Taylor suffered head injuries, cause of which has not been determined. Investigation by the Ulster county sheriff's office is continuing.

A Short Cut Home

To narrow the distance between members of the Armed Forces and their homes, the American Red Cross has established a worldwide communications system vital to the Red Cross family counseling and financial assistance program for servicemen. VFW Is Advised On Rights; Cup Given Saugerties

Saugerties, March 1—At a testimonial dinner Saturday in his honor, and for awarding of a membership cup, Timothy J. Murphy, national vice commander, told Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary that they must be strongly insistent where benefits for exservicemen are concerned.

At the event held in the home of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, more than 150 men and women saw the membership trophy go to the home organization, which surpassed all other units in Hudson Valley Counties Council in signing up members.

PRESENTATION of the cup, donated by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly of Kingston, was made by Attorney Hubert Richter, past commander of Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Kingston, who complimented the winners.

Vice Commander Murphy introduced by Ralph Scism, Kingston, commander of the valley council, said that all the benefits being offered to entice young men to seek careers in the armed forces should be viewed by veterans as a challenge to see that the individual remains important after his term of service ends.

He emphasized that "we must insure that anyone who wore the uniform will not be left on the streets to waste away for the lack of hospital and medical care. Murphy blasted the American Medical Association, which, he said had been pressuring for the mitigation of the Veterans Administration medical aid program. He charged the AMA policy is motivated by "selfishness" and is designed to promote "personal interests.'

RECALLING a trip to Korea, through a special commission by President Eisenhower, he said wounded and sick ROK veterans have to take care of themselves, after fighting for their country.

"If there were no veterans organizations," Murphy said, "we would not have the laws on the books that we have today for our protection.

"It is necessary to have militant, cohesive veterans' organizations, like the VFW, not as a pressure group, but to act in the interest of 100 per cent Americans in the 100 per cent American way."

Leonard Scheffelin, commander of the state VFW, in his speech, complimented Ulster Counties Council, and William H. Jordan, Kingston, membership chairman for the council, which comprises Ulster and Orange counties.

RECEIVING the membership cup for Saugerties Memorial Post was Commander Bernard E. McCutcheon and John J. Wood, Sr., membership chairman of the local victorious post.

It was disclosed that Saugerties Memorial Post had achieved a better than 150 per cent record over its specified quota.

Other special awards also were a feature of the evening's festivities.

Mrs. Georgette Coons received a special service award for her outstanding contributions to the local post, despite the fact that she does not qualify for membership in the auxiliary. In a gracious comment following the award, Mrs. Coons humbly thanked the post for the gesture and said she would continue to do all she could to help.

OTHER SPECIAL service awards went to John Prendergast and Charles Arold, Sr., both of whom had given of their time, efforts and money to help with projects of the local organization.

Receiving a special introduction was Mrs. George Wood, Sr., who was instrumental in forming the local VFW Auxiliary and the Kingston auxiliary.

DIGNITARIES who were introduced to the assembled included Commander McCutcheon, John Utter, chairman of the banquet committee; George Holmes, mayor of Saugerties; Mrs. Katherine Crawford, deputy senior vice president of the VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. John Prendergast, president of the local VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Pauline Robbins, president of the Kingston VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Ida Kilgannon, president of the Kerhonkson auxiliary; Mrs. Hazel Drewes, VAVS representative of District 2; Michael McKenna, commander of District 2; Ray Odell, Dutchess county VFW commander; Don Robbins, commander of the Kingston VFW post; Jake Collier, commander of the Ellenville post; John Kilgannon, commander of the Kerhonkson post; Al Gomboy, past county commander; and others.

Dinner was served by the local VFW Auxiliary, under the supervision of Miss Marie McCutcheon.

THOSE WHO served with her included Mrs. Evelyn Arold, Mrs. Mary Maclary, Mrs. Helen Gardner, Mrs. Ethelda Shader, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Lillian Compitello, Mrs. Dorothy Wood, Miss Betty Wright, Mrs. Charlotte Sperl, Mrs. Eileen Hommell, Mrs. Lillian Jasienowski, Miss Jackie Accurso, Miss Agnes Shaffer, Miss Hanah Lewis, Mrs. Ethel Jehle, and Mrs. Edna Schoonmaker.

Also Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mrs. Myrtle Utter, Mrs. Edith Doyle, William Brown, Len Sperl, Charles Arold, Charles Shader, Valmore Carpenter and Ike Hennegan.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 1 (AP)—The stock market continued its rise today for the second straight session, but the advance was labored.

Railroads and steels were active and higher in their leadership role. Aircrafts were backward.

Gains went to around 2 points in a few instances. Losses usually were cut off at around a point.

Business was moderate. Except for the opening rush, the tape idled along at about the rate of yesterday's 2,620,000 shares.

Motors and radio-televisions were steady. Rubbers were lower. Oils were usually higher.

Western Union was strong on the report that it made more money in January of this year than in the first two months combined last year.

Decision Is Delayed

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee questioned Isador Lubin for an hour and a half today, then recessed without deciding whether to recommend his long-delayed confirmation as state industial commissioner. Sen. Louis Friedman, Brooklyn Democrat and a member of the GOP-controlled committee, said the questioning had included inquiry into a remark attributed to Lubin in 1930 and an organization to which Lubin was said to have belonged in 1915.

Newburgh Man Gets Year in Jail

Charles Palmer of Newburgh entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry in County Court this morning and was sentenced to a year in the county jail with credit being given for the time he has been in jail. Francis Tucker appeared by assignment for Palmer.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Cashin stated that Palmer's record was "bad" and only acceptance of the unlawful entry charge in the indictment saved Palmer from a long sentence in prison. The original charge was burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry for an alleged entrance to a building in the town of Plattekill where a stove was taken. Also involved was William L. Dorsey of Newburgh who entered a similar plea on Monday.

MOLCOLM LYONS, Thomas Brandt and John Cumming, charged with having taken ammunition from a town of Rosendale property last November 12, entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny and were given jail sentences of four months with credit alowed for time served. Charles Saccoman appeared for the trio and asked that leniency be shown.

The case of Thomas Earl Yerry, Jr., grand larceny, first degree, went over to the April term on motion of Harry Gold, counsel for defendant.

Another Attempt Made on Safe

Another attempt at cracking a safe is under local police investigation this week.

Police were notified Saturday that entrance had been gained to the J. B. Back & Co., Inc., building, 84 Wilbur avenue, that about $10 in change had been taken from a Coca Cola machine, and attempts were made to crack the office safe.

Entrance to the building (formerly No. 1 School) was gained through a side window on the old section of the building.

AN ATTEMPT to crack a safe in the building of Old Capital Motors, Inc., 300 Broadway, was reported several days ago. The safe there had been moved from an office to the shop.

Attempts at jimmying the one in the Back building resulted in about $75 worth of damage, a spokesman for the company said.

Knowland Says Humphrey May Suggest Veto

Washington, March 1 (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said at the White House today he "would not be surprised" if Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey recommended that President Eisenhower veto any bill providing for a $20 per person income tax cut.

The Senate Republican leader made the statement to newsmen after he and other GOP congressional leaders had held their regular weekly meeting with the President.

KNOWLAND DECLINED to say whether Eisenhower himself gave any indication whether he would veto an income tax reduction measure. In response to a question, however, the senator said that he personally would recommend a veto.

Knowland said he was thinking specifically of such a bill as the House approved last week. In addition to calling for a $20 income tax cut for everybody starting next year, the bill would continue corporation and excise taxes at their present levels beyond April 1, when they are now scheduled to drop.

The administration wants the prevailing rate on corporation and excise levies continued.

Prospects for getting the bill through the Senate Finance Committee with the personal income tax cut provision in it already appeared dim.

Legal Restraint

Fort Wayne, Ind. (AP) — Fred C. Ward got a Superior Court order restraining his first wife, Erma, from telling his second wife, Marie, about her marriage to Ward. Wasn't complimentary, Ward said.

ACTIVITY IN ANTARCTICA—With mission accomplished, the U.S.S. Atka has left the Antarctic continent and is en route home to Boston. The Navy expedition's purpose was to find and survey the most suitable base for future exploration. They found the old base, Little America (1) destroyed by ice breakup. The new base (2) was named in honor of Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, USN. A British expedition from the Falkland Islands is surveying a base site on the Palmer Peninsula (3), and under consideration is a daring plan for two English-Australian-New Zealand parties to cross the trackless wastes of the South Pole by land vehicles. The Australia-New Zealand party would strike out from a base on McMurdo Sound (4) and aim to link up with the English expedition traveling from Vahsel Bay on the Wedeel Sea (5).

4-Hers Hear Talk On Fuses, Wires

Carleton M. Edwards, rural engineering specialist of the college of Agricultural Engineering, Cornell, lectured to a group of Ulster county 4-H Club leaders last night at the office, 74 John street, on the project, Fun and Facts With Fuses and Wires.

Preceding the lecture and demonstration the group dined at the Stuyvesant Hotel as guests of Malcolm Sargeant, representing Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. Ten persons attended the dinner and lecture, including Edmund Bower, county 4-H Club agent.

THE EVENING was spent in discussion and demonstration of safe and proper fusing and the effect of overloading on the wiring of a home.

Edwards demonstrated the blowing of a five ampere fuse to show how easily a house circuit became overloaded. He also demonstrated a 15 ampere fuse under heavy loading with electrical appliances. When the lamp dimmed it indicated overloading, a source of danger.

The 4-H Club leaders who attended the meeting will train almost a hundred boys and girls in proper fusing and electrical safety.

Accusation Made

New York, March 1 (AP)—J. Irwin Shapiro, state commissioner of investigation, accused Republican legislative leaders today of trying to "paralyze" his department by cutting its budget. "If the majority of the Legislature doesn't want a State Department of Investigation, why don't they have the guts and gumption to come right out in the open and repeal the office entirely?" Shapiro asked newsmen. Confirming news reports that the $325,000 approved by the state budget director for his department was to be cut to $200,000, Shapiro asked: "Who is afraid of a live, virile commissioner of investigation whose hands are not tide?"

Basketball Player Killed

Trumbull, Conn., March 1 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old John Cordova, high scorer on the Stamford basketball team, was killed last night when a car carrying five members of the tournament-bound team crashed into a tree on the Merritt Parkway. The four others were injured. They are: Edward Lane, 17, severe lacerations of the head; Andrew Wasil, 16, the driver, arm and leg injuries; Julien Orlinski, 17, sprained left hand, and Robert LePare, 17, abrasions of the face and hands. They are admitted to Bridgeport Hospital.

Regents Back Bills

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The State Board of Regents threw its support today behind bills before the Legislature that would almost double the number of state scholarships awarded each year. In a memorandum to Gov. Harriman and the Democratic and Republican leaders of the Legislature, the Regents declared that the present scholarship program was "hopelessly outmoded."

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Leon Keyserling, economic expert in the Truman administration, told the Senate Finance Committee today that personal income taxes should be cut because there is a serious lag in consumer buying power.

Keyserling, testifying on a House bill which would give a tax cut of $20 a person starting next year, said it is "utterly indefensible" to contend that this reduction would be inflationary.

"The most rational criticism of this proposal (the House bill) would be that it is not large enough nor fast enough to respond adequately to the rising threat of unemployment and national economic deficits," he said.

Saugerties Woman Dies of Injuries

Miss Effie May Genthner, 47, of 167 Ulster avenue, Saugerties, died of a fractured skull last night in Albany Hospital.

Miss Genthner, an employe of Newberry's store, Saugerties, was reported by the village police department to have been carrying boxes up a flight of stairs yesterday at the store, when she apparently lost her balance and fell backward.

A verdict of accidental death was given by Coroner J. Gregory Nealon, of Albany county.

Following the accident Miss Genthner was brought to the Benedictine Hospital, this city, by ambulance and was transferred last night to Albany Hospital.

MISS GENTHNER was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Genthner, of 167 Ulster avenue. In addition to her parents she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martin Baker and Mrs. Cortland Hanna; a niece, Carol Baker and a nephew, William Hanna, all of Saugerties.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2:30 from Atonement Lutheran Church. Burial will follow in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

Taylor 'Still Serious'

Robert John Taylor, 19, of 60 12th street, Hoboken, N. J., who was found lying on the edge of the southbound lane of Route 9W near the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, early Monday morning, was reported "still serious" at Kingston Hospital today. Taylor suffered head injuries, cause of which has not been determined. Investigation by the Ulster county sheriff's office is continuing.

A Short Cut Home

To narrow the distance between members of the Armed Forces and their homes, the American Red Cross has established a worldwide communications system vital to the Red Cross family counseling and financial assistance program for servicemen. Here the Red Cross field director at a Naval base helps a seaman get an answer to a personal problem by speeding a wire to the boy's home town Red Cross chapter.

VFW Is Advised On Rights; Cup Given Saugerties

Saugerties, March 1—At a testimonial dinner Saturday in his honor, and for awarding of a membership cup, Timothy J. Murphy, national vice commander, told Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary that they must be strongly insistent where benefits for exservicemen are concerned.

At the event held in the home of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, more than 150 men and women saw the membership trophy go to the home organization, which surpassed all other units in Hudson Valley Counties Council in signing up members.

PRESENTATION of the cup, donated by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly of Kingston, was made by Attorney Hubert Richter, past commander of Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Kingston, who complimented the winners.

Vice Commander Murphy introduced by Ralph Scism, Kingston, commander of the valley council, said that all the benefits being offered to entice young men to seek careers in the armed forces should be viewed by veterans as a challenge to see that the individual remains important after his term of service ends.

He emphasized that "we must insure that anyone who wore the uniform will not be left on the streets to waste away for the lack of hospital and medical care. Murphy blasted the American Medical Association, which, he said had been pressuring for the mitigation of the Veterans Administration medical aid program. He charged the AMA policy is motivated by "selfishness" and is designed to promote "personal interests."

RECALLING a trip to Korea, through a special commission by President Eisenhower, he said wounded and sick ROK veterans have to take care of themselves, after fighting for their country.

"If there were no veterans organizations," Murphy said, "we would not have the laws on the books that we have today for our protection.

"It is necessary to have militant, cohesive veterans' organizations, like the VFW, not as a pressure group, but to act in the interest of 100 per cent Americans in the 100 per cent American way."

Leonard Scheffelin, commander of the state VFW, in his speech, complimented Ulster Counties Council, and William H. Jordan, Kingston, membership chairman for the council, which comprises Ulster and Orange counties.

RECEIVING the membership cup for Saugerties Memorial Post was Commander Bernard E. McCutcheon and John J. Wood, Sr., membership chairman of the local victorious post.

It was disclosed that Saugerties Memorial Post had achieved a better than 150 per cent record over its specified quota.

Other special awards also were a feature of the evening's festivities.

Mrs. Georgette Coons received a special service award for her outstanding contributions to the local post, despite the fact that she does not qualify for membership in the auxiliary. In a gracious comment following the award, Mrs. Coons humbly thanked the post for the gesture and said she would continue to do all she could to help.

OTHER SPECIAL service awards went to John Prendergast and Charles Arold, Sr., both of whom had given of their time, efforts and money to help with projects of the local organization.

Receiving a special introduction was Mrs. George Wood, Sr., who was instrumental in forming the local VFW Auxiliary and the Kingston auxiliary.

DIGNITARIES who were introduced to the assembled included Commander McCutcheon, John Utter, chairman of the banquet committee; George Holmes, mayor of Saugerties; Mrs. Katherine Crawford, deputy senior vice president of the VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. John Prendergast, president of the local VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Pauline Robbins, president of the Kingston VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Ida Kilgannon, president of the Kerhonkson auxiliary; Mrs. Hazel Drewes, VAVS representative of District 2; Michael McKenna, commander of District 2; Ray Odell, Dutchess county VFW commander; Don Robbins, commander of the Kingston VFW post; Jake Collier, commander of the Ellenville post; John Kilgannon, commander of the Kerhonkson post; Al Gomboy, past county commander; and others.

Dinner was served by the local VFW Auxiliary, under the supervision of Miss Marie McCutcheon.

THOSE WHO served with her included Mrs. Evelyn Arold, Mrs. Mary Maclary, Mrs. Helen Gardner, Mrs. Ethelda Shader, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Lillian Compitello, Mrs. Dorothy Wood, Miss Betty Wright, Mrs. Charlotte Sperl, Mrs. Eileen Hommell, Mrs. Lillian Jasienowski, Miss Jackie Accurso, Miss Agnes Shaffer, Miss Hanah Lewis, Mrs. Ethel Jehle, and Mrs. Edna Schoonmaker.

Also Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mrs. Myrtle Utter, Mrs. Edith Doyle, William Brown, Len Sperl, Charles Arold, Charles Shader, Valmore Carpenter and Ike Hennegan.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 1 (AP)—The stock market continued its rise today for the second straight session, but the advance was labored.

Railroads and steels were active and higher in their leadership role. Aircrafts were backward.

Gains went to around 2 points in a few instances. Losses usually were cut off at around a point.

Business was moderate. Except for the opening rush, the tape idled along at about the rate of yesterday's 2,620,000 shares.

Motors and radio-televisions were steady. Rubbers were lower. Oils were usually higher.

Western Union was strong on the report that it made more money in January of this year than in the first two months combined last year.

Decision Is Delayed

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee questioned Isador Lubin for an hour and a half today, then recessed without deciding whether to recommend his long-delayed confirmation as state industial commissioner. Sen. Louis Friedman, Brooklyn Democrat and a member of the GOP-controlled committee, said the questioning had included inquiry into a remark attributed to Lubin in 1930 and an organization to which Lubin was said to have belonged in 1915.

Newburgh Man Gets Year in Jail

Charles Palmer of Newburgh entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry in County Court this morning and was sentenced to a year in the county jail with credit being given for the time he has been in jail. Francis Tucker appeared by assignment for Palmer.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Cashin stated that Palmer's record was "bad" and only acceptance of the unlawful entry charge in the indictment saved Palmer from a long sentence in prison. The original charge was burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry for an alleged entrance to a building in the town of Plattekill where a stove was taken. Also involved was William L. Dorsey of Newburgh who entered a similar plea on Monday.

MOLCOLM LYONS, Thomas Brandt and John Cumming, charged with having taken ammunition from a town of Rosendale property last November 12, entered pleas of guilty to petit larceny and were given jail sentences of four months with credit alowed for time served. Charles Saccoman appeared for the trio and asked that leniency be shown.

The case of Thomas Earl Yerry, Jr., grand larceny, first degree, went over to the April term on motion of Harry Gold, counsel for defendant.

Court recessed to chambers.

Another Attempt Made on Safe

Another attempt at cracking a safe is under local police investigation this week.

Police were notified Saturday that entrance had been gained to the J. B. Back & Co., Inc., building, 84 Wilbur avenue, that about $10 in change had been taken from a Coca Cola machine, and attempts were made to crack the office safe.

Entrance to the building (formerly No. 1 School) was gained through a side window on the old section of the building.

AN ATTEMPT to crack a safe in the building of Old Capital Motors, Inc., 300 Broadway, was reported several days ago. The safe there had been moved from an office to the shop.

Attempts at jimmying the one in the Back building resulted in about $75 worth of damage, a spokesman for the company said.

Trinity to Hold Lenten Service

The second mid-week Lenten service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Wednesday. This is the second of a series of mid-week Lenten services which will be held until Easter. The familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part 2 of the History of the Passion of the Lord will be read. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, will preach the second of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, When Christ Speaks. His topic will be Forgiveness and Forgetfulness.

As has been the custom in past years, there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten Litany sung by the senior choir.

The following musical program has been arranged by Donald Romme, minister of music:

Prelude, Lord and Senoir, Sigfrid Karg-Elert; anthem, Beautiful Savior, F. Melius Christiansen; postlude, Prelude and Fugue in B Flat Major, J. S. Bach.

The public is cordially invited.

The senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal immediately after the church service. The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its regular monthly meeting in the church assembly immediately after this service.

Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are the only four states designated as commonwealths.

PAPER REVOLUTION

We hear a lot of talk about the Industrial Revolution that started us on the path we're traveling today at such breakneck speed. But we don't hear enough about the Paper Revolution that went right along with it.

If you asked them, most people probably would say the steel mill stack or the electric dynamo was the perfect symbol of our civilization. But maybe it ought to be the filing cabinet. Or the wastebasket.

In and out of our offices (not to mention our homes) pours a torrent of paper—letters, reports, appeals, advertising material, documents, and so on.

This deluge of white stuff is almost overwhelming at times. After the material is shuffled about for a while, it usually heads for one of two destinations—the basket or the file cabinet. Some of the toughest decisions in government and business hinge on which place to pitch a paper you hold in your hand.

The school of thought that automatically thinks "file it" is the right choice evidently believes we're living in such a marvelous age that nothing ever recorded on paper should ever be destroyed.

At the other end of the scale are those who seem to figure that so much happens every day that nobody will care much what occurred a week or two back. They're the wastebasket feeders.

Recently the new Hoover Commission had occasion to report on the paper flood as it affects government. What the commission found was pretty staggering. The federal establishment creates or handles about 25 billion pieces of paper a year, not counting untold tons of pamphlets, technical manuscripts and so on. Wastepaper consequently is the largest item shipped out of Washington for industrial use.

Office space for the 750,000 workers engaged in full-time paper-handling—one way or another—is equal to 36 Empire State buildings. The space required for the 24 million cubic feet of federal records equals seven Pentagons.

The commission estimates all this costs the government $4 billion a year. And this averages out to $100 in taxes for a family of four.

The investigators thought about $255 million savings might be managed on paper work. Not a paltry sum, yet hardly large enough to suggest great confidence that the paper snow storm can be reduced to harmless flurries.

The cost is only one sad aspect of this thing. Think of all those trees!

A poet said recently that it is more poetic to compare a beautiful woman to a million dollars than to a rose. Next thing you know poets will be carrying cash registers instead of lyres.

Headline in an Ohio newspaper: "Reopen Debate on Belt Line." All the debate in the world won't reduce a belt line—you have to diet.

A fellow in the office says that he is so tired of snow and ice that he won't even be envious when the grass starts getting greener in his neighbor's yard.

If we would admire others a little more, people might not be so critical when we admire ourselves.

1956 CONVENTIONS

San Francisco will be the site of the Republican Party's presidential nominating convention in 1956. At first it had been thought that the GOP, as well as the Democrats, would settle on Chicago.

It may be hoped that the spectacle of petty politics and tomfoolery that was displayed over television at the last conventions will be eliminated this time. The men who run both parties must be bright enough to realize that a great many citizens were appalled by the waste of time and money on unnecessary speeches and on contrived "spontaneous" demonstrations.

Picking a presidential candidate is a serious business—far too serious to be allowed to degenerate into a political circus.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A WRONG PROCLAMATION

Usually one thinks of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations as a body of conservative citizens. Its founder, Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, was one of the greatest Jewish leaders this country has known, a citizen who taught loyalty to the United States without qualification. His son, Jonah Wise, is the rabbi of the synagogue where I have worshipped for more than 20 years.

I write then in sadness that so honorable and representative an organization as this should have felt called upon, at its recent Los Angeles Convention, to issue a statement on "Judaism and Individual Freedom" that is so broad as to require general attention and comment.

The statement contains these sentences:

". . . The legitimate and necessary requirements of protecting ourselves from Communist infiltration and espionage have been grossly exploited by some to justify certain governmental procedures which corrode freedom of speech and of conscience under the claim that these must yield to the larger security of the nation. The need for a calm, steady, and positive program to insure the triumph of democracy over communism has given way to a pathological fear of communism which inhibits the thinking of some political leaders and colors the judgment of many citizens. We oppose any effort, legislative or otherwise, which would make criminal the expression of opinion, no matter how controversial. . . ."

This country has sent its sons to war in Korea and has them scattered over the world at numerous bases because of the rise of Soviet imperialism. One of the devices employed by the Soviet Universal State, with great effectiveness, is the weakening of the will to resist by propaganda for Marxism and infiltration into governments and the institutions of the people. It has therefore become necessary, in all countries which have not been conquered by the Soviet Universal State, to establish a defense against the Marxist weapons which may be, and in instances have been, as deadly as other unconventional weapons of war.

It is not "pathological fear" to recognize the facts of history any more than it is "pathological fear" to recognize that the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb can be totally destructive. The Communist expression of opinion has not even been opposed in this country, the proof being that the "Daily Worker" and other Communist publications appear regularly. What the United States has done has been to pass, by orderly constitutional means, legislation to defend itself against espionage, infiltration, and the corruption of the people by carefully devised patterns of Marxist penetration.

The statement further says:

"We have tended to proscribe every person and organization at any time pro-Soviet, including many of the most effective present opponents of communism, and regardless of whether former attitudes now condemned were at the time consistent with our national policy. . . ."

I should like to see some names, particularly of "the most effective present opponents of communism" who have been proscribed. A broad generalization such as this requires some details before it can be discussed. I do not know of any proscriptions by our government. In all the investigations by various Congressional committees, I have not come across a single name of "the most effective present opponents of communism." I do not think that those who passed this resolution can prepare a list of such names.

Further the statement says:

"We would defend all constitutional privileges and immunities without regard to the guilt or innocence of those who invoke them. In our view, the preservation of these rights is of greater significance to our way of life than any benefit our law enforcement agencies can derive from curtailment or suspension of these rights."

Again, the generalization is startling. "Constitutional privileges and immunities" must be balanced by obligations, duties and responsibilities. There is no privilege or immunity which can safeguard a man from the consequences of his serving another nation as a spy upon his own country.

The statement further says:

". . . We believe that the preservation of civil rights and civil liberties is a function of government equal in importance to the prosecution of subversive offenses."

Precisely what this means it is difficult to say. How does one balance the normal rights of a citizen against one who engages in "subversive offenses"? The function of the state is to protect its citizens against those who engage in subversive offenses as it is its function to safeguard its citizens against kidnapers and burglars.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HOME TREATMENT FOR MENTALLY ILL

The extent of the problem of mental ill health can be realized when we learn that there are more hospital beds devoted to the mentally ill than to all other conditions combined and practically every hospital has a waiting list. Is there any way we can reduce this list?

Dr. A. Querido, professor of social medicine in the University of Amsterdam, recently told about an experiment in Amsterdam of treating the mentally sick in their own homes when possible. This scheme, which was started 25 years ago in 1930, when the depression hit Holland, was a plan to try to reduce the rising costs of hospital treatment, particularly of mental patients, and has been continued because it works well. At the same time there were 3,300 psychiatric beds in and around Amsterdam, catering to a population of nearly one million. It was shown that ten per cent of these patients, although definitely in need of psychiatric treatment, did not require admission to the hospital and in most cases a home was found for them, by a relative or friend, where they had mental treatment directed from one of the hospitals.

What types of mentally ill are suitable for home treatment? This does not really depend on just what type of mental illness he or she has but if he or she is unable or able to live with others. Admission to the hospital is requested by the family physician, the police or the patient's relatives. Each patient is examined by a city psychiatrist right in his own home so that the whole social background can be examined. Patients are sent to the university clinic for complete examination of all factors involved and the decision is then made as to whether he should be hospitalized or treated under the home care program.

The city is divided into sections, each in charge of a psychiatrist and the necessary number of social workers. Each section has about 400 patients. A 24-hour psychiatric service is available so that emergency cases can be dealt with. The present psychiatric staff of the city of Amsterdam consists of 45, ten of whom are psychiatrists and 20 social workers. They are able to supervise 6,000 mental cases at a cost of $70,000 a year and without any heavy capital expenditure.

Mental patients also are visited and revaluation of patients are made frequently because it is known that the chances of returning a patient to a normal life after eight months or more in hospital are poor. This is another reason that home care is a good plan—it avoids, whenever possible, the admission of patients to hospitals.

The psychiatric service is helped by certain outside aids, such as specially controlled workshops for temporary employment, foster homes for the family of the breadwinner or for old or lonely persons, funds for food and clothes, and an efficient employment bureau for finding work for the patients after recovery—often a major problem.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington —(NEA)— Washington representatives of some of the 30 African and Asian nations invited to a conference at Bandung, Indonesia, April 18-24, are having a hard time trying to calm down American fears that there is some hidden, ulterior motive behind it all.

Since the five Colombo powers that promoted this conference have been vague about their agenda, it has been a natural for wide speculation. These Colombo powers, by the way, must not be confused with the Colombo Plan countries, which include Britain, Canada and the United States in a scheme for technical assistance and economic development for underdeveloped countries.

The five Colombo powers are India, Ceylon, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia. Their prime ministers met first a year ago in the Ceylonese capital to search for a formula to end the fighting in Indo-China.

That effort failed, but the meeting led to plans for the Afro-Asian conference. Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo, premier of Indonesia and her former Washington ambassador, is generally considered father of the conference and his government will be host. How many countries will attend or decline is still unknown.

AFRICAN NATIONS INVITED ARE: Egypt, Lybia, Liberia, Gold Coast, Ethiopia, Sudan and the Central African Federation.

From the Middle East: Saudi Arabia, Syria, Iraq, Yemen, Lebanon, Jordan, Iran, Turkey and Afghanistan.

From Asia: North Viet Minh and South Viet Nam, Communist China, Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Nepal, Japan and the Philippine Islands.

Since the 30 invited countries have a total population of over a billion and a quarter—half the world total—it has been assumed by some observers that this was the first step toward creation of a new power bloc. This is denied. There is said to be no plan to form a permanent group like the Organization of American States or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, even though such regional alliances are authorized in the United Nations charter.

Since a majority of the races represented are brown, black and yellow, it has been said this was an anti-white movement. This is denied with the statement that many people of India and the Middle Eastern countries are of Caucasian origin and blood.

THE AFRO-ASIAN CONFERENCE has also been considered anti-western. In answer to this, it is pointed out that Turkey, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Thailand, the Philippines and even Japan are closely associated with western alliances.

Because Communist China and Communist Viet Minh have been invited, it had been charged that the Bandung conference would be a mere sounding board for Red propaganda, dominated by Chou En-lai.

This is a particularly annoying charge to representatives of some of the sponsoring nations. The Communist countries will be only two, they say. Definitely anti-Communist countries include Turkey, Pakistan, Iran, Ethiopia and Thailand.

Another charge is that this Afro-Asian conference would be in opposition to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. This SEATO alliance was formed at last year's Manila conference to check the spread of communism in the area. But the Philippines, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Viet Nam and Pakistan —all SEATO countries—are invited to Bandung. Furthermore, Afro-Asian representatives say they are not interested in any military alliances.

THERE IS MUCH INTEREST IN countries not invited to Bandung—and why? Not included in invitation list were North and South Korea, Formosa, Malaya, Australia, New Zealand, and Israel.

As a possible precedent, it is pointed out that Formosa was not invited to the Manila conference where SEATO was born. If Israel had been invited it is probable none of the Arab countries would have come.

Malaya, the hosts probably considered too much of a British colony. If these is one thing the Afro-Asian conference can be definitely ticketed—in the face of so many things it is not—that one thing is "anti-colonial." It wants none of its past.

The failure to invite Australia and New Zealand is a little harder to alibi, as they are technically, at least, equal partners with India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Inclusion of Japan is a puzzler, Japan invaded all of the Southeast Asian countries and their people still hate Japs. But it is pointed out that Japan, the only industralized nation in Asia, is a natural market for the surplus raw materials of this whole area.

By this process of elimination it is possible to deduce some of the things the Afro-Asian conference is not. What its more positive aspects are will be considered in the next column.

Hearst Could Not Answer Query on Why He Was Permitted to Visit Moscow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 1 — When William Randolph Hearst, Jr., editor of the Hearst group of newspapers, spoke before a big audience of news writers at the National Press Club about his recent visit to Soviet Russia, the most important single question asked him could not be answered. It was why the Communists chose to permit the head of a newspaper group—known for its perennial antagonism to everything communistic—to come to Moscow and interview the highest officials of the Soviet government on current problems. For several years many American publications have had on file requests to allow correspondents to go to Moscow but less than a half-dozen press representatives are on duty there regularly.

MR. HEARST and his editorial associates who accompanied him hazarded guesses as to what the Soviets had in mind, but none could be sure. The significant fact remains that the Moscow government did permit interviews which lasted for several hours and in which almost every phase of the present world situation was discussed.

Fortunately, Kingsbury Smith, European manager of the International News Service, which is owned by the Hearst interests, is a shorthand reporter and took down what was said. Later on, the Soviet government, which was given this stenographic record, made public an abbreviated version and gave it to the Soviet press. It was an accurate transcript and, much to the surprise of everyone in the Hearst party, the criticisms which had been voiced by Mr. Hearst and his associates about Russia were not entirely excluded from print.

COULD IT BE that the Soviet government, knowing that change in the premiership was about to occur, took advantage of the presence of Mr. Hearst to soften the adverse impact that it was feared might ensue around the world when the news of Malenkov's downfall was announced? Certainly Mr. Hearst didn't come at the invitation of the Soviet government, because he took the initiative in applying for a visa and was surprised when it was granted. Also the timing for the visit was that of Mr. Hearst, who need not have come at that historic moment.

So, all in all, it appears that the Soviet gavernment is sensitive to world opinion. Mr. Hearst hazarded the guess that the Soviet leaders were somewhat disturbed by the impressions in America of purposeful belligerency and that it was deemed desirable to ameliorate the effects of some of the speeches by the leaders made for consumption inside Soviet Russia.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH, the most favorable impression that Mr. Hearst and his associates formed about the Soviet rulers was centered in the personality of Marshal Zhukov, President Eisenhower's friend of war days.

"Of all the four top men," said Mr. Hearst, "with whom we talked, Marshal Zhukov was the most pleasant. He received us alone except for our interpreter guide. He greeted us warmly when we arrived in his office at the National Defense Ministry. Here was the old soldier who had been on such friendly terms with General Eisenhower in the closing period of the European war . . .

"This husky, forthright military man commanded the defense of Moscow, prepared the Soviet stand at Stalingrad, and led the Red Army to victory against Germany. He gave me the impression of being sincere in his expressed hope for improved relations with the United States and the warm sentiments he voiced about President Eisenhower.

"I FELT ALMOST a sense of relief later when I heard that he had been moved up to the post of defense minister. Not because he would hesitate to do everything in his power to defeat us in the event of war between our two countries, but because I believe that soldiers like the President and Zhukov know all too well the horrors of war and want to avoid it. The presence of Zhukov in the high councils of the Soviet regime might be a conservative, perhaps even restraining influence on recklessness."

Mr. Heart came away convinced that American policy is right and that, in the absence of a clear-cut manifestation of peaceful purposes on which the world can rely, there is no other course but to build up the necessary armament to deter a Soviet attack.

But it is interesting to note that the Soviet rulers are aware of the apprehensions voiced in America. Still they do not seem to realize, on the other hand, that it is their unrelenting quest for world domination by Communist imperialism which constitutes a threat the western world cannot ignore.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In the disclosures of grand corruption in the extortion distribution of union "welfare" funds, the names of the actual insurance companies have appeared only rarely. If there is a presumption that insurance companies are above suspicion, that is so stupid as to reflect on either the intelligence and competence or the honesty of the printed page and the radio.

About 1942, Thomas E. Dewey, then recently elected for his first term as governor of NewYork, told me that he was dropping the union rackets and was about to investigate the insurance business. I remarked that Governor Hughes had cleaned up the life insurance mess years before. Dewey said yes, but that there was more to be done.

However, war was upon us with unusual demands on Dewey's time and energy and the investigation of the insurance business never came off.

It will offend some insurance men to call some fields of their business a racket but the best that can be said is that it is clean in some types and areas and a racket in many others and known to be such to the very men who take pompous offense at the slightest criticism of "insurance" as a whole.

Some companies sell trick accident and disability policies which leave wretched victims destitute when at last they hire lawyers to magnify the fine print.

And some companies have wallowed in profits extorted from workers and employers by union racketeers, in the guise of "welfare." The insurance company pretends to itself that there is a presumption of mutual willingness in these mass "welfare" policies, knowing, however, that the employer usually signs the deal at gunpoint and that the "insured" worker, whose insurance often is an illusion and a fake, is forced to give up a stipulated percentage of his pay and will be thrown out of his job if he rebels.

Such was the case with hundreds of thousands of shipyard workers during the war under the mass contract negotiated by a son of the president of the Boilermakers' and Shipbuilders' Union. Such is a characteristic condition of most of the mass policies.

I have referred to one Alfred Baker Lewis, an old Socialist propagandist and joiner of fronts who has a habit of writing vox pop letters to newspapers all over the country on political subjects, often in rather abusive opposition to my disclosures of corruption in the union racket. Lewis is an insurance magnate, himself, with his own company, known as the Union Casualty and Life, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and he does an enormous business with a few enormous unions, with a relatively small overhead.

Union bosses are his customers and Lewis defends unions. His company wrote the initial policy of the notorious Distillery Workers' Union, of New York, whose hoodlum representatives are now under indictment in Manhattan, and there is much testimony about his company in congressional hearings conducted by William F. McKenna, of Los Angeles, as counsel for a congressional subcommittee.

McKenna soon was throttled by a small bunch of New Deal Republicans who wanted to propitiate the racketeers of the Teamsters' Union in Detroit, Chicago and Ohio cities, hoping to get the usual political reward of campaign money. He quit in disgust but the record of his examination stands as a strong foundation of evidence. Alfred Baker Lewis's company was the big operator in these deals.

The Harvard Business Review, in an article by A. A. Imberman published about two months ago, reviewed evidence dug out by William Keating and Robert Green, of the New York city anti-crime committee, a private agency financed by Spruille Braden, and part of the examination of Leo Perlman at the hands of Mr. McKenna during the congressional inquiry. Perlman is the executive head of Lewis's insurance business.

Paul Dorfman, of Chicago, having no previous connection with "labor," became literally proprietor of a charter from the AF of L for Waste Handlers' Union 20467 with the title of secretary-treasurer. He and Perlman and Lewis's union casualty got the compulsory health and welfare business of all members of the Teamsters' Union in 26 states. Dorfman's son, Allen, was placed in charge of the agency which wrote this business and his mother is his silent partner.

Under the sub-head "Investigation Balked," the Harvard Business Review says:

"Congressional committee investigators (meaning Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, and Mr. McKenna) estimate that the Dorfman accounts represent between $6 and $8 million yearly premiums to union casualty and that the checks to Allen Dorfman range between $40,000 and $80,000 a month. Asked whether any of this flowed back to labor union leaders, Allen Dorfman cited the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer. James R. Hoffa, greater Detroit czar of the Teamsters' International, blandly appraised the committee that all financial records of his Joint Council 43 for previous years had been destroyed."

These few lines do not explain the frustration of the inquiry. That obstruction was made by Republican members of Congress to accommodate Dave Beck, the president of the Teamsters, who has been opposing public supervision of such insurance business and demand-

PAPER REVOLUTION

We hear a lot of talk about the Industrial Revolution that started us on the path we're traveling today at such breakneck speed. But we don't hear enough about the Paper Revolution that went right along with it.

If you asked them, most people probably would say the steel mill stack or the electric dynamo was the perfect symbol of our civilization. But maybe it ought to be the filing cabinet. Or the wastebasket.

In and out of our offices (not to mention our homes) pours a torrent of paper—letters, reports, appeals, advertising material, documents, and so on.

This deluge of white stuff is almost overwhelming at times. After the material is shuffled about for a while, it usually heads for one of two destinations—the basket or the file cabinet. Some of the toughest decisions in government and business hinge on which place to pitch a paper you hold in your hand.

The school of thought that automatically thinks "file it" is the right choice evidently believes we're living in such a marvelous age that nothing ever recorded on paper should ever be destroyed.

At the other end of the scale are those who seem to figure that so much happens every day that nobody will care much what occurred a week or two back. They're the wastebasket feeders.

Recently the new Hoover Commission had occasion to report on the paper flood as it affects government. What the commission found was pretty staggering. The federal establishment creates or handles about 25 billion pieces of paper a year, not counting untold tons of pamphlets, technical manuscripts and so on. Wastepaper consequently is the largest item shipped out of Washington for industrial use.

Office space for the 750,000 workers engaged in full-time paper-handling—one way or another—is equal to 36 Empire State buildings. The space required for the 24 million cubic feet of federal records equals seven Pentagons.

The commission estimates all this costs the government $4 billion a year. And this averages out to $100 in taxes for a family of four.

The investigators thought about $255 million savings might be managed on paper work. Not a paltry sum, yet hardly large enough to suggest great confidence that the paper snow storm can be reduced to harmless flurries.

The cost is only one sad aspect of this thing. Think of all those trees!

A poet said recently that it is more poetic to compare a beautiful woman to a million dollars than to a rose. Next thing you know poets will be carrying cash registers instead of lyres.

Headline in an Ohio newspaper: "Reopen Debate on Belt Line." All the debate in the world won't reduce a belt line—you have to diet.

A fellow in the office says that he is so tired of snow and ice that he won't even be envious when the grass starts getting greener in his neighbor's yard.

If we would admire others a little more, people might not be so critical when we admire ourselves.

1956 CONVENTIONS

San Francisco will be the site of the Republican Party's presidential nominating convention in 1956. At first it had been thought that the GOP, as well as the Democrats, would settle on Chicago.

It may be hoped that the spectacle of petty politics and tomfoolery that was displayed over television at the last conventions will be eliminated this time. The men who run both parties must be bright enough to realize that a great many citizens were appalled by the waste of time and money on unnecessary speeches and on contrived "spontaneous" demonstrations.

Picking a presidential candidate is a serious business—far too serious to be allowed to degenerate into a political circus.

'These Days'

A WRONG PROCLAMATION

Usually one thinks of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations as a body of conservative citizens. Its founder, Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, was one of the greatest Jewish leaders this country has known, a citizen who taught loyalty to the United States without qualification. His son, Jonah Wise, is the rabbi of the synagogue where I have worshipped for more than 20 years.

I write then in sadness that so honorable and representative an organization as this should have felt called upon, at its recent Los Angeles Convention, to issue a statement on "Judaism and Individual Freedom" that is so broad as to require general attention and comment.

The statement contains these sentences:

". . . The legitimate and necessary requirements of protecting ourselves from Communist infiltration and espionage have been grossly exploited by some to justify certain governmental procedures which corrode freedom of speech and of conscience under the claim that these must yield to the larger security of the nation. The need for a calm, steady, and positive program to insure the triumph of democracy over communism has given way to a pathological fear of communism which inhibits the thinking of some political leaders and colors the judgment of many citizens. We oppose any effort, legislative or otherwise, which would make criminal the expression of opinion, no matter how controversial. . . ."

This country has sent its sons to war in Korea and has them scattered over the world at numerous bases because of the rise of Soviet imperialism. One of the devices employed by the Soviet Universal State, with great effectiveness, is the weakening of the will to resist by propaganda for Marxism and infiltration into governments and the institutions of the people. It has therefore become necessary, in all countries which have not been conquered by the Soviet Universal State, to establish a defense against the Marxist weapons which may be, and in instances have been, as deadly as other unconventional weapons of war.

It is not "pathological fear" to recognize the facts of history any more than it is "pathological fear" to recognize that the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb can be totally destructive. The Communist expression of opinion has not even been opposed in this country, the proof being that the "Daily Worker" and other Communist publications appear regularly. What the United States has done has been to pass, by orderly constitutional means, legislation to defend itself against espionage, infiltration, and the corruption of the people by carefully devised patterns of Marxist penetration.

The statement further says:

"We have tended to proscribe every person and organization at any time pro-Soviet, including many of the most effective present opponents of communism, and regardless of whether former attitudes now condemned were at the time consistent with our national policy. . . ."

I should like to see some names, particularly of "the most effective present opponents of communism" who have been proscribed. A broad generalization such as this requires some details before it can be discussed. I do not know of any proscriptions by our government. In all the investigations by various Congressional committees, I have not come across a single name of "the most effective present opponents of communism." I do not think that those who passed this resolution can prepare a list of such names.

Further the statement says:

"We would defend all constitutional privileges and immunities without regard to the guilt or innocence of those who invoke them. In our view, the preservation of these rights is of greater significance to our way of life than any benefit our law enforcement agencies can derive from curtailment or suspension of these rights."

Again, the generalization is startling. "Constitutional privileges and immunities" must be balanced by obligations, duties and responsibilities. There is no privilege or immunity which can safeguard a man from the consequences of his serving another nation as a spy upon his own country.

The statement further says:

". . . We believe that the preservation of civil rights and civil liberties is a function of government equal in importance to the prosecution of subversive offenses."

Precisely what this means it is difficult to say. How does one balance the normal rights of a citizen against one who engages in "subversive offenses"? The function of the state is to protect its citizens against those who engage in subversive offenses as it is its function to safeguard its citizens against kidnapers and burglars.

HOME TREATMENT FOR MENTALLY ILL

The extent of the problem of mental ill health can be realized when we learn that there are more hospital beds devoted to the mentally ill than to all other conditions combined and practically every hospital has a waiting list. Is there any way we can reduce this list?

Dr. A. Querido, professor of social medicine in the University of Amsterdam, recently told about an experiment in Amsterdam of treating the mentally sick in their own homes when possible. This scheme, which was started 25 years ago in 1930, when the depression hit Holland, was a plan to try to reduce the rising costs of hospital treatment, particularly of mental patients, and has been continued because it works well. At the same time there were 3,300 psychiatric beds in and around Amsterdam, catering to a population of nearly one million. It was shown that ten per cent of these patients, although definitely in need of psychiatric treatment, did not require admission to the hospital and in most cases a home was found for them, by a relative or friend, where they had mental treatment directed from one of the hospitals.

What types of mentally ill are suitable for home treatment? This does not really depend on just what type of mental illness he or she has but if he or she is unable or able to live with others. Admission to the hospital is requested by the family physician, the police or the patient's relatives. Each patient is examined by a city psychiatrist right in his own home so that the whole social background can be examined. Patients are sent to the university clinic for complete examination of all factors involved and the decision is then made as to whether he should be hospitalized or treated under the home care program.

The city is divided into sections, each in charge of a psychiatrist and the necessary number of social workers. Each section has about 400 patients. A 24-hour psychiatric service is available so that emergency cases can be dealt with. The present psychiatric staff of the city of Amsterdam consists of 45, ten of whom are psychiatrists and 20 social workers. They are able to supervise 6,000 mental cases at a cost of $70,000 a year and without any heavy capital expenditure.

Mental patients also are visited and revaluation of patients are made frequently because it is known that the chances of returning a patient to a normal life after eight months or more in hospital are poor. This is another reason that home care is a good plan—it avoids, whenever possible, the admission of patients to hospitals.

The psychiatric service is helped by certain outside aids, such as specially controlled workshops for temporary employment, foster homes for the family of the breadwinner or for old or lonely persons, funds for food and clothes, and an efficient employment bureau for finding work for the patients after recovery—often a major problem.

Fortunately, Kingsbury Smith, European manager of the International News Service, which is owned by the Hearst interests, is a shorthand reporter and took down what was said. Later on, the Soviet government, which was given this stenographic record, made public an abbreviated version and gave it to the Soviet press. It was an accurate transcript and, much to the surprise of everyone in the Hearst party, the criticisms which had been voiced by Mr. Hearst and his associates about Russia were not entirely excluded from print.

COULD IT BE that the Soviet government, knowing that change in the premiership was about to occur, took advantage of the presence of Mr. Hearst to soften the adverse impact that it was feared might ensue around the world when the news of Malenkov's downfall was announced? Certainly Mr. Hearst didn't come at the invitation of the Soviet government, because he took the initiative in applying for a visa and was surprised when it was granted. Also the timing for the visit was that of Mr. Hearst, who need not have come at that historic moment.

So, all in all, it appears that the Soviet gavernment is sensitive to world opinion. Mr. Hearst hazarded the guess that the Soviet leaders were somewhat disturbed by the impressions in America of purposeful belligerency and that it was deemed desirable to ameliorate the effects of some of the speeches by the leaders made for consumption inside Soviet Russia.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH, the most favorable impression that Mr. Hearst and his associates formed about the Soviet rulers was centered in the personality of Marshal Zhukov, President Eisenhower's friend of war days.

"Of all the four top men," said Mr. Hearst, "with whom we talked, Marshal Zhukov was the most pleasant. He received us alone except for our interpreter guide. He greeted us warmly when we arrived in his office at the National Defense Ministry. Here was the old soldier who had been on such friendly terms with General Eisenhower in the closing period of the European war . . .

"This husky, forthright military man commanded the defense of Moscow, prepared the Soviet stand at Stalingrad, and led the Red Army to victory against Germany. He gave me the impression of being sincere in his expressed hope for improved relations with the United States and the warm sentiments he voiced about President Eisenhower.

"I FELT ALMOST a sense of relief later when I heard that he had been moved up to the post of defense minister. Not because he would hesitate to do everything in his power to defeat us in the event of war between our two countries, but because I believe that soldiers like the President and Zhukov know all too well the horrors of war and want to avoid it. The presence of Zhukov in the high councils of the Soviet regime might be a conservative, perhaps even restraining influence on recklessness."

Mr. Heart came away convinced that American policy is right and that, in the absence of a clear-cut manifestation of peaceful purposes on which the world can rely, there is no other course but to build up the necessary armament to deter a Soviet attack.

But it is interesting to note that the Soviet rulers are aware of the apprehensions voiced in America. Still they do not seem to realize, on the other hand, that it is their unrelenting quest for world domination by Communist imperialism which constitutes a threat the western world cannot ignore.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In the disclosures of grand corruption in the extortion distribution of union "welfare" funds, the names of the actual insurance companies have appeared only rarely. If there is a presumption that insurance companies are above suspicion, that is so stupid as to reflect on either the intelligence and competence or the honesty of the printed page and the radio.

About 1942, Thomas E. Dewey, then recently elected for his first term as governor of NewYork, told me that he was dropping the union rackets and was about to investigate the insurance business. I remarked that Governor Hughes had cleaned up the life insurance mess years before. Dewey said yes, but that there was more to be done.

However, war was upon us with unusual demands on Dewey's time and energy and the investigation of the insurance business never came off.

It will offend some insurance men to call some fields of their business a racket but the best that can be said is that it is clean in some types and areas and a racket in many others and known to be such to the very men who take pompous offense at the slightest criticism of "insurance" as a whole.

Some companies sell trick accident and disability policies which leave wretched victims destitute when at last they hire lawyers to magnify the fine print.

And some companies have wallowed in profits extorted from workers and employers by union racketeers, in the guise of "welfare." The insurance company pretends to itself that there is a presumption of mutual willingness in these mass "welfare" policies, knowing, however, that the employer usually signs the deal at gunpoint and that the "insured" worker, whose insurance often is an illusion and a fake, is forced to give up a stipulated percentage of his pay and will be thrown out of his job if he rebels.

Such was the case with hundreds of thousands of shipyard workers during the war under the mass contract negotiated by a son of the president of the Boilermakers' and Shipbuilders' Union. Such is a characteristic condition of most of the mass policies.

I have referred to one Alfred Baker Lewis, an old Socialist propagandist and joiner of fronts who has a habit of writing vox pop letters to newspapers all over the country on political subjects, often in rather abusive opposition to my disclosures of corruption in the union racket. Lewis is an insurance magnate, himself, with his own company, made as the Union Casualty and Life, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and he does an enormous business with a few enormous unions, with a relatively small overhead.

Union bosses are his customers and Lewis defends unions. His company wrote the initial policy of the notorious Distillery Workers' Union, of New York, whose hoodlum representatives are now under indictment in Manhattan, and there is much testimony about his company in congressional hearings conducted by William F. McKenna, of Los Angeles, as counsel for a congressional subcommittee.

McKenna soon was throttled by a small bunch of New Deal Republicans who wanted to propitiate the racketeers of the Teamsters' Union in Detroit, Chicago and Ohio cities, hoping to get the usual political reward of campaign money. He quit in disgust but the record of his examination stands as a strong foundation of evidence. Alfred Baker Lewis's company was the big operator in these deals.

The Harvard Business Review, in an article by A. A. Imberman published about two months ago, reviewed evidence dug out by William Keating and Robert Green, of the New York city anti-crime committee, a private agency financed by Spruille Braden, and part of the examination of Leo Perlman at the hands of Mr. McKenna during the congressional inquiry. Perlman is the executive head of Lewis's insurance business.

Paul Dorfman, of Chicago, having no previous connection with "labor," became literally proprietor of a charter from the AF of L for Waste Handlers' Union 20467 with the title of secretary-treasurer. He and Perlman and Lewis's union casualty got the compulsory health and welfare business of all members of the Teamsters' Union in 26 states. Dorfman's son, Allen, was placed in charge of the agency which wrote this business and his mother is his silent partner.

Under the sub-head "Investigation Balked," the Harvard Business Review says:

"Congressional committee investigators (meaning Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, and Mr. McKenna) estimate that the Dorfman accounts represent between $6 and $8 million yearly premiums to union casualty and that the checks to Allen Dorfman range between $40,000 and $80,000 a month. Asked whether any of this flowed back to labor union leaders, Allen Dorfman cited the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer. James R. Hoffa, greater Detroit czar of the Teamsters' International, blandly appraised the committee that all financial records of his Joint Council 43 for previous years had been destroyed."

These few lines do not explain the frustration of the inquiry. That obstruction was made by Republican members of Congress to accommodate Dave Beck, the president of the Teamsters, who has been opposing public supervision of such insurance business and demand-

What rights does an owner of common stock have?

Question by Stephen Potter, publicity mgr. Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

When you own common stock, you own a part of a company and share in its growth and any profits it may pay out as dividends. (Depending largely on how your company prospers, of course, your stock may increase or decrease in value.) As a share owner of a stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange, you can also vote in stockholders' meetings for the directors of the company who select the management. Companies listed on the Exchange agree to furnish share owners with an annual financial report.

How many stocks pay dividends?

Question by Wm. H. Giger, Jr. space salesman, Hawthorne, N. J.

Based on Dec. 31, 1954 prices, of the 1,076 companies listed on the Stock Exchange, last year 200 paid 6% or more; 233 paid 5% to 6%; 237 paid 4% to 5%; 167 paid 3% to 4%; 84 paid 2% to 3%; 47 paid under 2%. 108 paid no dividends.

Can I be sure of getting dividends?

Question by Harriet Wallshein housewife, Philadelphia, Pa.

You can't be sure . . . but you can buy stocks that have paid regular dividends over the years (297 common stocks listed on the Stock Exchange have paid dividends every year for 25 to 107 years). Like millions of other Americans, you can get facts and experienced help at no cost or obligation from a Member Firm of the Exchange. 40-Hour Week Is Stressed to Help Morale of Guards

Charging that "the State of New York can only have riot free prisons at the price of good guard morale," State Council 50 of the AF of L today called upon the New York state Legislature to adopt the 40 hour week for prison guards without any reduction in take home pay.

"POINTING OUT that during the past three years there have been some 32 riots and mutinies in American prisons which was more than the total in the preceding 25 years," the council went on to state that upon investigation of these riots and mutinies one of the causes was found to be guard morale.

Today in the State of New York, prison guards are compelled to work a 48 hour week and be on call on a 24 hour basis.

Because of these long and arduous hours plus the great risk involved, the State of New York now finds itself in the position of having too few competent applicants for the job of prison guard. The prison guard is likewise discouraged when he sees employes in private industry enjoying the 40 hour week without the tremendous responsibility and risk encountered in prison work.

THERE IS a bill in the state Legislature that can correct this gross injustice existing in the penal institutions of the state. Senate introductory 905 and Assembly introductory 1099 sponsored by Senator Williamson and Assemblyman Hill grants the 40-hour week to all guard personnel in the State of New York.

Council 50, on behalf of its prison guard locals, is setting into motion an appeal to the public to support this legislation granting prison guards a 40-hour week, something that has been achieved in private industry over 15 years ago.

Rose May Be State Flower

Albany, March 1 (AP) — The Senate was expected to give final legislative approval today to a bill designating the rose as the official flower of New York state.

The measure won unanimous approval in the Assembly last night. It also passed a resolution calling on Congress to adopt pronposed federal legislation that would designate the rose as the official flower of the United States.

The rose has been considered the state flower—unofficially—since 1891 when school children selected it. The goldenrod was second choice.

The bill makes no distinction in color or species.

MARBLETOWN CENTRAL—One section of the fifth grade under the direction of Margaret Jansen recently finished reading, The Twins of the American Revolution, by Lucy Fitch Perkins. Louisa Knudsen and Susan Sarr, students, wrote part of the book into a play which was presented as an intermediate grade assembly program. The cast included Michael Sturges, Kathleen Tyler, Susan Sarr, Nancy Williams, Howard Baker, Raymond Gallagher, Roland Johnson, Douglas Lyons. Readers were Thomas Simms, Louisa Knudsen, Marjorie Cross, Karen Elliott. Announcer was Ruth Ann Terwilliger.

Jean Apjohn presided as announcer for the junior high assembly program which opened with the Flag Salute and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. The program included: A recitation, American's Creed, by Jean Apjohn; two readings, The Flag Goes By, by Patricia Larsen, and Oh Captain, My Captain, by Linda Trowbridge; a duet, How Much is that Dog in the Window? by Jean Apjohn and Patricia Caruso; a recitation, When Father Carried the Duck, by Judy Schwarz. The proogram concluded with a tap dance by Curtis Goins, accompanied at the piano by Charlotte Bogart and Douglas Hunt.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY for the entire student body of MCS occurs every fourth week and was held recently the last period Friday, Feb. 25. William Lambertson acted as flag bearer. The following program was announced by Louise Redelberger: Pledge of Allegiance; song, the Star Spangled Banner; tap dancing, Albert Davis; Stephen Wedvik, Jackie Van Dermark; accordion solos, Linda Trowbridge. After announcements were made the program was closed with the singing of America.

Heart Containers To Be Collected

Heart chairmen in all townships of Ulster county and organization representatives in Kingston will this week collect plastic hearts which are used as part of the heart appeal being made by the Ulster County Heart Chapter. Women from B'nai B'rith Auxiliary, Catholic Daughters of America, Kingston Chapter, OES and Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will visit business places in Kingston and pick up heart containers which they left during the first part of February.

S. James Matthews, campaign chairman, said that such volunteers are indispensable to the Heart Fund. The contribution of the visitors and the businessmen who are kind enough to place these containers is of utmost importance in the success of the heart appeal.

Matthews said that over $5,500 has been contributed to date with many contributors from the mail appeal and other sources still to be heard from.

The objective of the heart appeal is to raise funds with which to combat diseases of the heart and circulation through research, education and community service.

"The people of Ulster county have always responded generously to important appeals and the Heart Fund is certainly among the most vital causes since it concerns the welfare of every citizen's heart.

The campaign is sponsored by the Ulster County Heart Chapter, an affiliate of the American Heart Association.

Bible Salesman Forfeits Bibles

East Haven, Conn., March 1 (AP)—A Bible salesman failed to show up in town court yesterday to face traffic charges and thereby forfeited seven Bibles he had placed for bail. The Bibles were valued at $150.

Police Chief Edwin Priest said David F. Mulcahy, 50, of Yonkers, N. Y., was charged with speeding last Friday.

"When we booked him, we told him he'd have to put up $25 bail. He didn't have a cent and told us to lock him up," Chief Priest said.

"We put him in the lockup and he spent the night there. But next morning he changed his mind and wanted to get out. So he put up seven Bibles as bail. He said he'd be back Monday, but he never showed up."

Now the court has $150 worth of Bibles in place of a fine which Priest said probably wouldn't have been more than $25.

He said Mulcahy was accused of driving 65 to 70 MPH in a 40 MPH zone.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The Senate has been urged to make permanent a temporary law barring security risks and subversives from state service.

A bill filed by the rules committee yesterday would continue indefinitely a provision in the law disqualifying applicants for public office and permitting removal of public officers who are considered to be security risks or subversives.

The current law is scheduled to expire June 30.

The rules committee also introduced a bill that would set Nov. 30, instead of Nov. 15, as the closing date of the harness racing season in the state.

Among bills signed yesterday by Gov. Harriman was one continuing the temporary commission on coordination of state activities until March 31, 1956.

Gore Doubts President in '56

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Sen. Gore (D.-Tenn.) said today he doesn't believe President Eisenhower will have "an outside chance to carry a single southern state in 1956."

Gore said he disagrees with Democratic Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana who said yesterday in Richmond, Va., that if Adlai E. Stevenson is the Democratic candidate again he will run into party opposition as he did in 1952. Stevenson lost four Dixie states to Eisenhower: Texas, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee.

KENNON SUPPORTED Eisenhower in 1952. Gore, who backed Stevenson, noted this in an interview and he asked: "Who is he to tell the Democrats whom they should nominate?"

Kennon, suggesting alternates to Stevenson, said he wasn't predicting that any Democratic candidate could beat Eisenhower. The President has given no public word as to whether he will run in '56.

Kennon and Republican Governor Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin had a White House appointment with Eisenhower today (3:30 p. m.). James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he understood the two wanted to discusse the administration's highway aid program. The Louisiana governor is chairman of the governor's conference.

WITHOUT GUESSING whether Stevenson will be the party nominee again, Gore said he believes the traditional Democratic hold on the south has been solidified by Eisenhower Administration policies.

"The people of the south don't like the President's policy of giving tax relief to the rich," he said. "They don't like his farm policy and they don't like his power policies.

"If Eisenhower is a candidate again in 1956, and I assume he will be, I don't think he has an outside chance to carry a single southern state."

Kennon said he would like to see the Democrats nominate someone like Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.), or Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas among others. Shivers supported Eisenhower in 1952 and Byrd declined to back Stevenson.

Byrd said he isn't running for President. He wouldn't comment on whom he might support in 1956.

Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he understood the two wanted to discusse the administration's highway aid program. The Louisiana governor is chairman of the governor's conference.

WITHOUT GUESSING whether Stevenson will be the party nominee again, Gore said he believes the traditional Democratic hold on the south has been solidified by Eisenhower Administration policies.

"The people of the south don't like the President's policy of giving tax relief to the rich," he said. "They don't like his farm policy and they don't like his power policies.

"If Eisenhower is a candidate again in 1956, and I assume he will be, I don't think he has an outside chance to carry a single southern state."

Kennon said he would like to see the Democrats nominate someone like Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.), or Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas among others. Shivers supported Eisenhower in 1952 and Byrd declined to back Stevenson.

Byrd said he isn't running for President. He wouldn't comment on whom he might support in 1956.

Rhee Asks Americans To Have Faith in Selves

Seoul, March 1 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today urged Americans: "Trust yourselves a little more.

"Have faith in your own ideals, for truly the American ideal are the last great hope of the world."

Rhee spoke at Seoul stadium on Korea's 36th anniversary of her independence movement against Japanese rule.

"No Asian will ever forget" what America has done for the freedom and independence of Asian peoples," he said.

Certificate Is Held

Albany, March 1 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today canceled a certificate held by Flying Eagle Whiteway Lines Inc. for operation of buses between New York city, Greenhaven and Sylvan Lake in Dutchess county, by way of White Plains. The commission said the company had charged higher rates than the tariff allowed, and had used routes other than those described in the certificate.

Stock Promoters Barred by State

New York, March 1 (AP)—Two Canadian oil stock promoters, accused of swindling Americans out of five million dollars, have been barred from doing business in New York state.

State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits yesterday obtained a state Supreme Court order permanently retraining Paul Payette and John Vanier, both of Montreal, from dealing in securities in New York.

Javits said the two "lured a swelling stream of American dollars into their coffers by fraudulently portraying a picture of gushing oil prospects in the Gaspe region of Quebec."

The restraining order also applied to four companies formed by the two men—Gaspe Oil Ventures Lt., Quebec Oil Developments Ltd., Regal Investments Ltd., and Consolidated Holdings Ltd.

THE ALLEGED STOCK fraud has been under investigation for a year. Javits announced that action had been dropped against seven other persons previously named in connection with the oil scheme. Javits said it appeared they were not directly responsible for the alleged fraud and in some cases "themselves had been victims of the swindle rather than perpetrators."

The seven against whom action was dropped were:

Sidney D. Blue, Larchmont; Theodore Smutny, New York; Milton Epstein, Glendale, Queens; Raymond G. Buser, Paterson, N. J.; Lucienne and Roland Dembers and Armand G. Boisclair, all of Montreal.

Blue issued a statement saying, "I am pleased with the outcome of this proceeding. . . . It is also good to know that the record now shows that my real role was that of a victim instead of a conspirator."

Redeemer Topic Based on Hymns

The mid-week Lenten series, which began on Ash Wednesday with a service of Holy Communion, will continue at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets. The series is based on great hymns of the church and the theme-hymn for this week's service is The Church's One Foundation. The evening's meditation by the Rev. David C. Gaise will be on this favorite hymn.

Beside the reading of the traditional story of the Passion of Christ, which will continue through the series, the service will include Lenten hymns and an anthem of the Passion by the senior choir under the direction of Leonard Stine. Organ music by Mrs. Lester Decker will open the service as she plays a Prelude on a Chorale of Bach by Edmundson and the postlude will be the work, We All Believe in One God, by Scheidt.

At the close of the devotional period, which is open to all who wish to share in it, the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society will gather in the assembly room for its thank-offering and business meeting and the senior choir will remain for rehearsal.

Diseases of Chest Discussion Topic

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association held at the County Building, 75 John street, the problem of diseases of the chest was discussed by Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital.

It was brought out by physician members of the association that many diseases of the chest create as great a problem as tuberculosis and sometimes even a greater one.

On a physical examination of his patients a physician can find at least nine other chest diseases, ie., chronic bronchitis, emphysema, bronchiectasis, tumor of the lung, pulmonary fibrosis, heart disease, silicosis, phemo coniosis in addition to asthma which, in the words of Dr. Chevalier who said years ago, "All is not asthma that wheezes."

The value of a periodic health examination by the family physician is a valuable asset to persons who question the presence of asthma which very frequently proves to be the main cause of wheezing.

At the meeting it was voted that a health education program on diseases of the chest be carried on by the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Sumber to Attend Podiatry Parley

C. W. Sumber, 65 St. James street, local podiatrist, will attend the 59th annual foot care conference of the Podiatry Society of the State of New York, on March 4, 5, 6, in New York, participating in a forum on foot disabilities in school children.

Recent studies by the Podiatry Society of the State of New York have revealed the mounting incidence of foot disease in youngsters, according to the society.

A full scale program for coping with this problem will be presented to the assembled foot specialists and it is hoped by the society that with proper education and treatment of these children and their parents in every community, foot disabilities will be materially reduced.

Petticoat Pack

The problem of storing bulky crinolines in crowded clothes closets is solved by a new cone-shaped garment bag made of clear plastic with embossed taffeta trim. The petticoat is rolled and slipped into the bag, waistband first. The bag may then be hung in the closet.

Aggressive Action

Lynchburg, Va. (AP)—The era of peaceful coexistence ended for animal warden H. J. D. Sullivan on the first day Lynchburg started enforcing its new dog quarantine. He received his first dog bite.

Buffington Is Penney Manager

John "Jack" Buffington, assistant manager of the J. C. Penney Company in Burlington, Vt., is the new manager of the local Penney Store located at 318 Wall street.

He succeeds Leonard Scales who has managed tht store here for the past year and a half. Scales will become manager of the J. C. Penney Co. in Highland Park, Mich., a suburb of Detroit.

Scales, who came to Kingston from a Penney Store in Rochester, was formerly located in Highland Park.

The new manager of the Kingston store was born in Nebraska but came east with his family at the age of 12. He attended Owego public schools and its Free Academy and entered the J. C. Penney Co. in Ashtabula, O., before entering the U. S. Army in 1941 for a five-year stint.

BUFFINGTON SERVED in the ordnance corps and was discharged with the rank of captain.

He worked at the Penney store in Binghamton, going from there to the store in Springfield, Mass., and then became assistant manager of the Burlington store about three and a half years ago.

He was active in the Burlington Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Buffington is married to the former Kathleen Vanderbeck of Binghamton. They have two children, Maureen, 12, and Philip, two and a half.

Buffington said today his family would remain in Burlington until he has located living quarters.

Pete Yurica, assistant manager of the local store, was formerly employed in the Burlington store. Yurica has been with the local store for about a year and a half.

Deaths Reported

(By The Associated Press)

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—Dr. Paul Garrett, 61, president of Western Kentucky State College since 1937. Born in Waddy, Ky. Died Monday.

SULLIVAN, Ind. — Fred F. Bays, 72, prominent in Indiana Democratic politics for nearly a half century, former Indiana Democratic state chairman, and operator of a dog and pony show. Died Monday.

AUBURNDALE, Fla. — Frank D. Hale, mayor of Dayton, Ohio, from 1922 to 1926 and former operator of a chain of grocery stores in Dayton. Died Monday.

PEORIA, Ill. Dr. Samuel I. Aronovski, 54, an authority on pulp and paper who headed the pulp and paper section for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Northern Utilization Research Branch Laboratory in Peoria. Born in Lithuania. Died Sunday.

LOS ANGELES—Milton Lazarus, 56, a former New York playwright and press agent who came to Los Angeles 20 years ago and worked in the fields of light opera, radio, motion pictures and television. Died Monday.

AT INQUEST—Lola DeWitt Stewart, 27-year-old actress, gestures as she tells a coroner's jury in Chicago (Feb. 28) that she gave her three-year-old daughter a fatal dose of sleeping medicine in tomato juice "because living is too hard." She was found unconscious in a hotel with the baby's body sprawled across her. Inquest was delayed by a hysterical outburst by Mrs. Stewart when she lunged at her mother shouting "Get out of here!" (AP Wirephoto).

Woman Is Free Now to Marry

New York, March 1 (AP)—Helena Theresa Nienstedt, once a teen-age murderer, is now free to marry and try her hand at raising a normal, happy family.

The trim, auburn-haired woman, now 26, spent nine years in the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane. She was sent there as hopelessly mad after she killed 71-year-old John Wagner with an axe in 1945.

A hard-drinking 16-year-old, she told police at the time she had had some drinks with Wagner and later went back to his tailor shop and killed him because she thought he had made a pass at her.

IN FEBRUARY, 1954, she was pronounced cured and released from the hosptial. Last June she pleaded guilty to second-degree manslaughter and two months later was released on probation by Queens County Judge Peter T. Farrell. He said he wanted to "see how you behave" before he decided on a sentence.

Yesterday she returned to court and Farrell said she appeared to have made a satisfactory adjustment. He gave her a suspended sentence but continued her probation indefinitely and ordered regular psychiatric treatment at her own expense.

Miss Nienstedt's attorney said she had been living in upstate New York taking a secretarial course. She has become engaged to James Lawrence, 34, a Warwick, N. Y., trucker.

As she left the court room, the smiling woman told reporters: "My plans are no different from any other woman's—marriage, a home, a man who loves me and children—as many as I can have."

Toscanini to Work On Recordings in U. S.

New York, March 1 (AP) — Maestro Arturo Toscanini is back in New York to do "a lot of work" on recordings.

Toscanini, who will be 88 March 25, arrived by plane from Italy late yesterday. He was met at the airport by his son, Walter and daughter, Wanda, wife of the concert pianist, Vladimir Horowitz.

The famed conductor was accompanied on the plane flight by his secretary, gray-haired Anita Colombo.

It was his first visit to this country since his retirement almost a year ago as conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra. Toscanini, a widower since 1951, has not conducted since he left New York for Italy last June.

Walter Toscanini said his father returned because he has "a lot of work" to do on recordings he has made and is making.

Comforter Church Plans Service

The Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop place, will hold the second Lenten Midweek service tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m.

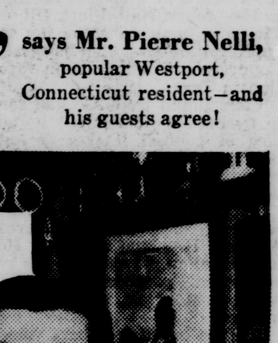

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor, will continue his series of Lenten Meditations on the theme "The Song of the Cross" with a message entitled "The Loneliness of the Cross" to be taken from the Hymn "Tis Midnight and on Olives Brow." Arthur Souers, bass soloist, will sing "'Tis Midnight and on Olives Brow" in keeping with the spirit of the theme. The organist, Paul Barnum, will play as his special Lenten music of the evening "Cantilena" by Golterman and "Confidence" by Mendelssohn.

The pastor will also be assisted in the service by the senior choir under the direction of Frank Elmendorf. Everyone is invited.

The senior choir will rehearse following the evening service.

He worked at the Penney store in Binghamton, going from there to the store in Springfield, Mass., and then became assistant manager of the Burlington store about three and a half years ago.

He was active in the Burlington Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Buffington is married to the former Kathleen Vanderbeck of Binghamton. They have two children, Maureen, 12, and Philip, two and a half.

Buffington said today his family would remain in Burlington until he has located living quarters.

Pete Yurica, assistant manager of the local store, was formerly employed in the Burlington store. Yurica has been with the local store for about a year and a half.

Deaths Reported

(By The Associated Press)

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—Dr. Paul Garrett, 61, president of Western Kentucky State College since 1937. Born in Waddy, Ky. Died Monday.

SULLIVAN, Ind. — Fred F. Bays, 72, prominent in Indiana Democratic politics for nearly a half century, former Indiana Democratic state chairman, and operator of a dog and pony show. Died Monday.

AUBURNDALE, Fla. — Frank D. Hale, mayor of Dayton, Ohio, from 1922 to 1926 and former operator of a chain of grocery stores in Dayton. Died Monday.

PEORIA, Ill. Dr. Samuel I. Aronovski, 54, an authority on pulp and paper who headed the pulp and paper section for the U. S. Department of Agriculture Northern Utilization Research Branch Laboratory in Peoria. Born in Lithuania. Died Sunday.

LOS ANGELES—Milton Lazarus, 56, a former New York playwright and press agent who came to Los Angeles 20 years ago and worked in the fields of light opera, radio, motion pictures and television. Died Monday.

AT INQUEST—Lola DeWitt Stewart, 27-year-old actress, gestures as she tells a coroner's jury in Chicago (Feb. 28) that she gave her three-year-old daughter a fatal dose of sleeping medicine in tomato juice "because living is too hard." She was found unconscious in a hotel with the baby's body sprawled across her. Inquest was delayed by a hysterical outburst by Mrs. Stewart when she lunged at her mother shouting "Get out of here!" Woman Is Free Now to Marry

New York, March 1 (AP)—Helena Theresa Nienstedt, once a teen-age murderer, is now free to marry and try her hand at raising a normal, happy family.

The trim, auburn-haired woman, now 26, spent nine years in the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane. She was sent there as hopelessly mad after she killed 71-year-old John Wagner with an axe in 1945.

A hard-drinking 16-year-old, she told police at the time she had had some drinks with Wagner and later went back to his tailor shop and killed him because she thought he had made a pass at her.

IN FEBRUARY, 1954, she was pronounced cured and released from the hosptial. Last June she pleaded guilty to second-degree manslaughter and two months later was released on probation by Queens County Judge Peter T. Farrell. He said he wanted to "see how you behave" before he decided on a sentence.

Yesterday she returned to court and Farrell said she appeared to have made a satisfactory adjustment. He gave her a suspended sentence but continued her probation indefinitely and ordered regular psychiatric treatment at her own expense.

Miss Nienstedt's attorney said she had been living in upstate New York taking a secretarial course. She has become engaged to James Lawrence, 34, a Warwick, N. Y., trucker.

As she left the court room, the smiling woman told reporters: "My plans are no different from any other woman's—marriage, a home, a man who loves me and children—as many as I can have."

Toscanini to Work On Recordings in U. S.

New York, March 1 (AP) — Maestro Arturo Toscanini is back in New York to do "a lot of work" on recordings.

Toscanini, who will be 88 March 25, arrived by plane from Italy late yesterday. He was met at the airport by his son, Walter and daughter, Wanda, wife of the concert pianist, Vladimir Horowitz.

The famed conductor was accompanied on the plane flight by his secretary, gray-haired Anita Colombo.

It was his first visit to this country since his retirement almost a year ago as conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra. Toscanini, a widower since 1951, has not conducted since he left New York for Italy last June.

Walter Toscanini said his father returned because he has "a lot of work" to do on recordings he has made and is making.

Comforter Church Plans Service

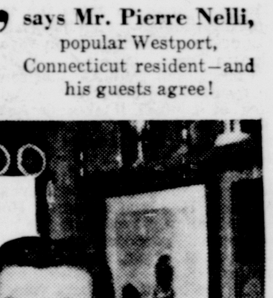

The Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop place, will hold the second Lenten Midweek service tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor, will continue his series of Lenten Meditations on the theme "The Song of the Cross" with a message entitled "The Loneliness of the Cross" to be taken from the Hymn "Tis Midnight and on Olives Brow." Arthur Souers, bass soloist, will sing "Tis Midnight and on Olives Brow" in keeping with the spirit of the theme. The organist, Paul Barnum, will play as his special Lenten music of the evening "Cantilena" by Golterman and "Confidence" by Mendelssohn.

The pastor will also be assisted in the service by the senior choir under the direction of Frank Elmendorf. Everyone is invited.

The senior choir will rehearse following the evening service.

"Knickerbocker is less filling...more delicious, too!" says Mr. Pierre Nelli, popular Westport, Connecticut resident—and his guests agree!

Father Knickerbocker says: "Never before... a beer so low in calories that tastes so good!"

TODAY'S demand is for beer that's less filling than beers of the past, but richer and heartier in flavor than other beers of today!

Knickerbocker answers this demand! One frosty-dry glassful tells you why!

Knickerbocker is not only less filling. It's better-tasting, too! A real throat-easing delight! So keep plenty of Knickerbocker on hand. You can get it everywhere—in bottles, cans, on draught. Stop for a glass right now!

PFC. FRANK C. BURGER, son of Ella Simons, 51 Liberty street, recently spent a week's leave in Tokyo from his unit in Korea. Pfc. Burger, a truck driver with the 7th Replacement Company of the 7th Infantry Division, entered the Army in April, 1953.

CPL. DONALD L. LIFER, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lifer, 36 Stephan street, is scheduled to participate in Exercise Surf Board along the western coast of the U. S. March 21-26. Cpl. Lifer will serve as a rocket launcher gunner with the team.

Plattekill Board Defers Action

Because Councilman William Doolittle of Modena was not present, the town of Plattekill town board at a special meeting in Hasbrouck Hall, Plattekill, on Thursday took no action on reappraisal of township property. Councilman Doolittle is on vacation in Texas.

Councilman Doolittle had sent in by mail his ballot but on advice of counsel it was deemed illegal to accept a vote sent in by mail in the absence of the voter.

At the conclusion of a reassessment discussion by Harold A. Lent, Highland attorney, Hobart Smalley moved that the reassessment proposal be tabled. Andrew Montrola seconded the motion.

All the board members voiced the opinion they would favor reassessment. The only point at which members were at odds was who would be the re-assessors, local tax assessors or professional outside appraisers.

Supervisor Eber Coy, Councilman Montrola and Peace Justice Demsky favored hiring an outside reassessment firm while Peace Justice Smalley favored local assessors.

The meeting was called specially to act on the reassessment question. It opened at 8:45 p. m. and when it was found no action could be taken adjourned at 10:30.

Chop House Sold InDowntownArea

The Broadway Oyster and Chop House, 19 Broadway, has been sold to George Polis of New York, it was announced today.

The restaurant, which has served the downtown section for more than a quarter of a century, changed hands today. It was established in 1926 by Charles Pavlidis who operated it continuously since that time.

Last April 22 Pavlidis opened the Mid-Town Chop House, 666 Broadway. The sale of the downtown restaurant will enable him to devote his full time to the Mid-Town Chop House.

Polis, who operated a restaurant in New York before coming to Kingston, was at work in the downtown restaurant today.

New Paltz Man Held on Charge

Perry Craft, 62, of New Paltz, was arrested by Highland State Police last night on a charge of rape involving a 12-year-old girl.

Troopers said Craft was arrested following a complaint by the girl's mother that he was "molesting" the child.

Craft was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Gruner of the town of Lloyd and held for examination. Investigating and making the arrest were Troopers P. N. Luongo and G. E. Whiting.

History of Cross ImmanuelSermon

The second midweek Lenten service will be held in Immanuel Lutheran Church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte will preach on The Assumption of the Cross. A picture depicting the scene will be given all who attend the service. The second portion of the Passion History will be read.

The choir will be heard in a seasonal anthem. The organist, Fay Ronald Richert, will give a brief recital before the service. The public is invited to attend.

During the mating season, the male seal does not eat for approximately three months.

New York Experiences Dismal, Wet Day

New York, March 1 (AP)—March came in today like a dismal wet lamb in the metropolitan area.

The temperature was high; so was the humidity. The sky was overcast and a drizzle and moist fog added to the gloominess.

The Weather Bureau said New Yorkers could expect more showers—and possibly a few April-like thunderstorms — this afternoon and evening.

As to the temperature: A high today in the middle 50s, about 10 degrees above the normal maximum for the first of the month, said the forecasters.

They anticipate a low tonight between 35 and 40 and a high tomorrow between 55 and 60.

Today's peak temperature will only be a few degrees below the all-time high for the first of March—63.4 recorded 60 years ago. The all-time low is 5 degrees and was recorded in 1884.

A year ago, the extremes—on another lamb-like March 1—were 56 and 40.

$200 Million Set To Improve State Telephone System

The New York Telephone Company completed a $185 million program, one of its largest, to expand and improve service facilities in 1954, Keith S. McHugh, president, said in the company's annual report issued today. He added that an even bigger, $200 million program has been approved for 1955.

The president reported that last year new ways to make service better and still more valuable were put into operation by all departments. At the same time, the company met the challenge of three of the worst storms on record. He emphasized, however, that these accomplishments had to be achieved in a period when both the cost of operation and the capital costs of expansion and improvement were rising steadily.

"THE MAJOR PROBLEM facing telephone company management today is the need for higher earnings," McHugh said. "This has been a period of steady inflation. Our costs have risen at a faster rate than revenues and the resulting problems are serious."

During 1954, the report indicated, the company installed 247,000 telephones and at year's end its customers were making an average of 30 million calls a day—an all-time high.

Listed as high points for the year were the following:

Upwards of 111,000 more telephones were changed to dial service in 1954, and nearly 90 per cent of all company telephones are now dial operated.

Sufficient additional equipment, wires and cable were provided so that 142,000 party-line customers could be given a better grade of service.

The company spent $6 million expanding and improving rural service. McHugh noted that few rural lines have more than six parties on them and that the quality of most service in the company's farm territory is high.

THE REPORT emphasized the progress made during recent years in enabling the customer to dial his own long distance calls. A new type of semi-automatic long distance switching center makes this possible, greatly enhancing the speed and efficiency of service. This equipment is very costly but permits extremely fast service for the user.

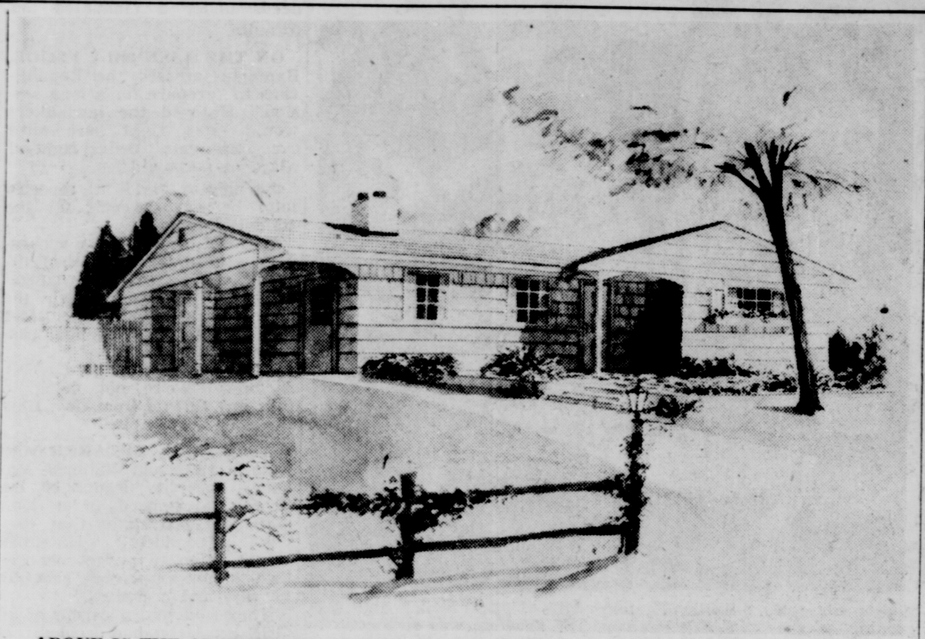

Work was completed on such a center in Syracuse, and another was built by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in White Plains. Both went into operation during the year. A third, in Buffalo, will be completed in 1956. Such centers have been operating for some years in New York city and Albany. All are steps toward the goal of linking the state and nation into one "telephone community."

McHugh said that for 1955 his company has scheduled the largest expansion and improvement undertaking in its history. Its $200 million program calls for the addition of 288,000 more telephones. This program is stepped up above even that of the postwar years when new construction averaged $700,000 every working day.

"ALL OF OUR post-war growth has come in a period when both costs of operation and plant expansion were mounting steadily. The result is that today the cost of materials and supplies is more than half again as much as it was in 1950. New building costs are twice those of 1940. Taxes levied on the company were $137 million in 1954, up more than $5 million over the previous year and nearly 3½ times the 1940 bill. Unions representing employes have secured, through collective bargaining, 12 major increases in wage rates since 1940," the president said.

"These are typical of the climb in the company's costs. The company was therefore compelled to apply to the PSC in 1953 for an increase in rates averaging 10 per cent. But the Commission denied it and an appeal from the decision is pending in the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

"It is a startling fact that telephone rates have increased an average of only 16 per cent in contrast to a general increase in the cost of living of 92 per cent."

ABOVE IS THE ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of a ranch style home to be erected on the former Kirndale Dairy Farm property in Port Ewen by the Kirndale Development Corp., subsidiary of Davis Industries. The firm has announced its intentions of erecting a total of 500 homes in Ulster county on three sites, including in addition to the Port Ewen site, the former Simmons Dairy Farm at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, and a smaller tract in the town of Ulster. The home pictured above, one of several types planned by the firm, is a three bedroom, basementless dwelling designed to sell for approximately $11,500. Ground will be broken Tuesday at the Kirndale Development, weather permitting, according to Sam Jacobson, vice president of the corporation. The developers hope to have the model home ready for inspection the early part of May.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

South Had Reason For Aggressive Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South bid today's hand very aggressively, but it's very difficult to blame him. His partner's club strength was almost entirely wasted; had it been in some other suit, the contract of five diamonds would have been easy. As it was, South came very close to making his contract.

West could have saved a lot of time and effort by opening a trump. East would have taken the ace of trumps and returned the suit. This would have limited the dummy to one ruff, so that South would eventually lose two hearts as well as the trump trick.

Actually, West opened the four of clubs. South played low from dummy, and ruffed in his own hand. Declarer next cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades, and ruffed another heart in dummy.

Now South cashed the ace of clubs to discard a heart, ruffed a club, and ruffed his last heart with dummy's queen. East didn't overruff because he didn't relish the idea of leading spades away from the queen; and a trump return looked equally unappetizing. Since East had thought it out beforehand, he was able to discard a spade on this trick without apparent thought.

Declarer continued by leading a spade from dummy and finessing the ten. The finesse held, of course, and South then cashed his king of spades. By this time declarer and East were each down to three trumps, while West had two trumps and a club.

At this stage South led the six of diamonds. West played low, and East won with the jack. This was the first trick for the defense, and the defenders needed both of the remaining tricks to defeat the contract.

In this situation, many a player would sigh hopelessly and lay down the ace of diamonds. Declarer would win the last trick with the king of diamonds, making his contract, and nobody would notice the fact that the defense had just surrendered.

When this hand was played, the actual East led back the deuce of diamonds at the twelfth trick. South had to guess whether to play the king or the nine. He knew that West had only one trump, either the ace or the ten; but he had to guess which. As it happened, he guessed wrong.

He played low, and West won with the ten. East then took the setting trick with the ace of diamonds. A player who fights to the very end deserves to win a hand of this sort on occasion.

I am financing my new car with The Rondout National Bank... and I'll tell you why

As one who is interested in the growth and prosperity of Kingston I believe we all should patronize local business and industry.

AND—Because I decided to finance my car with a Rondout National Bank Auto Loan. I was pleasantly surprised to find I saved nearly $50.00—because local bank loans cost less.

AND—Your auto loan can be arranged quickly and easily at the Rondout National Bank—it is much more convenient when making the monthly payments.

AND—It is important to remember by establishing your credit with the Rondout National Bank you have available the many other banking services and loans.

HEALTH FOR ALL

FOUR WALLS

Suppose you were spending today in bed. You think you'd like that? But suppose you had spent yesterday in bed, and knew you'd be in the same place tomorrow, and many tomorrows? Look around you at the four walls of your bedroom and try to imagine how you would get through weeks and months of it.

There are hundreds of thousands of your fellow Americans facing this problem. They are the victims of chronic diseases such as tuberculosis. With modern drug and, in some instances, surgical treatment of tuberculosis, many patients can leave the hospital after a certain point in their treatment has been reached and finish their convalescence at home. These new developments in TB treatment are a great boon to TB patients and their families. Not only have they saved thousands of lives, but they have shortened the heartbreaking long separation of families that had to happen when rest in a TB hospital was practically the only successful way to treat TB.

Even when patients can leave the hospital early, there are special problems. The TB patient at home is still a patient. The new drugs have lessened the possibility that he may pass his disease on to other members of his family, but precautions against infection must still be taken. He may still need lots of rest, for the drugs can do no more than give his diseased lung a chance to heal itself.

There must be a restful atmosphere in the home. The patient must be protected from anxiety, because worry can seriously hinder his recovery. Well-meaning efforts of friends and relatives to "cheer him up" may do more harm than good. With all these problems, the family needs expert help in organizing the home so that the advantages of being at home can play their full part in speeding recovery. Help is available. The doctor, the public health nurse, social agencies in the community, and, of course, the local tuberculosis association stand ready to help TB patients and their families.

Hofler Assigned To New Position

Joseph C. Hofler, of New Paltz, assistant works accountant in the IBM Poughkeepsie plant, has been appointed a special assistant in connection with the application of electronic data processing machine equipment to plant procedures. His new assignment will cover accounting procedures in all IBM plants and will collaborate with the methods department in their adaptation of electronic date processing. He will report to the controller's department at World Headquarters.

Hofler became associated with IBM in June 1943. Since that time he has gained wide experience in the financial organization at the Poughkeepsie plant and has held many positions in the accounting organization. In January 1945, he was made manager of general accounting department, and in September 1950, he was promoted to assistant works accountant.

Hofler is a member of the IBM Country Club and the IBM Two Generation Club, and is active in the local chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofler are the parents of a daughter and three sons, two of whom are employed by IBM in the Engineering Laboratory at Poughkeepsie.

Stone Ridge Library Fair Plans Underway

The Library Fair plans were officially started by the committee in charge on Feb. 23 at the Stone Ridge Library. This year's committee is Mrs. Clarence Miller, chairman, Mrs. Clifford Basten and Mrs. Ross K. Osterhoudt.

The first Saturday in August is always the date for the fair and this year it falls on Aug. 6. The work for the quality table is already well started. This table is popular with its large assortment of handmade articles, aprons, crocheted work and novelties of all kinds. Miss Katherine Hasbrouck is chairman of the quality table and she welcomes all articles to add to the list of things for sale. She also is glad to have donations of cast off costume jewelry. This is repaired, cleaned and made ready to sell at the fair.

The program for the day will provide entertainment for all ages, the same as in former years. The publicity committee chairman is Mrs. Arnold Jacobsen.

Morgue Tours Banned

Chicago (AP)—Coroner Walter E. McCarron ran into a legal block when he suggested traffic offenders should be forced to tour the morgue. Judges John T. Zuris and James K. Chelos said: "We think we have no right legally to submit people to this type of sentence." Judge Alfonse F. Wells said: "The law provides no alternatives beyond jailing or fining violators."

Atomic Checkup

Tokyo (AP)—Japan's weather bureau plans nine new stations "to determine the site and measure the strength of atomic and hydrogen bomb explosions." Also three ocean-going weather ships are under construction for checking water radioactivity in the Pacific and to plot approaching typhoons. The weather bureau has been under criticism because of disastrous typhoon damage and national anxiety over radioactivity detected following American and Russian atomic tests.

$200 Million Set To Improve State Telephone System

The New York Telephone Company completed a $185 million program, one of its largest, to expand and improve service facilities in 1954, Keith S. McHugh, president, said in the company's annual report issued today. He added that an even bigger, $200 million program has been approved for 1955.

The president reported that last year new ways to make service better and still more valuable were put into operation by all departments. At the same time, the company met the challenge of three of the worst storms on record. He emphasized, however, that these accomplishments had to be achieved in a period when both the cost of operation and the capital costs of expansion and improvement were rising steadily.

"THE MAJOR PROBLEM facing telephone company management today is the need for higher earnings," McHugh said. "This has been a period of steady inflation. Our costs have risen at a faster rate than revenues and the resulting problems are serious."

During 1954, the report indicated, the company installed 247,000 telephones and at year's end its customers were making an average of 30 million calls a day—an all-time high.

Listed as high points for the year were the following:

Upwards of 111,000 more telephones were changed to dial service in 1954, and nearly 90 per cent of all company telephones are now dial operated.

Sufficient additional equipment, wires and cable were provided so that 142,000 party-line customers could be given a better grade of service.

The company spent $6 million expanding and improving rural service. McHugh noted that few rural lines have more than six parties on them and that the quality of most service in the company's farm territory is high.

THE REPORT emphasized the progress made during recent years in enabling the customer to dial his own long distance calls. A new type of semi-automatic long distance switching center makes this possible, greatly enhancing the speed and efficiency of service. This equipment is very costly but permits extremely fast service for the user.

Work was completed on such a center in Syracuse, and another was built by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in White Plains. Both went into operation during the year. A third, in Buffalo, will be completed in 1956. Such centers have been operating for some years in New York city and Albany. All are steps toward the goal of linking the state and nation into one "telephone community."

McHugh said that for 1955 his company has scheduled the largest expansion and improvement undertaking in its history. Its $200 million program calls for the addition of 288,000 more telephones. This program is stepped up above even that of the postwar years when new construction averaged $700,000 every working day.

"ALL OF OUR post-war growth has come in a period when both costs of operation and plant expansion were mounting steadily. The result is that today the cost of materials and supplies is more than half again as much as it was in 1950. New building costs are twice those of 1940. Taxes levied on the company were $137 million in 1954, up more than $5 million over the previous year and nearly 3½ times the 1940 bill. Unions representing employes have secured, through collective bargaining, 12 major increases in wage rates since 1940," the president said.

"These are typical of the climb in the company's costs. The company was therefore compelled to apply to the PSC in 1953 for an increase in rates averaging 10 per cent. But the Commission denied it and an appeal from the decision is pending in the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

"It is a startling fact that telephone rates have increased an average of only 16 per cent in contrast to a general increase in the cost of living of 92 per cent."

The firm has announced its intentions of erecting a total of 500 homes in Ulster county on three sites, including in addition to the Port Ewen site, the former Simmons Dairy Farm at Barclay Heights, Saugerties, and a smaller tract in the town of Ulster. The home pictured above, one of several types planned by the firm, is a three bedroom, basementless dwelling designed to sell for approximately $11,500. Ground will be broken Tuesday at the Kirndale Development, weather permitting, according to Sam Jacobson, vice president of the corporation. The developers hope to have the model home ready for inspection the early part of May.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

South Had Reason For Aggressive Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South bid today's hand very aggressively, but it's very difficult to blame him. His partner's club strength was almost entirely wasted; had it been in some other suit, the contract of five diamonds would have been easy. As it was, South came very close to making his contract.

West could have saved a lot of time and effort by opening a trump. East would have taken the ace of trumps and returned the suit. This would have limited the dummy to one ruff, so that South would eventually lose two hearts as well as the trump trick.

Actually, West opened the four of clubs. South played low from dummy, and ruffed in his own hand. Declarer next cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades, and ruffed another heart in dummy.

Now South cashed the ace of clubs to discard a heart, ruffed a club, and ruffed his last heart with dummy's queen. East didn't overruff because he didn't relish the idea of leading spades away from the queen; and a trump return looked equally unappetizing. Since East had thought it out beforehand, he was able to discard a spade on this trick without apparent thought.

Declarer continued by leading a spade from dummy and finessing the ten. The finesse held, of course, and South then cashed his king of spades. By this time declarer and East were each down to three trumps, while West had two trumps and a club.

At this stage South led the six of diamonds. West played low, and East won with the jack. This was the first trick for the defense, and the defenders needed both of the remaining tricks to defeat the contract.

In this situation, many a player would sigh hopelessly and lay down the ace of diamonds. Declarer would win the last trick with the king of diamonds, making his contract, and nobody would notice the fact that the defense had just surrendered.

When this hand was played, the actual East led back the deuce of diamonds at the twelfth trick. South had to guess whether to play the king or the nine. He knew that West had only one trump, either the ace or the ten; but he had to guess which. As it happened, he guessed wrong.

He played low, and West won with the ten. East then took the setting trick with the ace of diamonds. A player who fights to the very end deserves to win a hand of this sort on occasion.

Vanderlyn Council Has 51st Anniversary Dinner, Meeting

Vanderlyn Council No. 41 Daughters of America observed its 51st anniversary at a regular meeting in Mechanics Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 22.

Mrs. Charlotte B. Deyo, charter member, was presented with a gift from the council. The state officers received were Mrs. Tressa Swibold, past state councilor, Mrs. Leah W. Jones, district deputy of District No. 6, and Mrs. Marie Odell and Mrs. Muriel B. Short, deputies.

The members were entertained by James Nerone and Miss Marianne Purhamus, soloists, with Mrs. F. Smith, pianist, and James Perry and Miss Shirley Krum in a ventriloquist act.

Preceding the meeting, a chicken dinner was served the members.

Add Seasonings to Ground Beef

Add various seasonings to ground beef—horseradish, prepared mustard, grated onion or crushed garlic and catchup. Spread the cut sides of hamburger buns with the meat mixture, making sure it covers the edges of the roll. Broil several inches from high heat until meat is done as much as desired. Watch carefully so the meat won't be overdone. You can spread six hamburger buns with a pound of meat this way.

Good Luncheon Sandwich?

Want a good luncheon sandwich? Brown thin small slices of cooked ham in a little butter or margarine in a skillet. Pile the browned ham between the halves of a toasted buttered hamburger roll along with some pickle relish.

Miss Ruth Behrens Is Engaged to Wed A. S. McAllister

RUTH BEHRENS

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles N. Behrens of the River road, Ulster Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Evelyn Behrens, to Addams Stratton McAllister, son of Mrs. Addams S. McAllister of Rosedale, Covington, Va., and the late Mr. McAllister. A May wedding is planned.

Miss Behrens was graduated from Kingston High School and Cornell University where she received the degree of Bachelor of Arts, with a major in music. At Cornell she is a member-soloist of the Cornell A Cappella Chorus and received the Cornell Friends of Music award for voice study in 1952-53. She is with the Department of Agricultural Economics of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, Ithaca.

Mr. McAllister was graduated from Covington High School and will receive the degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering in June from Cornell University. He is a member-soloist of the Cornell A Cappella Chorus and member of the University Orchestra, the Cayugans (a Cornell dance band), Eta Kappa Nu (Electrical Engineering honorary), Tau Beta Pi (all-engineering honorary), Phi Kappa Phi (Cornell scholastic honorary), received the Cornell Friends of Music award for the best musical performance of 1953-54, and is a holder of the McMullen Regional Scholarship which grants full tuition for the undergraduate years.

Both Miss Behrens and Mr. McAllister study voice with D. Keith Falkner, noted British baritone.

PAYING FOR TELEPHONE CALL

A reader writes me as follows: "Recently while at a friend's house I had occasion to use her telephone. After I had finished talking, I left a coin at the telephone to pay for the call. Wasn't this the correct thing to do? I understand my hostess considers my paying for the call very humiliating to her and is rather peeved over the whole thing. I would very much like your opinion as to whether I did the wrong thing and if she is justified in feeling that I have humiliated her."

To pay for a single local call might have been very finicking, but strictly speaking, it was correct and should not have been thought humiliating. If you had called long distance then you were absolutely right. The accepted rule is this: A single short city call is usually made in the house of a friend without repayment. But if one makes several calls, or single calls on many days, payments are properly made. If one has called long distance then one must call the operator, ask for the toll charge, and then leave the exact amount at the telephone.

Polite Children

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is still correct to teach young children to say "Yes Sir" and "No Sir," "Yes Ma'am" and "No Ma'am" when speaking to grown-ups? If not, will you please tell me what they should be taught to say instead?

Answer: Ideally they say "Mr. Jones," "Mrs. Smith" or "Aunt Kate." If they do not know the person's name they make their answer longer than "Yes" or "No" by adding something like, "I think so" or "Mother will be back in a few minutes."

Present for Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: The gifts for my wedding attendants are all bought save one, which is something for my little niece, aged four, who is to be flower girl. What do you think I should buy her? A piece of jewelry would be a nice remembrance, but at that age, what can I get her?

Answer: A locket or a charm bracelet would be most suitable.

Hard Work

Pearling, despite its glamorous reputation, is hard work that seldom brings riches. The average diver is lucky to break even after the shipowner and crew take their share of the profits. Some divers may make 50 descents a day, risking jellyfish stings and the hazards of encountering sharks. Yet the dream of wealth persists, fed by such transactions as one of 1929, when a single pearl taken in the Persian Gulf was sold for $75,000.

plans to trim $4,347,500 from local welfare aid requests reflected "an arbitrary decision" that the social welfare board was wrong in its estimate of needs under a mandated aid formula.

ON THE ASSEMBLY FLOOR, Bannigan advised the Republicans to "prepare for a long session." He said the lawmakers would "stay right here until everyone gets their rightful share of state aid."

Bannington told a reporter later he was speaking for the administration.

However, a Republican spokesman said today that the cutdown version of the budget would be pushed through the Legislature's fiscal committees tomorrow in time for final passage next week.

Replying to Banningn, Carlino, declared, "we're not going to take any threats from Gov. Harriman or anyone else."

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER Oswald D. Heck and Walter J. Mahoney, majority leader of the Senate, announced in a joint statement last night that they were "confident" Harriman would agree to budget changes "which our experience show to be wise and necessary."

They said that a caucus of all GOP legislators had decided that corporation tax increases "would have an adverse effect on the number of jobs in this state." And they rejected Harriman's proposal to peg the local tax on parimutuel bets at thoroughbred horse-racing tracks at two per cent.

Heck and Mahoney said bills would be passed this year to grant an estimated $7,500,000 in tax relief to working mothers, the aged, the ill and the blind in 1956.

The Republican leaders said their slashes would not affect highway construction of major building projects financed out of the state's capital construction fund.

THE REPUBLICANS called for reductions totaling $14,775,000 in state aid to local governments and school systems; $3,440,423 in appropriations for state operations and $1,300,000 from proposals they expect the governor to make in special messages to the Legislature.

The total comes to $19,556,423. However, Heck and Mahoney explained that two million dollars in cuts would not become effective until the 1956-57 fiscal year. Thus the 1955-56 spending program would be reduced by a net total of $17,556,423.

The following were among the slashes proposed for state services:

Naval militia armories, $125,000; publicity and promotion by the Commerce Department, $100,000; advance purchases of supplies for the Public Works Department, $2,000,000, and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, $150,000.

The item for the Public Works Department represents the two million dollars that Heck and Mahoney said would not be effective in the coming year's budget.

Vanderlyn Council Has 51st Anniversary Dinner, Meeting

Vanderlyn Council No. 41 Daughters of America observed its 51st anniversary at a regular meeting in Mechanics Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 22.

Mrs. Charlotte B. Deyo, charter member, was presented with a gift from the council. The state officers received were Mrs. Tressa Swibold, past state councilor, Mrs. Leah W. Jones, district deputy of District No. 6, and Mrs. Marie Odell and Mrs. Muriel B. Short, deputies.

The members were entertained by James Nerone and Miss Marianne Purhamus, soloists, with Mrs. F. Smith, pianist, and James Perry and Miss Shirley Krum in a ventriloquist act.

Preceding the meeting, a chicken dinner was served the members.

Add Seasonings to Ground Beef

Add various seasonings to ground beef—horseradish, prepared mustard, grated onion or crushed garlic and catchup. Spread the cut sides of hamburger buns with the meat mixture, making sure it covers the edges of the roll. Broil several inches from high heat until meat is done as much as desired. Watch carefully so the meat won't be overdone. You can spread six hamburger buns with a pound of meat this way.

Good Luncheon Sandwich?

Want a good luncheon sandwich? Brown thin small slices of cooked ham in a little butter or margarine in a skillet. Pile the browned ham between the halves of a toasted buttered hamburger roll along with some pickle relish.

PAYING FOR TELEPHONE CALL

A reader writes me as follows: "Recently while at a friend's house I had occasion to use her telephone. After I had finished talking, I left a coin at the telephone to pay for the call. Wasn't this the correct thing to do? I understand my hostess considers my paying for the call very humiliating to her and is rather peeved over the whole thing. I would very much like your opinion as to whether I did the wrong thing and if she is justified in feeling that I have humiliated her."

To pay for a single local call might have been very finicking, but strictly speaking, it was correct and should not have been thought humiliating. If you had called long distance then you were absolutely right. The accepted rule is this: A single short city call is usually made in the house of a friend without repayment. But if one makes several calls, or single calls on many days, payments are properly made. If one has called long distance then one must call the operator, ask for the toll charge, and then leave the exact amount at the telephone.

Polite Children

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is still correct to teach young children to say "Yes Sir" and "No Sir," "Yes Ma'am" and "No Ma'am" when speaking to grown-ups? If not, will you please tell me what they should be taught to say instead?

Answer: Ideally they say "Mr. Jones," "Mrs. Smith" or "Aunt Kate." If they do not know the person's name they make their answer longer than "Yes" or "No" by adding something like, "I think so" or "Mother will be back in a few minutes."

Present for Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: The gifts for my wedding attendants are all bought save one, which is something for my little niece, aged four, who is to be flower girl. What do you think I should buy her? A piece of jewelry would be a nice remembrance, but at that age, what can I get her?

Answer: A locket or a charm bracelet would be most suitable.

Hard Work

Pearling, despite its glamorous reputation, is hard work that seldom brings riches. The average diver is lucky to break even after the shipowner and crew take their share of the profits. Some divers may make 50 descents a day, risking jellyfish stings and the hazards of encountering sharks. Yet the dream of wealth persists, fed by such transactions as one of 1929, when a single pearl taken in the Persian Gulf was sold for $75,000.

Stephen Keating Heads College Club Award Winner

Stephen Keating

Newman Club of Columbia University was named best club of the year at the 36th annual convention of clubs in New York province held at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York, a week ago. Stephen Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Keating of 49 Hinsdale street, is president of the Columbia group.

A senior, he will be graduated in June with a degree in engineering. An alumnus of Kingston High School, Mr. Keating has a future speakers' list drawn up which includes an address by James Farley on St. Patrick's Day and Mayor Robert Wagner, March 29. The award given the club was primarily on the basis of the excellence of programs planned by the president.

Mr. Keating was a delegate to the Newman Club convention held last summer in Detroit, Mich.

New Mutual

proved effective. However, a uniform plan throughout the state would become more effective, particularly in the event of a disaster in which fire companies and equipment might be called upon to give assistance in adjoining counties as a part of the Civil Defense program.

"MUTUAL AID IS ORGANIZED, supervised, coordinated, cooperative, reciprocal assistance in which personnel, equipment and physical facilities of all participating fire departments, regardless of type or size, are utilized for fire or other public emergency in which the services of firemen would be used throughout the county of Ulster and adjacent areas," according to the "objectives" under the new plan. Provision is made for periodic amendments to the plan. Each year the plan will be reviewed by the county fire coordinator and corrections or changes processed.

In Ulster county there are 51 fire companies, including companies at the Napanoch Institution and the Wallkill prison, in addition to the companies in the city of Kingston. All of the companies of the city, towns, villages and all fire districts may fully participate in this plan.

DEPARTMENTS ARE located in the city of Kingston, Accord, Binnewater, Big Indian-Oliverea, Bloomington, Centerville, Clintondale, Connelly, Cottekill, East Kingston, Ellenville, Esopus, Gardiner, Glasco, High Falls, Highland, Hurley.

Kerhonkson, Kripplebush, Lomontville, Modena, Marbletown, Marlborough, Mt. Marion-Ruby, Milton, Lake Mohonk, Napanoch, Napanoch Institution, New Paltz, Olive Bridge, Phoenicia, Pine Hill, Plattekill, Port Ewen, Rifton, Rosendale.

St. Remy, Saugerties, Sawkill, Saxton, Shandaken, Shawangunk, Stone Ridge, Tillson, Ulster Hose, Walker Valley, Wallkill, Wallkill Prison, West Hurley, Woodstock, Cragsmoor and Malden.

WHILE THERE is no formal agreement with the counties of Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Delaware and Greene, which are adjacent to Ulster county, they may participate in the plan and local reciprocal assistance will be in accordance with section 209-a of the General Municipal Law. All requests for assistance will be routed through the Ulster County Fire Control Center.

The following regulation controls entrance and participation in the plan:

"Any duly established fire company or fire department may participate in this plan by filing a copy of a resolution adopted by the fire company or fire department in the office of the County Fire Coordinator. Such resolutions shall state that such fire company or fire department elects to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan and will comply with the provisions of such plan. The resolution shall state that the fire company or fire department shall recognize a call for assistance from another fire company or fire department through the Ulster County Fire Control Center. (*—See page 11 and 12.)

"There shall also be filed with the County Fire Coordinator a copy of a resolution adopted by the legislative body of each participating city or village, or by a board of fire commissioners or other governing body having jurisdiction over the fire department, the board of fire commissioners of each participating fire district, or the town board of each town in relation to participating fire companies serving territories outside of cities, villages, fire districts or in relation to a town fire department. Such resolution shall state that no restrictions exists against 'outside service' by the fire company or fire department of the municipality or district within the meaning of Section 209 of the General Municipal Law which would affect the power of such fire company, or fire department to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan."

PROVISION IS MADE for withdrawal from the plan by any fire company or fire department on due notice to the Ulster County Fire Coordinator and any fire company or fire department withdrawing from the plan "shall surrender and return to the County of Ulster, Kingston, N. Y., all county-owned equipment."

The extendand limit of authority of county officials and designation of personnel is outlined in detail in the plan.

Local fire departments shall retain internal command and individuality.

THE COUNTY FIRE Control Center will be located in Kingston at Central fire station and the Deputy County Fire Coordinator would be responsible for all activities of the County Fire Control Center. Dispatching service and appointment of dispatchers is provided for in the plan.

Provisions for participation in the State Fire Mobilization and Mutual Aid Plan is also made. After utilizing all available assistance from Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Delaware and Greene counties the County Fire Coordinator or a deputy may call the Bureau of Fire Mobilization and Control of the State Division of Safety to obtain activation of the State Fire Mobilization and Mutual Aid Plan.

AT ALL TIMES the members of Mutual Aid would cooperate with other emergency services, including sheriff, state police and other law enforcement agencies.

A complete outline of the proposed plan is available to all fire organizations of the county for study, it was pointed out by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp, who said copies of the plan had gone out to fire companies and other interested officials of the county.

Volcano Has

and no home has fallen before the boiling streams.

Through the night, officials at Red Cross headquarters in Pahoa high school cast worried glances westward, where fumes were reported breaking out of a new rift of dormant craters five miles from here.

"IF THAT ERUPTS, Pahoa will be in danger," said Robert Spence, Red Cross disaster chairman.

Police said it was amazing no one was hurt among the estimated 20,000 sightseers whose cars choked five miles of access roads from the eruptions to Pahoa.

The eruptions started at 8:10 a. m. yesterday when a cane field five miles southeast of Pahoa in the Puna district blew up in a shower of molten lava. Since then three other fissures have opened, filling a blazing triangle bounded by the villages of Kapoho, Opihikao and Pahoa.

IT WAS THE FIRST sign of life from Puulena crater in more than 50 years.

Sixty families were evacuated from Kapoho, two miles ahead of the largest lava flow. Police reported a few families refused to leave their homes until all hope was lost.

Main spectacle for thousands of sightseers was a flow which crossed the Kapoho road yesterday afternoon while onlookers and civil defense workers milled around a few feet away.

It moved slowly, a few yards an hour, and thousands of spectators flocked to the edge of the road to watch the nightmarish fireworks.

A boiling white hot crater barrel 50 yards off the road shot lava 50 feet into the air, felling blazing trees and setting roadside underbrush ablaze.

Smoke, sulphur fumes and muffled roars filled the air. The ground shook under foot but the crowds kept pouring in.

Clean Eyeglass Case

Even the person who is extra careful about eyeglasses can cause harm to the lenses by putting them in an ill-fitting eyeglass case which might scratch lenses or bend frames. Be sure to have the case fitted to your glasses.

Home Bureau

St. Remy Night Unit of the Home Bureau will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Jon Flannigan. Mrs. Helen Stantial will talk on Knowing and Using New Fabrics. All are invited.

MISS RUBY LOPER, extension architect from the New York State College of Home Economics at Ithaca, will speak on Planning Storage Space at a county-wide meeting on Thursday evening, March 3, at 8 p. m. at the Home Bureau office, 220 Wall street, in Kingston. The meeting is open to the public. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Miss Loper will discuss kinds of storage needed in a home, the recommended locations, space required in relation to types of storage, how to utilize out of the way space and materials that are suitable for construction.

LOMONTVILLE UNIT, Ulster County Home Bureau will sponsor a covered dish supper on March 17, starting at 6:30 p. m. and a health film will be screened, The Valiant Heart, loaned for the occasion by the Ulster County Health and Tuberculosis Association. A physician will answer questions. Following the program there will be a social hour. At the recent February meeting, plans were discussed for the year. Those attending were the Mmes. Carl Dedy, Henry Rygh, G. France, S. Maidl, Robin Lyke, I. Rapaport, Otto Kern, Gordon Eckert, Cartor Bowers and M. Spireng.

Project Vital

about six feet deep are used and covered gradually.

AMONG COMMUNITIES, which has used landfill, even more than two decades ago, was Tarrytown, which, from 1925 to 1938 filled in nine acres along the Hudson. It made sites for a park and sewage disposal plant which was built in 1940.

The safe estimated annual cost locally of using the landfill is $18,000. The present use of dump and incinerator methods is $28,700. This would mean a saving of $10,700 annually.

It is estimated that the city disposes of 29,830 tons of all types of refuse a year, including garbage and ashes. This averages 1,987 pounds per capita annually. The compacted volume would bulk 50,500 cubic yards a year and would fill three buildings the size of city hall.

All refuse, under the landfill method, would disappear as wasteland was being reclaimed, and the city's dump menaces of the past would be permanently ended, the experts say.

Stephen Keating Heads College Club Award Winner

Stephen Keating

Newman Club of Columbia University was named best club of the year at the 36th annual convention of clubs in New York province held at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York, a week ago. Stephen Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Keating of 49 Hinsdale street, is president of the Columbia group.

A senior, he will be graduated in June with a degree in engineering. An alumnus of Kingston High School, Mr. Keating has a future speakers' list drawn up which includes an address by James Farley on St. Patrick's Day and Mayor Robert Wagner, March 29. The award given the club was primarily on the basis of the excellence of programs planned by the president.

Mr. Keating was a delegate to the Newman Club convention held last summer in Detroit, Mich.

Quakes Are Felt

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, March 1 (AP)—Three cities in the east coast state of Espirito Santos reported unusually heavy earth tremors last night shortly before 9 p. m. shortly before 9 p. m. (EST). News dispatches from the area, however, said no casualties had been reported. The only damage immediately discovered was a cracked roof of a steel plant at Victoria, the state capital, 280 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro.

The Baldwin locomotive works were established in 1832.

New Mutual

proved effective. However, a uniform plan throughout the state would become more effective, particularly in the event of a disaster in which fire companies and equipment might be called upon to give assistance in adjoining counties as a part of the Civil Defense program.

"MUTUAL AID IS ORGANIZED, supervised, coordinated, cooperative, reciprocal assistance in which personnel, equipment and physical facilities of all participating fire departments, regardless of type or size, are utilized for fire or other public emergency in which the services of firemen would be used throughout the county of Ulster and adjacent areas," according to the "objectives" under the new plan. Provision is made for periodic amendments to the plan. Each year the plan will be reviewed by the county fire coordinator and corrections or changes processed.

In Ulster county there are 51 fire companies, including companies at the Napanoch Institution and the Wallkill prison, in addition to the companies in the city of Kingston. All of the companies of the city, towns, villages and all fire districts may fully participate in this plan.

DEPARTMENTS ARE located in the city of Kingston, Accord, Binnewater, Big Indian-Oliverea, Bloomington, Centerville, Clintondale, Connelly, Cottekill, East Kingston, Ellenville, Esopus, Gardiner, Glasco, High Falls, Highland, Hurley.

Kerhonkson, Kripplebush, Lomontville, Modena, Marbletown, Marlborough, Mt. Marion-Ruby, Milton, Lake Mohonk, Napanoch, Napanoch Institution, New Paltz, Olive Bridge, Phoenicia, Pine Hill, Plattekill, Port Ewen, Rifton, Rosendale.

St. Remy, Saugerties, Sawkill, Saxton, Shandaken, Shawangunk, Stone Ridge, Tillson, Ulster Hose, Walker Valley, Wallkill, Wallkill Prison, West Hurley, Woodstock, Cragsmoor and Malden.

WHILE THERE is no formal agreement with the counties of Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Delaware and Greene, which are adjacent to Ulster county, they may participate in the plan and local reciprocal assistance will be in accordance with section 209-a of the General Municipal Law. All requests for assistance will be routed through the Ulster County Fire Control Center.

The following regulation controls entrance and participation in the plan:

"Any duly established fire company or fire department may participate in this plan by filing a copy of a resolution adopted by the fire company or fire department in the office of the County Fire Coordinator. Such resolutions shall state that such fire company or fire department elects to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan and will comply with the provisions of such plan. The resolution shall state that the fire company or fire department shall recognize a call for assistance from another fire company or fire department through the Ulster County Fire Control Center. (*—See page 11 and 12.)

"There shall also be filed with the County Fire Coordinator a copy of a resolution adopted by the legislative body of each participating city or village, or by a board of fire commissioners or other governing body having jurisdiction over the fire department, the board of fire commissioners of each participating fire district, or the town board of each town in relation to participating fire companies serving territories outside of cities, villages, fire districts or in relation to a town fire department. Such resolution shall state that no restrictions exists against 'outside service' by the fire company or fire department of the municipality or district within the meaning of Section 209 of the General Municipal Law which would affect the power of such fire company, or fire department to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan."

PROVISION IS MADE for withdrawal from the plan by any fire company or fire department on due notice to the Ulster County Fire Coordinator and any fire company or fire department withdrawing from the plan "shall surrender and return to the County of Ulster, Kingston, N. Y., all county-owned equipment."

The extendand limit of authority of county officials and designation of personnel is outlined in detail in the plan.

Local fire departments shall retain internal command and individuality.

THE COUNTY FIRE Control Center will be located in Kingston at Central fire station and the Deputy County Fire Coordinator would be responsible for all activities of the County Fire Control Center. Dispatching service and appointment of dispatchers is provided for in the plan.

Provisions for participation in the State Fire Mobilization and Mutual Aid Plan is also made. After utilizing all available assistance from Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Delaware and Greene counties the County Fire Coordinator or a deputy may call the Bureau of Fire Mobilization and Control of the State Division of Safety to obtain activation of the State Fire Mobilization and Mutual Aid Plan.

AT ALL TIMES the members of Mutual Aid would cooperate with other emergency services, including sheriff, state police and other law enforcement agencies.

A complete outline of the proposed plan is available to all fire organizations of the county for study, it was pointed out by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp, who said copies of the plan had gone out to fire companies and other interested officials of the county.

Equal Rights for Women Bill Seems To Have Lost Its Way

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement plato:

Congress is missing a bet. Rep. Katherine St. George of New York, who is both a lady and a Republican, has introduced a bill you'd think every man in America would back.

It proposes a Constitutional amendment to give women equal rights. Naturally her male colleagues, who may feel they already are living in a civilization dominated by feminine muscle, don't act very excited.

They aren't interested in giving women even more power. And the bill seems to have disappeared down a deep dark well, the same well it vanishes into every year that Mrs. St. George introduces it.

BUT WHAT the gentlemen in Congress are overlooking is the fact that they may be missing a rosy opportunity to get back equal rights for men. The amendment would abolish all legal discriminations based on sex alone.

Mrs. St. George believes a lot of antiquated state laws now do discriminate against the ladies. She cites a number of states in which her sisters aren't allowed to serve on juries. She says that in North and South Dakota a husband can put his wife out to work and make her turn all her pay over to him.

(Editor's note: Can this be possible?)

(Boyle's note: Well, I have been in North and South Dakota and never met a husband there strong enough to tear even a dollar bill from his wife's closed paw).

THE LADY LEGISLATOR chivalrously admits many states have passed laws giving special protection to working women. But she feels most women willingly forego these special privileges for the chance to compete with men on equal terms.

Why doesn't Congress leap at this golden chance? Anything that tends to equalize the sexes before the law can't help but hold out the hope of giving a better break to America's frustrated, beaten-down males.

Granting the exceptions listed by Mrs. St. George, don't women by both custom and the actual working of the law enjoy vast advantages over men today?

THEY HAVE SPECIAL privileges in everything from getting a seat in a crowded bus to getting away with martial murder. A man who kills his wife in a fit of rage after 20 years of incessant abuse goes to the chair or to prison for a life. But a wife can cold-bloodedly mow down her husband, invent any defamatory lie about him she can think up to explain her action, and have an odds-on chance to cry her way to freedom. She may even later marry a sympathetic bachelor on the jury.

The energy men burn up in outworn forms of gallantry — running errands for women, lighting their cigarettes, straining themselves rushing revolving doors so the girls can walk through without so much as even lifting their little pinky—probably is one explanation why men die younger.

ONE MAN I KNOW even blames his baldness on his chivalry.

"My mother taught me at the age of 5 to remove my hat in the presence of ladies," he said. "After 35 years of taking off my hat and putting it on again, I finally wore all my hair off. And what is my reward? Women laugh at me now."

There is also the little legal matter of alimony. A wealthy woman now can marry a poor and innocent young man, turn his boyish head with her riches, and then—after he gives her the best years of his life—toss him aside penniless and go on to another man. If he tries to sue her for a fair share of her boodle, he is laughed out of court as a bum.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY has been a one-way street for the ladies too long. Let's climb on Mrs. St. George's bandwagon, boys, and force women once and for all to take equal rights. If they are made equal in law, they must in time accept equality in social customs, whether they want to or not.

Let the girls tip their hats to us every time we tip ours to them. Let them light our cigars every time we light their cigarettes. Let them do their fair share of pushing in revolving doors. Let them divvy up some of that 70 per cent of the nation's wealth they now control. When they go on maternity leaves, let's us go on paternity leave.

An equal rights amendment that shifted more of the world's burden on women would help free a man from worrying about what would happen to his widow. It might result instead in leaving him a carefree, cheerful old widower himself, with nothing on his mind except where to find the right cozy blonde to soothe his sadness while they spent the insurance money.

Educators Balk at 'F' Grade, But Say Time Is Necessary

St. Louis, March 1 (AP)—Buck up, Junior! If you got an "F" (failure mark) on your school report card last month, perhaps it shouldn't be there.

A group of educators here for a regional meeting of the American Association of School Administrators said today it shouldn't.

But, the group admitted in an interview, it will take time to convince your teacher, your father, and even your school board.

"We don't have to have failures in our classrooms," Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Providence, R. I., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said.

WITH HER in the discussion were J. C. Wright, Iowa superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Francis G. Cornell, professor of education at the University of Illinois; Darrell Blodgett, superintendent of schools at Wheaton, Ill., and Mrs. Irma Detjen of Webster Groves, head of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Wright said grading children by arbitrary standards, whether the grades are good or bad, is unfair.

Chief objection to the present day report, said Dr. Cornell, is that it tells only what happened the past semester and gives no indication of what the child can or will do in the future.

SOME COMMUNITIES, the educators said, have replaced grade report cards with the following:

A parent-teacher conference about each child at the end of each semester (more often if necessary).

A narrative-type report card, on which the teacher discusses each of the child's subjects.

A group meeting with both parents and teachers prior to each semester to discuss the goal for that semester.

For greater benefits, the educators said, the child should have the same teacher two or three consecutive years rather than change each semester or year.

Where parent-teacher conferences have been started, they have been successful, they said.

WRIGHT SAID 98 per cent of the parents cooperated with such a program at Keokuk, Iowa. Where necessary, he said, conferences were arranged for late afternoon or evening if both parents worked.

He said one obstacle to adoption of the conference report card was some school officials' inability to say exactly what purpose education had.

Wright said he felt it involved more than teaching children to read, write and do arithmetic problems—the goal should be teaching them how to think and how to get along with other people.

Asked what about the child who couldn't learn, without calling either the child or the teacher failure, the panel proposed a special class.

The retarded student would spend half of each day in such a class, taught by the best teacher in the system, learning the three R's. For the rest of the day the child would return to his regular group for physical education, manual training and similar classes.

Victims of crippling arthritis, rheumatism and neuritis pain can take joyous new hope from announcement of dramatic success with a new formula which combines 4 drugs into one tablet capable of relieving agonizing pain in joints and muscles. According to clinical reports, this new compound, called VERTASOL, acts internally to curb torturous arthritis, rheumatism, neuritis pain in back, hands, arms, legs and shoulders yet is safe to take, requires no prescription. With tears of joy in their eyes, men and women who formerly suffered dread stabbing torture of arthritis and rheumatism pain in swollen joints and muscles now tell of blessed relief after using it.

VERTASOL costs $3.00 but considering results is not expensive, is only pennies per dose. Sold with money back guarantee by United Pharmacy, 324 Wall St., Kingston. Mail orders filled.

As Pegler Sees It

ing orderly procedure in investigations.

Imberman, the author of the Harvard piece, contributes no information himself but frankly relies on the Anti-Crime Commission and McKenna. Representing himself as a "public relations" man, he uses the Harvard Business Review as a bugle to sound the familiar excuse of all unioneers and New Deal apologists, that "management" is at fault for "playing into the hands of racketeers."

The fact is, of course, that management has too many other problems and simply pays extortion and adds that to the cost of its product to the public. The union racketeers have no other concern than to get all they can.

Equal Rights for Women Bill Seems To Have Lost Its Way

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement plato:

Congress is missing a bet. Rep. Katherine St. George of New York, who is both a lady and a Republican, has introduced a bill you'd think every man in America would back.

It proposes a Constitutional amendment to give women equal rights. Naturally her male colleagues, who may feel they already are living in a civilization dominated by feminine muscle, don't act very excited.

They aren't interested in giving women even more power. And the bill seems to have disappeared down a deep dark well, the same well it vanishes into every year that Mrs. St. George introduces it.

BUT WHAT the gentlemen in Congress are overlooking is the fact that they may be missing a rosy opportunity to get back equal rights for men. The amendment would abolish all legal discriminations based on sex alone.

Mrs. St. George believes a lot of antiquated state laws now do discriminate against the ladies. She cites a number of states in which her sisters aren't allowed to serve on juries. She says that in North and South Dakota a husband can put his wife out to work and make her turn all her pay over to him.

(Editor's note: Can this be possible?)

(Boyle's note: Well, I have been in North and South Dakota and never met a husband there strong enough to tear even a dollar bill from his wife's closed paw).

THE LADY LEGISLATOR chivalrously admits many states have passed laws giving special protection to working women. But she feels most women willingly forego these special privileges for the chance to compete with men on equal terms.

Why doesn't Congress leap at this golden chance? Anything that tends to equalize the sexes before the law can't help but hold out the hope of giving a better break to America's frustrated, beaten-down males.

Granting the exceptions listed by Mrs. St. George, don't women by both custom and the actual working of the law enjoy vast advantages over men today?

THEY HAVE SPECIAL privileges in everything from getting a seat in a crowded bus to getting away with martial murder. A man who kills his wife in a fit of rage after 20 years of incessant abuse goes to the chair or to prison for a life. But a wife can cold-bloodedly mow down her husband, invent any defamatory lie about him she can think up to explain her action, and have an odds-on chance to cry her way to freedom. She may even later marry a sympathetic bachelor on the jury.

The energy men burn up in outworn forms of gallantry — running errands for women, lighting their cigarettes, straining themselves rushing revolving doors so the girls can walk through without so much as even lifting their little pinky—probably is one explanation why men die younger.

ONE MAN I KNOW even blames his baldness on his chivalry.

"My mother taught me at the age of 5 to remove my hat in the presence of ladies," he said. "After 35 years of taking off my hat and putting it on again, I finally wore all my hair off. And what is my reward? Women laugh at me now."

There is also the little legal matter of alimony. A wealthy woman now can marry a poor and innocent young man, turn his boyish head with her riches, and then—after he gives her the best years of his life—toss him aside penniless and go on to another man. If he tries to sue her for a fair share of her boodle, he is laughed out of court as a bum.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY has been a one-way street for the ladies too long. Let's climb on Mrs. St. George's bandwagon, boys, and force women once and for all to take equal rights. If they are made equal in law, they must in time accept equality in social customs, whether they want to or not.

Let the girls tip their hats to us every time we tip ours to them. Let them light our cigars every time we light their cigarettes. Let them do their fair share of pushing in revolving doors. Let them divvy up some of that 70 per cent of the nation's wealth they now control. When they go on maternity leaves, let's us go on paternity leave.

An equal rights amendment that shifted more of the world's burden on women would help free a man from worrying about what would happen to his widow. It might result instead in leaving him a carefree, cheerful old widower himself, with nothing on his mind except where to find the right cozy blonde to soothe his sadness while they spent the insurance money.

Grange News

Stone Ridge

At the Grange meeting on February 21, plans were made for members to invite families and friends to the next meeting on March 7. There will be a pot luck supper preceding the evening's entertainment.

Master Daniel A. Barnhart was out of town and the meeting was in charge of Overseer Wilfred Neff, Jr. The county square dance will be held in the hall on March 11th. Contestants are urged to be present for the elimination of tryouts on March 7. The Kingston Arts and Camera Shop added to the lecturer's hour by showing a splendid movie of Virginia.

Educators Balk at 'F' Grade, But Say Time Is Necessary

St. Louis, March 1 (AP)—Buck up, Junior! If you got an "F" (failure mark) on your school report card last month, perhaps it shouldn't be there.

A group of educators here for a regional meeting of the American Association of School Administrators said today it shouldn't.

But, the group admitted in an interview, it will take time to convince your teacher, your father, and even your school board.

"We don't have to have failures in our classrooms," Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Providence, R. I., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said.

WITH HER in the discussion were J. C. Wright, Iowa superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Francis G. Cornell, professor of education at the University of Illinois; Darrell Blodgett, superintendent of schools at Wheaton, Ill., and Mrs. Irma Detjen of Webster Groves, head of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Wright said grading children by arbitrary standards, whether the grades are good or bad, is unfair.

Chief objection to the present day report, said Dr. Cornell, is that it tells only what happened the past semester and gives no indication of what the child can or will do in the future.

SOME COMMUNITIES, the educators said, have replaced grade report cards with the following:

A parent-teacher conference about each child at the end of each semester (more often if necessary).

A narrative-type report card, on which the teacher discusses each of the child's subjects.

A group meeting with both parents and children prior to each semester to discuss the goal for that semester.

For greater benefits, the educators said, the child should have the same teacher two or three consecutive years rather than change each semester or year.

Where parent-teacher conferences have been started, they have been successful, they said.

WRIGHT SAID 98 per cent of the parents cooperated with such a program at Keokuk, Iowa. Where necessary, he said, conferences were arranged for late afternoon or evening if both parents worked.

He said one obstacle to adoption of the conference report card was some school officials' inability to say exactly what purpose education had.

Wright said he felt it involved more than teaching children to read, write and do arithmetic problems—the goal should be teaching them how to think and how to get along with other people.

Asked what about the child who couldn't learn, without calling either the child or the teacher failure, the panel proposed a special class.

The retarded student would spend half of each day in such a class, taught by the best teacher in the system, learning the three R's. For the rest of the day the child would return to his regular group for physical education, manual training and similar classes.

ing orderly procedure in investigations.

Imberman, the author of the Harvard piece, contributes no information himself but frankly relies on the Anti-Crime Commission and McKenna. Representing himself as a "public relations" man, he uses the Harvard Business Review as a bugle to sound the familiar excuse of all unioneers and New Deal apologists, that "management" is at fault for "playing into the hands of racketeers."

The fact is, of course, that management has too many other problems and simply pays extortion and adds that to the cost of its product to the public. The union racketeers have no other concern than to get all they can.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Under the Constitutional Direction of "Our Way of Life" our Free Enterprise System was made possible.

In our country, the employer and the employe, who are management and labor, have a common interest. Those with a European accent who would drive a wedge of suspicion and hatred between them, are not friends of either. Class hatred is bad medicine. It begets strife, discord, strikes, riots and anarchy. It is the enemy of management and labor. Let's boot out the "wedge of suspicion." Or, will workers and employers watch their sun set? Then strong men become beggars, proud men cowards.

Mr. Hutton

Management and Labor should walk hand in hand and think together. Divided against themselves, they fall. Their basic interests are one and the same. Remove the Kremlin wedge before it smashes the Enterprise System and undermines the security of the worker and the man who made the job possible.

Say to the fast-talking, leftwing agitator, that the words "Democracy" and "Democratic" are nowhere to be found in our constitution. They were coined by Socialists, who are deodorized Communists. This is a Republic; divided, it falls, and united, it stands.

What say, neighbor?

Business Leaders Watch Potentials as March Begins

New York, March 1 (AP)—March roars in today with leaders of industry and trade wondering just how severe the potential squalls might become.

The month starts with some U. S. senators set to take a curious look at what's going on in Wall Street. It's billed as a "friendly study." But stock brokers and traders turn nervous when senators start poking around. And the street is aware, too, that there is considerable public curiosity as to what has been causing the big Bull Market and as to where it might be heading.

MARCH MAY ALSO see the currently fairly placid labor relations waters start to stir. Labor-management negotiations are set in the coming weeks in some of the nation's top industries. The issues will shortly be drawn. And the outcome—whether quick and peaceful settlements or long and bitter strife—could determine whether the currently upward course of business and trade will be disrupted.

As the month starts, a somewhat unexpected rise in commodity prices is reported by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents. Competition and the fully adequate production capacity of most industries were supposed to hold prices down. The purchasing agents, in fact, do report discounts can be had on many items. But many metals, and products made from metals, have tended higher.

PART OF THIS is due to demand for them from Europe where a renewal of inflation is under way. The British are trying to counteract this by raising interest rates and curbing instalment buying. This has upset the London stock market and caused some uneasiness in America.

European stock markets have been following the Bulls with enthusiasm, too. And the rise in stock prices on most of the world exchanges has been at a faster rate than in New York. March should show whether a real break is in prospect overseas, or just a bobble.

Instalment buying has been rising in this country, too. That has been interpreted as evidence of a return of confidence in the future by the consuming public—a belief that it's safe to mortgage future income to satisfy present desires for goods.

INCREASED BUYING on time has been one of the chief reasons that total retail sales have been advancing. Auto buying has been the prime factor.

Most merchants are convinced that March will see no interruption and that total retail sales for the first three months of the year will set an all-time record high. With Easter coming April 10, trade should stay fat for the next six weeks.

But Congress could blow up some worrisome storms for business in March.

AS CONGRESS and the White House battle over the tax bill, businessmen will be watching closely. The income tax cut proposal theoretically could give many persons $20 more to use in buying industry's products. It could also throw the U.S. Treasury a little further into the Red. Both results could exert some inflationary pressure.

But the tax cut proposal is tied to a continued high rate of corporate income taxes, and that will hold down business profits. Also involved is a continued high excise levy on a number of products, and that could discourage consumer buying of these items. Most businessmen are resigned to the continuation of these tax rates.

Many of them are convinced, however, that the March winds will blow them more good than ill—more orders, more production, more sales.

Not His Meat

Yonkers, N. Y. (AP)—James E. McCue, deputy public safety commissioner, is fed up with the meat business. That is because so many people called his nonlisted telephone number and gave him orders for such items as steaks, pork chops and hot dogs. His unlisted number was listed erroneously in a telephone directory as the number of the meat department of a super market. Now McCue has obtained a new nonlisted number.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Under the Constitutional Direction of "Our Way of Life" our Free Enterprise System was made possible.

In our country, the employer and the employe, who are management and labor, have a common interest. Those with a European accent who would drive a wedge of suspicion and hatred between them, are not friends of either. Class hatred is bad medicine. It begets strife, discord, strikes, riots and anarchy. It is the enemy of management and labor. Let's boot out the "wedge of suspicion." Or, will workers and employers watch their sun set? Then strong men become beggars, proud men cowards.

Mr. Hutton

Management and Labor should walk hand in hand and think together. Divided against themselves, they fall. Their basic interests are one and the same. Remove the Kremlin wedge before it smashes the Enterprise System and undermines the security of the worker and the man who made the job possible.

Say to the fast-talking, leftwing agitator, that the words "Democracy" and "Democratic" are nowhere to be found in our constitution. They were coined by Socialists, who are deodorized Communists. This is a Republic; divided, it falls, and united, it stands.

What say, neighbor?

Business Leaders Watch Potentials as March Begins

New York, March 1 (AP)—March roars in today with leaders of industry and trade wondering just how severe the potential squalls might become.

The month starts with some U. S. senators set to take a curious look at what's going on in Wall Street. It's billed as a "friendly study." But stock brokers and traders turn nervous when senators start poking around. And the street is aware, too, that there is considerable public curiosity as to what has been causing the big Bull Market and as to where it might be heading.

MARCH MAY ALSO see the currently fairly placid labor relations waters start to stir. Labor-management negotiations are set in the coming weeks in some of the nation's top industries. The issues will shortly be drawn. And the outcome—whether quick and peaceful settlements or long and bitter strife—could determine whether the currently upward course of business and trade will be disrupted.

As the month starts, a somewhat unexpected rise in commodity prices is reported by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents. Competition and the fully adequate production capacity of most industries were supposed to hold prices down. The purchasing agents, in fact, do report discounts can be had on many items. But many metals, and products made from metals, have tended higher.

PART OF THIS is due to demand for them from Europe where a renewal of inflation is under way. The British are trying to counteract this by raising interest rates and curbing instalment buying. This has upset the London stock market and caused some uneasiness in America.

European stock markets have been following the Bulls with enthusiasm, too. And the rise in stock prices on most of the world exchanges has been at a faster rate than in New York. March should show whether a real break is in prospect overseas, or just a bobble.

Instalment buying has been rising in this country, too. That has been interpreted as evidence of a return of confidence in the future by the consuming public—a belief that it's safe to mortgage future income to satisfy present desires for goods.

INCREASED BUYING on time has been one of the chief reasons that total retail sales have been advancing. Auto buying has been the prime factor.

Most merchants are convinced that March will see no interruption and that total retail sales for the first three months of the year will set an all-time record high. With Easter coming April 10, trade should stay fat for the next six weeks.

But Congress could blow up some worrisome storms for business in March.

AS CONGRESS and the White House battle over the tax bill, businessmen will be watching closely. The income tax cut proposal theoretically could give many persons $20 more to use in buying industry's products. It could also throw the U.S. Treasury a little further into the Red. Both results could exert some inflationary pressure.

But the tax cut proposal is tied to a continued high rate of corporate income taxes, and that will hold down business profits. Also involved is a continued high excise levy on a number of products, and that could discourage consumer buying of these items. Most businessmen are resigned to the continuation of these tax rates.

Many of them are convinced, however, that the March winds will blow them more good than ill—more orders, more production, more sales.

High School Plays Monticello in Showdown Game Wednesday

Maroon Must Win to Tie MHS For Playoffs

Middies at Home Against Liberty

The battle for the No. 2 spot in the state intersectionals continues tonight with Middletown High an overwhelming favorite to crush winless Liberty and set up a playoff with Kingston High.

The Maroon, meanwhile, have the league's No. 2 team—Monticello—to contend with in the regular season's finale Wednesday night at the Kate Walton field house.

Victory is a must for Kingston in this one.

THE REGULAR Tuesday slate in the DUSO League tonight has only three games. Poughkeepsie travels to Ellenville and the champion Newburgh Academy Goldbacks seeks to complete a perfect DUSO season (16-0) at Fallsburgh.

Monticello has two brilliant operators in All-DUSO Mendy Ringel and Ronnie Trachtenburgh, both of whom are scoring at a 21.4 clip per game. They blend beautifully as a pair, Ringel harrassing you from anywhere and Trachtenburgh doing heavy damage under the basket.

The other Monticello starters —Harold Sturges, Ivan Zubow and Marty Schwartz—are seasoned ball players. Schwartz is one of the top floor men in the league.

KINGSTON ALMOST blew its playoff spot in that 66-64 squeaker at Liberty. It took some great clutch shooting by Skip Brodhead and Ray Lawrence to turn the tide in the last 90 seconds.

Coach Kias hopes to have Tom Flemming in the lineup for the first time in four games. If Flemming can't go, Jack Houghtaling will be in the No. 5 spot where he has proved effective. It was high first period shooting that kept Kingston in the running at Liberty.

If Middletown wins tonight, as expected, and Kingston takes Monticello here Wednesday, the playoff game will probably be played at Monticello.

Humez Stops Langlois in 5th

Paris, March 1 (AP) — Charles Humez clamored for a shot at middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson today on the strength of his fifth round technical knockout of durable Pierre Langlois in the battle of French contenders.

Langlois fought Olson in San Francisco last Dec. 15 and that title scrap was stopped in the 11th round because of a nasty gash over Pierre's left eye.

THE REFEREE HAD to halt last night's scheduled 10-rounder in the capacity-crowded Palais Des Sports, too, but only after the 29-year-old Langlois had been battered into helplessness by Humez' destructive blows. The time was 2:31.

"After this demonstration by Humez, I don't see how anyone can doubt his right to a title chance at Olson," said Philippi Filippi, the jubilant victor's manager.

Siena Opposes Canisius Five

Siena College, having upset St. Francis of Brooklyn, 61-55, Saturday night, takes on an old foe—Canisius—tonight at the Albany Armory.

The Indians, 3-11 for the season, will have ample reason to seek revenge against the Griffs, who humiliated them, 79-44, earlier at Buffalo.

Canisius, with a 15-4 record and a bid to the NCAA tourney, is paced by Johnny McCarthy, 6-footer, who has a 21-point average.

Siena will counter with Timmy Hill and his 15.1 average.

Indians in Trouble As Training Opens

Ten Regulars Still Unsigned

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP)—The citrus and cactus season—baseball's spring training—got under way today in widely scattered fronts in Florida and Arizona.

This is the day baseball officially opens the long grind that will lead to the World Series seven months hence.

The clubs will have 10 days to get into shape for the exhibition season beginning March 10. This late opening of training, put through by the players themselves, has proved unpopular and it wouldn't surprise anyone if the rule was changed in the near future.

IN FACT, ONLY yesterday Commissioner Ford Frick fined the Milwaukee Braves $500 and 14 of the club's players lesser amounts for breaking the rule.

Attracting almost as much attention at the start of training are the efforts of the Indians to get their players under contract and the big question of whether Ted Williams is going to return to the Boston Red Sox.

The champions still have 10 players outside the fold and General Manager Hank Greenberg said: "Someone's being unreasonable, and it's not me."

All told, 35 major leaguers still have not signed their contracts.

AS FOR THE RACES, the National League appears to be the better balanced, although virtually all clubs are depending on one or two key men who could make or break the team.

The big three in the National League are the Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Braves. St. Louis, Philadelphia and Cincinnati also could come through and, in fact, only the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cubs seem to be out of it.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants admitted on arriving at his Phoenix, Ariz. lair, that he was in the market for another pitcher to take a spot alongside Johnny Antonelli, Sal Maglie, Ruben Gomez and Don Liddle.

"WHAT I'M LOOKING for is a right-handed starter," said the Lip. "It will be rougher this year. We'll have to do it all over again. We can't live on 1954."

At Vero Beach, Fla., where the runner-up Dodgers set up quarters, Manager Walt Alston looked over the situation and proclaimed:

"I do not plan to make any predictions on a National League race as close as this one promises to be. But I will predict that the Dodgers will have a much-improved club this year."

The Yanks, of course, hope they traded themselves into the pennant when they acquired pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen from the Baltimore Orioles in a gigantic deal during the winter.

"I think we have a chance for one-two," rasped Prof. Stengel. "I've got so many men I don't know what to do with them. We're okay in the outfield, infield, catching and pinch-hitting. If I can straighten out my pitching, the Yankees will be one-two."

COULD BE EXPENSIVE SPORT — This is the sport that could cost Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, about $100,000 a year if he persists in his announced intention to retire from baseball. Williams holds a good sized snapper caught during a recent Florida trip. Red Sox officials hope Ted will change his mind and report for spring training. (AP Wirephoto).

Baker Wants Valdes After Trouncing Layne

New York, March 1 (AP)—Big Bob Baker has eight wins in a row and no place to go. So the Pittsburgh husky put it up to his manager today to get a second helping of Cuba's Nino Valdes.

"I don't think we'll have much chance of getting Valdes but I'll give it another try," said Dusty Bettor after his 6-2, 214½ pound gladiator decisively outpointed pudgy Rex Layne of Utah in a telecast 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena last night.

"Bobby Gleason, Valdes' manager, wants a $50,000 guarantee and that kind of money is out," added Bettor.

BAKER, NOW RANKED as the No. 4 contender, beat Valdes in a 10 on May 21, 1953. Since then the giant Cuban has swept 11 straight and has soared to the No. 1 ranking behind Marciano.

For a while against Layne, Baker didn't even look like he merited No. 4 position nor the favorite's role at 5-1 odds. The 206¾ pound Layne gave his taller rival fits in the first five rounds by scoring repeatedly with long rights to the head.

In one exchange of rights in the fourth, Baker dropped Layne to one knee. Rex bounced right up but Referee Ray Miller tolled the mandatory eight count. The 26-year old Layne came back full of fight but he ran out of steam in the sixth round.

The votes, all favoring Baker, were Referee Miller, 7-2-1, Judge Leo Birnbaum, 8-2, and Judge Bill Recht, 5-5 in rounds but Baker ahead on points, 10-5. The AP card had Baker in front 7-2-1.

IN THE OTHER network TV fight of the night, Toledo's Pat Lowry made a successful New York debut by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over Pete Adams of Newark, N. J., at St. Nicholas Arena.

Outweighed 154 to 149, Lowry finished strong to gain the verdict. He won the final three rounds on Referee Mark Conn's card for a 5-4-1 edge from that official. Judge Artie Aidala had it even in rounds, 4-4-2, but gave it to Pat on points, 6-5. The other judge, Joe Eppy, had Lowry a big winner, 8-2.

Glasco School Five Takes Fourth District I Title

The Glasco School basketball team has captured the District I title for the fourth consecutive year, having nipped Hurley, 37-35, in overtime at the West Hurley gym.

Capt. Larry Kithcart's deuce in sudden death overtime period decided the issue, after a 35-35 deadlock in regulation time.

KITHCART WAS high scorer for the winners with 15 points. Miller canned 14 for Hurley.

Johnston Heads For 3rd NBA Title

New York, March 1 (AP)—Neil Johnston, Philadelphia's high scoring center, seemed certain of his third consecutive National Basketball Association individual scoring title today.

Johnston, 6-8, scored 128 points in five games last week and now leads teammate Paul Arizin in points scored 1,410 to 1,291. He is also the leader in per-game average with 22.7.

Boston's Bob Cousy is third with 1,274 followed by Milwaukee's two rookies, Bob Pettit and Frank Selvy, with 1,273 and 1,243, respectively.

BILL SHARMAN of the Celtics continues to lead in foul shooting with a percentage of 90.2. Bobby Wanzer of the Rochester Royals holds the record with a mark of 90.4 set in 1952.

Larry Foust of the Fort Wayne Pistons still leads in field goal accuracy with 49.0 per cent.

Johnston, seeking to become the second player to win the individual scoring crown three times, tops Pettit in rebounds, 928 to 886. George Mikan held the scoring title for three consecutive years with the Minneapolis Lakers in 1949-50-51.

Cousy is ahead of New York's Dick McGuire in assists 481 to 476.

Ted's Decision On Retirement 'In Near Future'

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP) After months of rumors, the baseball world finally had something official today on the status of Boston Red Sox star Ted Williams—he has promised to decide "in the near future" whether to play this season.

The 36-year-old slugger won't be on hand for today's opening session of the spring training grind, but General Manager Joe Cronin said last night:

I TALKED WITH Ted by telephone last Monday. He told me he has not caught up with his fishing and business affairs any better than before. But he said he'd call me in the near future and gives me a definite answer."

Cronin refused to classify Ted as a holdout.

Williams, who has been fishing off the Florida Keys, announced his baseball retirement at the end of last season, but the rumors have been flying ever since.

High School Plays Monticello in Showdown Game Wednesday

Maroon Must Win to Tie MHS For Playoffs

Middies at Home Against Liberty

The battle for the No. 2 spot in the state intersectionals continues tonight with Middletown High an overwhelming favorite to crush winless Liberty and set up a playoff with Kingston High.

The Maroon, meanwhile, have the league's No. 2 team—Monticello—to contend with in the regular season's finale Wednesday night at the Kate Walton field house.

Victory is a must for Kingston in this one.

THE REGULAR Tuesday slate in the DUSO League tonight has only three games. Poughkeepsie travels to Ellenville and the champion Newburgh Academy Goldbacks seeks to complete a perfect DUSO season (16-0) at Fallsburgh.

Monticello has two brilliant operators in All-DUSO Mendy Ringel and Ronnie Trachtenburgh, both of whom are scoring at a 21.4 clip per game. They blend beautifully as a pair, Ringel harrassing you from anywhere and Trachtenburgh doing heavy damage under the basket.

The other Monticello starters —Harold Sturges, Ivan Zubow and Marty Schwartz—are seasoned ball players. Schwartz is one of the top floor men in the league.

KINGSTON ALMOST blew its playoff spot in that 66-64 squeaker at Liberty. It took some great clutch shooting by Skip Brodhead and Ray Lawrence to turn the tide in the last 90 seconds.

Coach Kias hopes to have Tom Flemming in the lineup for the first time in four games. If Flemming can't go, Jack Houghtaling will be in the No. 5 spot where he has proved effective. It was high first period shooting that kept Kingston in the running at Liberty.

If Middletown wins tonight, as expected, and Kingston takes Monticello here Wednesday, the playoff game will probably be played at Monticello.

Humez Stops Langlois in 5th

Paris, March 1 (AP) — Charles Humez clamored for a shot at middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson today on the strength of his fifth round technical knockout of durable Pierre Langlois in the battle of French contenders.

Langlois fought Olson in San Francisco last Dec. 15 and that title scrap was stopped in the 11th round because of a nasty gash over Pierre's left eye.

THE REFEREE HAD to halt last night's scheduled 10-rounder in the capacity-crowded Palais Des Sports, too, but only after the 29-year-old Langlois had been battered into helplessness by Humez' destructive blows. The time was 2:31.

"After this demonstration by Humez, I don't see how anyone can doubt his right to a title chance at Olson," said Philippi Filippi, the jubilant victor's manager.

Siena Opposes Canisius Five

Siena College, having upset St. Francis of Brooklyn, 61-55, Saturday night, takes on an old foe—Canisius—tonight at the Albany Armory.

The Indians, 3-11 for the season, will have ample reason to seek revenge against the Griffs, who humiliated them, 79-44, earlier at Buffalo.

Canisius, with a 15-4 record and a bid to the NCAA tourney, is paced by Johnny McCarthy, 6-footer, who has a 21-point average.

Siena will counter with Timmy Hill and his 15.1 average.

Indians in Trouble As Training Opens

Ten Regulars Still Unsigned

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP)—The citrus and cactus season—baseball's spring training—got under way today on widely scattered fronts in Florida and Arizona.

This is the day baseball officially opens the long grind that will lead to the World Series seven months hence.

The clubs will have 10 days to get into shape for the exhibition season beginning March 10. This late opening of training, put through by the players themselves, has proved unpopular and it wouldn't surprise anyone if the rule was changed in the near future.

IN FACT, ONLY yesterday Commissioner Ford Frick fined the Milwaukee Braves $500 and 14 of the club's players lesser amounts for breaking the rule.

Attracting almost as much attention at the start of training are the efforts of the Indians to get their players under contract and the big question of whether Ted Williams is going to return to the Boston Red Sox.

The champions still have 10 players outside the fold and General Manager Hank Greenberg said: "Someone's being unreasonable, and it's not me."

All told, 35 major leaguers still have not signed their contracts.

AS FOR THE RACES, the National League appears to be the better balanced, although virtually all clubs are depending on one or two key men who could make or break the team.

The big three in the National League are the Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Braves. St. Louis, Philadelphia and Cincinnati also could come through and, in fact, only the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cubs seem to be out of it.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants admitted on arriving at his Phoenix, Ariz. lair, that he was in the market for another pitcher to take a spot alongside Johnny Antonelli, Sal Maglie, Ruben Gomez and Don Liddle.

"WHAT I'M LOOKING for is a right-handed starter," said the Lip. "It will be rougher this year. We'll have to do it all over again. We can't live on 1954."

At Vero Beach, Fla., where the runner-up Dodgers set up quarters, Manager Walt Alston looked over the situation and proclaimed:

"I do not plan to make any predictions on a National League race as close as this one promises to be. But I will predict that the Dodgers will have a much-improved club this year."

The Yanks, of course, hope they traded themselves into the pennant when they acquired pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen from the Baltimore Orioles in a gigantic deal during the winter.

"I think we have a chance for one-two," rasped Prof. Stengel. "I've got so many men I don't know what to do with them. We're okay in the outfield, infield, catching and pinch-hitting. If I can straighten out my pitching, the Yankees will be one-two."

COULD BE EXPENSIVE SPORT — This is the sport that could cost Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, about $100,000 a year if he persists in his announced intention to retire from baseball. Williams holds a good sized snapper caught during a recent Florida trip. Red Sox officials hope Ted will change his mind and report for spring training. (AP Wirephoto).

Ted's Decision On Retirement 'In Near Future'

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP) After months of rumors, the baseball world finally had something official today on the status of Boston Red Sox star Ted Williams—he has promised to decide "in the near future" whether to play this season.

The 36-year-old slugger won't be on hand for today's opening session of the spring training grind, but General Manager Joe Cronin said last night:

I TALKED WITH Ted by telephone last Monday. He told me he has not caught up with his fishing and business affairs any better than before. But he said he'd call me in the near future and gives me a definite answer."

Cronin refused to classify Ted as a holdout.

Williams, who has been fishing off the Florida Keys, announced his baseball retirement at the end of last season, but the rumors have been flying ever since.

Baker Wants Valdes After Trouncing Layne

New York, March 1 (AP)—Big Bob Baker has eight wins in a row and no place to go. So the Pittsburgh husky put it up to his manager today to get a second helping of Cuba's Nino Valdes.

"I don't think we'll have much chance of getting Valdes but I'll give it another try," said Dusty Bettor after his 6-2, 214½ pound gladiator decisively outpointed pudgy Rex Layne of Utah in a telecast 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena last night.

"Bobby Gleason, Valdes' manager, wants a $50,000 guarantee and that kind of money is out," added Bettor.

BAKER, NOW RANKED as the No. 4 contender, beat Valdes in a 10 on May 21, 1953. Since then the giant Cuban has swept 11 straight and has soared to the No. 1 ranking behind Marciano.

For a while against Layne, Baker didn't even look like he merited No. 4 position nor the favorite's role at 5-1 odds. The 206¾ pound Layne gave his taller rival fits in the first five rounds by scoring repeatedly with long rights to the head.

In one exchange of rights in the fourth, Baker dropped Layne to one knee. Rex bounced right up but Referee Ray Miller tolled the mandatory eight count. The 26-year old Layne came back full of fight but he ran out of steam in the sixth round.

The votes, all favoring Baker, were Referee Miller, 7-2-1, Judge Leo Birnbaum, 8-2, and Judge Bill Recht, 5-5 in rounds but Baker ahead on points, 10-5. The AP card had Baker in front 7-2-1.

IN THE OTHER network TV fight of the night, Toledo's Pat Lowry made a successful New York debut by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over Pete Adams of Newark, N. J., at St. Nicholas Arena.

Outweighed 154 to 149, Lowry finished strong to gain the verdict. He won the final three rounds on Referee Mark Conn's card for a 5-4-1 edge from that official. Judge Artie Aidala had it even in rounds, 4-4-2, but gave it to Pat on points, 6-5. The other judge, Joe Eppy, had Lowry a big winner, 8-2.

Johnston Heads For 3rd NBA Title

New York, March 1 (AP)—Neil Johnston, Philadelphia's high scoring center, seemed certain of his third consecutive National Basketball Association individual scoring title today.

Johnston, 6-8, scored 128 points in five games last week and now leads teammate Paul Arizin in points scored 1,410 to 1,291. He is also the leader in per-game average with 22.7.

Boston's Bob Cousy is third with 1.274 followed by Milwaukee's two rookies, Bob Pettit and Frank Selvy, with 1,273 and 1,243, respectively.

BILL SHARMAN of the Celtics continues to lead in foul shooting with a percentage of 90.2. Bobby Wanzer of the Rochester Royals holds the record with a mark of 90.4 set in 1952.

Larry Foust of the Fort Wayne Pistons still leads in field goal accuracy with 49.0 per cent.

Johnston, seeking to become the second player to win the individual scoring crown three times, tops Pettit in rebounds, 928 to 886. George Mikan held the scoring title for three consecutive years with the Minneapolis Lakers in 1949-50-51.

Cousy is ahead of New York's Dick McGuire in assists 481 to 476.

Sawyer JVs Undefeated

Saugerties High's crack Jayvees completed the first undefeated season in the school's recent history when they trounced the Kerhonkson Jayvees, 59-39, in the 1954-55 finale.

According to Larry Cahill, the Sawyer athletic director, a Saugerties jayvee squad reeled off 21 straight wins about 20 years ago.

COACH DAVE GOBLE'S yearlings were sparked by Don Whitaker's 20 points as they led 36-29 at the half. Whitaker hit nine times from the field and added two charity tosses. Skip Kugelman canned five deuces.

High man for Kerhonkson was Crosa with 12 points.

Dons Hold Poll Lead; Cats 2nd

By The Associated Press

For the Fourth straight week the University of San Francisco today was named the No. 1 College basketball team in the weekly Associated Press poll with Kentucky and La Salle still in close pursuit of the defense-minded Dons.

Of the 104 sports writers and sportscasters voting, 43 named San Francisco as the top team. The Dons, boasting the best defense among major colleges, amassed 888 votes. The balloting was based on records of games through last Saturday.

KENTUCKY which gained at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference championship by turning back Alabama 66-52 last night, and La Salle, which had an NCAA tourney berth, accumulated more first place ballots than a week ago. Their point totals of 723 and 640, however, reflected little change.

Duquesne, seeded No. 1 in the National Invitation Tournament, experienced the biggest drop when the Iron Dukes fell from fourth to eighth after bowing to Dayton.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday in parenthesis:

1.	San Francisco (43) (21-1)	888
2.	Kentucky (15) (20-2)	723
3.	La Salle (9) (22-4)	640

Liens Are Filed

New York, March 1 (AP)—The federal government has filed tax liens against band leader Guy Lombardo and two of his brothers, claiming they owe $223,372 on their 1953 taxes. In papers filed yesterday at the King's county (Brooklyn) clerk's office, the government claimed $67,714 was owed by Guy; $46,314 by Guy Lombardo Enterprises, Inc.; $28,828 by his brother Liebert, and $85,516 by brother Carmen. Liebert, who like Guy lives at Freeport, N. Y., plays the trumpet in Guy's "Royal Canadians" band. Carmen, of Woodmere, N. Y., plays the alto sax. Last night Guy said he had turned the whole matter over to his accountant and lawyer several weeks ago and he didn't quite understand the details of the case himself.

Frick Fines Braves $1125 For Breaking Spring Rule

Bradenton, Fla., March 1 (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick, who cracked down on the Milwaukee club and 14 of its Braves for violating the March 1 spring training rule, was expected today to mete out similar punishment to other major league clubs.

Frick yesterday fined the Milwaukee club $500 and 14 of its players $625 for holding workouts at the Braves' training camp here prior to the March 1 opening. A rule adopted by the major league clubs at the request of the players themselves barred earlier drills.

THE COMMISSIONER also hinted broadly that the Braves may not have been the only violators of the rule. Frick did not mention names of players or teams but it was learned he was checking on reports that members of the Detroit Tigers had worked out at Lakeland and that several Brooklyn Dodgers had undergone preliminary conditioning at Vero Beach.

"I have gone on record as saying that the current rule is a bad one," Frick said. "I still would like to see it changed. I believe that spring training should be controlled by the ball club itself.

"DESPITE MY personal feeling on the matter, we have a rule to enforce, a rule adopted at the players' request. And the commissioner's function is to enforce the rule so long as it remains on the books."

"Milwaukee players worked out as a group before spectators. The Braves' management had awareness that the workout had taken place. Consequently both the players and the management were equally culpable."

Liens Are Filed

New York, March 1 (AP)—The federal government has filed tax liens against band leader Guy Lombardo and two of his brothers, claiming they owe $223,372 on their 1953 taxes. In papers filed yesterday at the King's county (Brooklyn) clerk's office, the government claimed $67,714 was owed by Guy; $46,314 by Guy Lombardo Enterprises, Inc.; $28,828 by his brother Liebert, and $85,516 by brother Carmen. Liebert, who like Guy lives at Freeport, N. Y., plays the trumpet in Guy's "Royal Canadians" band. Carmen, of Woodmere, N. Y., plays the alto sax. Last night Guy said he had turned the whole matter over to his accountant and lawyer several weeks ago and he didn't quite understand the details of the case himself.

Frick Fines Braves $1125 For Breaking Spring Rule

Bradenton, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick, who cracked down on the Milwaukee club and 14 of its Braves for violating the March 1 spring training rule, was expected today to mete out similar punishment to other major league clubs.

Frick yesterday fined the Milwaukee club $500 and 14 of its players $625 for holding workouts at the Braves' training camp here prior to the March 1 opening. A rule adopted by the major league clubs at the request of the players themselves barred earlier drills.

THE COMMISSIONER also hinted broadly that the Braves may not have been the only violators of the rule. Frick did not mention names of players or teams but it was learned he was checking on reports that members of the Detroit Tigers had worked out at Lakeland and that several Brooklyn Dodgers had undergone preliminary conditioning at Vero Beach.

"I have gone on record as saying that the current rule is a bad one," Frick said. "I still would like to see it changed. I believe that spring training should be controlled by the ball club itself.

"DESPITE MY personal feeling on the matter, we have a rule to enforce, a rule adopted at the players' request. And the commissioner's function is to enforce the rule so long as it remains on the books."

"Milwaukee players worked out as a group before spectators. The Braves' management had awareness that the workout had taken place. Consequently both the players and the management were equally culpable."

You don't have to pay EXTRA for...
EXTRA PROOF WHISKEY!
Read how FLEISCHMANN'S higher Proof gives you more enjoyment at less cost!
You're sure to get extra enjoyment when you buy extra-Proof whiskey. For "Proof" tells you a whiskey's "strength." Today, most blends are no more than 86 Proof. But Fleischmann's is a full 90 Proof! This means that you get more flavor—more enjoyment.
Proof determines the amount of taxes collected by the U. S. Government on whiskies. And although Fleischmann pays $1.03 more per case than 86 Proof blends, Fleischmann's costs you less than many brands of lower Proof. Try Fleischmann's—you'll agree that it's the best blended whiskey value in America! Buy a bottle—today!

Ohio Tornado Kills One Woman

Youngstown, Ohio, March 1 (AP) — A tornado hit the city's east side early this morning, killing a 43-year-old housewife, injuring six other persons and sweeping five basementless homes off their foundations. Three other homes were badly damaged.

Damage is expected to exceed $100,000, police and firemen estimated.

The dead woman, Mrs. Mary Fallout, was found in the driveway of her wrecked home. Her husband, Andrew, was hospitalized with cuts on the shoulder. He said he heard a roar, covered himself and his wife with a blanket and the next moment was out in the pelting rain in the yard.

THE TWISTER HIT one area, skipped a few blocks and then dipped down again near the city's eastern limits.

Meanwhile another early morning tornado struck Troy, Ohio, causing damage estimated at $100,000 by police and firemen. The twister dipped into the downtown section cutting a path about a city block wide into a residential section.

No injuries were reported.

Crewman Is Killed

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force said a twin-engined C119 boxcar crashed tonight, 18 miles north of Ashiya Air Base on Kyushu Island. A spokesman said all seven men aboard bailed out over water and were picked up by rescue crews. One man died later. The spokesman said he did not know if any of those aboard were passengers, or whether all were crew members. Names were withheld.

GENE AUTRY COMING MARCH 14—One of the greatest attractions ever sponsored by the Kingston Lions Club, if one asks the city's youngsters, is the Gene Autry show, coming to the Kate Walton Field House on Monday, March 14. The cowboy star, and his troupe of ranch stars will put on two shows, one at 4 and the other at 8 p. m.

The top television star of westerns will have his two horses, Champion and Little Champ to perform for the youngsters, and adults who lean toward the cowboy type of entertainment.

And, there will be Annie Oakley demonstrating her trick shots; Pat Buttram, Gene's cracked voice comedy sidekick, the Cass County Boys, top western singing trio; Carl Cotner and the Melody Ranch Orchestra; the Strongs, trick ropers and bullwhip artists.

The show has played to sell-out crowds in 30 cities from coast to coast, a press representative said, as he urged the purchase of tickets in advance. They are being sold at the Tommy Maines Sport Shop and the Kingston Recreation Center on lower Broadway. Children's tickets are half price for all seats at the matinee.

Autry will sing some of the song-hits that have sold more than 35,000,000 records.

Okinawans Build Dams

Okinawans, with United States help, have built 17 large dams since World War 2, says the National Geographic Society. Nakahodo Dam offers an example of what has been accomplished. Its 11,500,000-gallon capacity enables near-by farmers to triple their cultivated acreage and boost their rice yield fivefold.

Names Projected

The names of some states are projected in other states. For example, New York has a town named Alabama, Pennsylvania has an Indiana, and Louisiana an Arizona. Five states have a California, three an Ohio, and seven a Wyoming. There is a Texas in Kentucky and a Tennessee in Illinois, says the National Geographic Society.

Pontecorvo . . .

cause preparations there for military use of atomic energy made him "ashamed of my profession," the letters said:

"The atomic threat hanging over the world forces me as a scientist having relations with atomic problems to make the present statement.

". . . The imperialists of such countries as the United States and Britain are subjugating the discoveries of atomic energy in preparation of a new war, using atomic and nuclear weapons as a means for achieving world domination."

Pontecorvo said he was convinced that the "chief attention of scientific forces in the Soviet Union is directed toward using this greatest scientific discovery (atomic energy) for the welfare of humanity."

The letters said "the seriousness of the situation created by the threat of revival of German militarism and the intention of the warmongers to prepare atomic war oblige every honest man, especially the scientist, to do everything in his power to ward off the creation of a new war."

The letters were signed Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo, winner of the Stalin prize. This was believed to be the first mention that he has received this award, usually valued at about $25,000.

Asserting that many persons in the west had been misled, he said he would particularly like to ask Prof. I. I. Rabi of Columbia University "if he still holds the opinion which he expressed in a talk to me in 1949 that 'the Soviet Union does not have the industrial equipment necessary to produce powerful nuclear reactors' and 'the Russians will never be able to produce atomic energy.'"

Dr. Rabi, a Nobel prizewinning physicist, is the U. S. representative on the UN Advisory Board preparing the world Atoms-for-Peace Conference in Geneva this year. He could not be located immediately in New York or Washington for comment.

Official Washington has labeled Pontecorvo the second deadliest spy in history. The top ranking was given to Klaus Fuchs, a German-born British scientist imprisoned by Britain since 1950 for handing western atomic secrets to the Russians.

Bomber Crashes

civilians as Albert Morgan, 24, and his wife Kate, 20, both of Lake Charles.

T/Sgt. James C. Sapp of Lake Charles AFB was burned when debris ignited his trailer home. His condition was termed not critical. His wife was uninjured.

THE PLANE was based at Lake Charles AFB in extreme southwest Louisiana, near the Texas border and the Gulf of Mexico. B47s were designed to carry A-bombs and H-bombs and are considered the backbone of the bomber forces.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered over an area more than 250 yards long and 75 yards wide.

The main part of the plane careened into the Morgans' house, carrying the bodies of the pilot and the co-pilot. The body of the observer was found in the field.

COLE OLEN, a resident of the area, said he saw the wreckage hit the Morgan house and he ran to it. He kicked in the front door, but was driven back by the searing heat.

The impact of the crash apparently hurled the sleeping couple from their beds into the bathroom.

Several unoccupied houses and several trailers also were burned.

The plane apparently sheared communication and power lines as it roared in, cutting off telephone and electric service in the surrounding residential area.

Longest Wings

Among birds, the frigate, or man-of-war, carries the longest wings for the size of the body. The narrow wings of an adult span seven feet, permitting effortless gliding, says the National Geographic Society. Unlike many sea birds, the frigate lacks waterproof plumage. To avoid water, adults dive-bomb flying fish or snatch prey from the crest of a wave. Often they rob a booby on the wing, forcing it to drop its fish dinner and seizing the loot before it hits the water.

Egypt Says Israel

about 30 wounded but that Israeli casualties were not known.

Earlier Egyptian announcements had put the toll at 38 dead and 21 wounded but the latter figure was increased later today.

IN THE FIRST REPORT of the action Egypt's Director of Palestine Affaires, Lt. Col. Salah Gohar, said the Israeli forces surrounded the Egyptian unit and blasted it with mortars, demolition charges and automatic weapons, then ambushed a truckload of Egyptian reinforcements on their way to the attacked position.

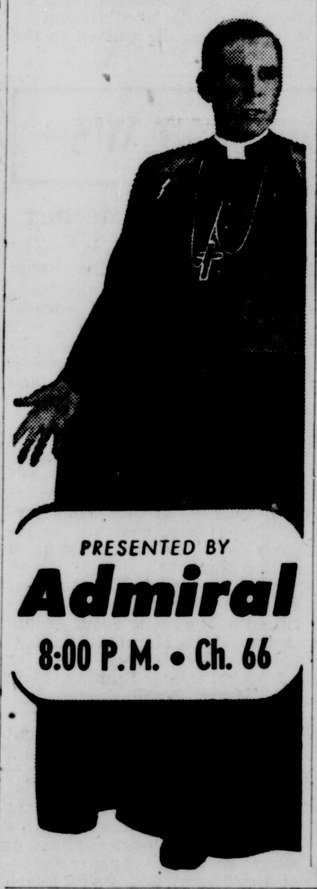

The Egyptian charged also that the attackers destroyed a well supplying one-third the water for the ancient town of Gaza, whose population is estimated at about 40,000.

It was expected Egypt would act quickly to bring the incident before the UN Security Council.

The rectangular Gaza strip, 12 to 16 miles wide, extends about 60 miles northeast along the Mediterranean from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. It was awarded to the Arabs by the 1947 UN Partition of Palestine and has been occupied by Egypt since 1948.

West Virginia was formed from 40 western counties of Virginia.

Poughkeepsie

L. Dorsey also of Newburgh, in a Plattekill burglary, appeared in court for assignment of counsel. He had formerly told the court he would get counsel. Francis Tucker was assigned.

Dorsey, represented by William D. Brinnier, 3rd, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry and was sentenced to a year in jail and was given credit for the time already served. The first count of the indictment, burglary, third degree, was dismissed.

Jurors were excused for the balance of the term and court recessed until today.

Judge Cashin announced that 29 civil actions had been disposed of at this term and 25 criminal matters had been disposed of.

Carriers Leave Manila

Manila, March 1 (AP) — The U. S. aircraft carriers Midway and Wasp steamed out of Manila Bay today for routine operations in the South China Sea, a navy spokesman said. The carriers came here two weeks ago after guarding the evacuation of Chinese Nationalists from the Tachen Islands to Formosa.

He is scheduled to speak to the diplomats Wednesday, and depart for Formosa Thursday. In Taipei, he will attend the exchange of ratifications of the U. S.-Nationalist China Mutual Defense Pact. In his conferences here, Dulles will brief the U. S. diplomats on latest developments affecting U. S. foreign policy in Asia.

Okinawans Build Dams

Okinawans, with United States help, have built 17 large dams since World War 2, says the National Geographic Society. Nakahodo Dam offers an example of what has been accomplished. Its 11,500,000-gallon capacity enables near-by farmers to triple their cultivated acreage and boost their rice yield fivefold.

Names Projected

The names of some states are projected in other states. For example, New York has a town named Alabama, Pennsylvania has an Indiana, and Louisiana an Arizona. Five states have a California, three an Ohio, and seven a Wyoming. There is a Texas in Kentucky and a Tennessee in Illinois, says the National Geographic Society.

cause preparations there for military use of atomic energy made him "ashamed of my profession," the letters said:

"The atomic threat hanging over the world forces me as a scientist having relations with atomic problems to make the present statement.

". . . The imperialists of such countries as the United States and Britain are subjugating the discoveries of atomic energy in preparation of a new war, using atomic and nuclear weapons as a means for achieving world domination."

Pontecorvo said he was convinced that the "chief attention of scientific forces in the Soviet Union is directed toward using this greatest scientific discovery (atomic energy) for the welfare of humanity."

The letters said "the seriousness of the situation created by the threat of revival of German militarism and the intention of the warmongers to prepare atomic war oblige every honest man, especially the scientist, to do everything in his power to ward off the creation of a new war."

The letters were signed Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo, winner of the Stalin prize. This was believed to be the first mention that he has received this award, usually valued at about $25,000.

Asserting that many persons in the west had been misled, he said he would particularly like to ask Prof. I. I. Rabi of Columbia University "if he still holds the opinion which he expressed in a talk to me in 1949 that 'the Soviet Union does not have the industrial equipment necessary to produce powerful nuclear reactors' and 'the Russians will never be able to produce atomic energy.'"

Dr. Rabi, a Nobel prizewinning physicist, is the U. S. representative on the UN Advisory Board preparing the world Atoms-for-Peace Conference in Geneva this year. He could not be located immediately in New York or Washington for comment.

Official Washington has labeled Pontecorvo the second deadliest spy in history. The top ranking was given to Klaus Fuchs, a German-born British scientist imprisoned by Britain since 1950 for handing western atomic secrets to the Russians.

Bomber Crashes

civilians as Albert Morgan, 24, and his wife Kate, 20, both of Lake Charles.

T/Sgt. James C. Sapp of Lake Charles AFB was burned when debris ignited his trailer home. His condition was termed not critical. His wife was uninjured.

THE PLANE was based at Lake Charles AFB in extreme southwest Louisiana, near the Texas border and the Gulf of Mexico. B47s were designed to carry A-bombs and H-bombs and are considered the backbone of the bomber forces.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered over an area more than 250 yards long and 75 yards wide.

The main part of the plane careened into the Morgans' house, carrying the bodies of the pilot and the co-pilot. The body of the observer was found in the field.

COLE OLEN, a resident of the area, said he saw the wreckage hit the Morgan house and he ran to it. He kicked in the front door, but was driven back by the searing heat.

The impact of the crash apparently hurled the sleeping couple from their beds into the bathroom.

Several unoccupied houses and several trailers also were burned.

The plane apparently sheared communication and power lines as it roared in, cutting off telephone and electric service in the surrounding residential area.

Longest Wings

Among birds, the frigate, or man-of-war, carries the longest wings for the size of the body. The narrow wings of an adult span seven feet, permitting effortless gliding, says the National Geographic Society. Unlike many sea birds, the frigate lacks waterproof plumage. To avoid water, adults dive-bomb flying fish or snatch prey from the crest of a wave. Often they rob a booby on the wing, forcing it to drop its fish dinner and seizing the loot before it hits the water.

Egypt Says Israel

about 30 wounded but that Israeli casualties were not known.

Earlier Egyptian announcements had put the toll at 38 dead and 21 wounded but the latter figure was increased later today.

IN THE FIRST REPORT of the action Egypt's Director of Palestine Affaires, Lt. Col. Salah Gohar, said the Israeli forces surrounded the Egyptian unit and blasted it with mortars, demolition charges and automatic weapons, then ambushed a truckload of Egyptian reinforcements on their way to the attacked position.

The Egyptian charged also that the attackers destroyed a well supplying one-third the water for the ancient town of Gaza, whose population is estimated at about 40,000.

It was expected Egypt would act quickly to bring the incident before the UN Security Council.

The rectangular Gaza strip, 12 to 16 miles wide, extends about 60 miles northeast along the Mediterranean from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. It was awarded to the Arabs by the 1947 UN Partition of Palestine and has been occupied by Egypt since 1948.

The area has been the scene of hundreds of border incidents in the past year.

West Virginia was formed from 40 western counties of Virginia.

Poughkeepsie

L. Dorsey also of Newburgh, in a Plattekill burglary, appeared in court for assignment of counsel. He had formerly told the court he would get counsel. Francis Tucker was assigned.

Dorsey, represented by William D. Brinnier, 3rd, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry and was sentenced to a year in jail and was given credit for the time already served. The first count of the indictment, burglary, third degree, was dismissed.

Jurors were excused for the balance of the term and court recessed until today.

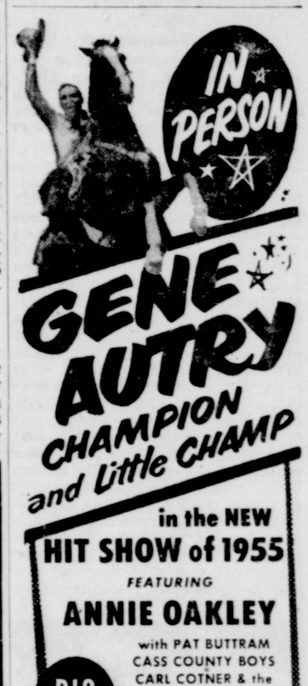

Judge Cashin announced that 29 civil actions had been disposed of at this term and 25 criminal matters had been disposed of.

Carriers Leave Manila

Manila, March 1 (AP) — The U. S. aircraft carriers Midway and Wasp steamed out of Manila Bay today for routine operations in the South China Sea, a navy spokesman said. The carriers came here two weeks ago after guarding the evacuation of Chinese Nationalists from the Tachen Islands to Formosa.

There are eight miles of the Seine river in Paris.

Third Atomic Device Set Off

Las Vegas, Nev., March 1 (AP)—A reddish flash so bright it was seen in five states accompanied the predawn detonation today of the third atomic device in the 1955 test series.

Touched off in clear weather at 5:30 a. m. (8:30 a. m., EST), the spectacle was visible as far away as Pocatello, Utah, 475 miles away. It was also visible in Phoenix, Ariz., 440 miles southeast. Observers in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, and St. George, Utah, also witnessed it.

THE ATOMIC ENERGY Commission said the explosion was similar in power to the second shot of the series, Feb. 22, which would make it one of the smaller explosions here. The Feb. 22 blast gave Las Vegas its best jolt in three years. Today's however, barely rattled windows here.

At the control station on Yucca Flat, 75 miles northwest, observers said they felt the shock as a "strong thump." The device was detonated from a 300-foot tower.

A mushroom cloud rose quickly to above 27,000 feet and formed an ice cap, then moved off toward the east under the impetus of a 40-knot wind.

SOME 60 SOLDIERS from Camp Desert Rock observed the sight from trenches an undisclosed distance away. There were no casualties and troops moved in toward the blast area shortly afterward to inspect vehicles, dummies and weapons exposed to blast effects.

Today's device was developed by the AEC's research laboratory at Livermore, Calif., and was the first exclusively Livermore project tried at the test site. Livermore's work is mainly concerned with hydrogen-type weapons, but the AEC has said no hydrogen devices are to be tested here.

THE ONLY WORD on today's shot was an AEC statement that it had a yield of "several kilotons." A kiloton is equal to 1,000 tons of TNT. The Hiroshima atomic bomb had a 20-kiloton yield.

Approximately 40 aircraft flew support, technical and training missions, including eight F84 Thunderstreaks of the Tactical Air Command which practices fighter-bomber delivery techniques.

Residents of many communities in the states where the blast was visible arose to witness the flash. Some reported it as yellow or orange, others as pink. The majority of witnesses described the predominant color as red.

A group of newsmen were permitted for the first time today to fly in one of the planes tracking the atomic cloud. The AEC granted the permission to underline emphasis being placed on safety of the Nevada tests.

A newly-born kangaroo is only about one inch long and weighs approximately 1/350th of a pound.

THEIR MARRIAGE ON THE ROCKS—Singer Jane Froman and John C. Burn, shown before their marriage in 1948, have agreed to separate "for the present," she said in a brief announcement in New York (Feb. 28). Burn was pilot of a plane that crashed in 1943 in Portugal. Both he and Miss Froman were severely injured but he held her above icy water until they were rescued. They were married five years later as she walked to the altar on crutches. (AP Wirephoto).

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Girl Scout Week Plans Are Given

Woodstock, March 1—At a recent meeting of the Woodstock Girl Scout Community Association, plans were made to have the window of the Woodstock Bank of Orange County decorated in observance of Girl Scout Week, March 8 to 12. The decorations will be made by the members of all Girl Scout troops in the village, and the decoration of the window will be under the supervision of Mrs. Theodore H. Alten Ritter.

The 43rd birthday of Girl Scouting will be observed with a party at the Woodstock School on Friday, March 11, at 3:30 p. m. The actual birthday date is Saturday, March 12, but the celebration will be held Friday afternoon. The program will include the flag ceremony, Girl Scout songs, the investiture of several Scouts, and Mrs. Aart Vos will speak on Girl Scouting in Holland. Each girl will donate the number of pennies equivalent to her age to the Juliette Low Fund, in honor of the founder of Girl Scouting in America.

Sunday, March 6, has been designated as "Going To Church Day" for Girl Scout Week. Girls attending the various churches in Woodstock will wear their Scout uniform.

The following nominating committee has been appointed for the election of new officers for the Woodstock Girl Scout Community Association: Mrs. Donald Jackson, chairman; Mrs. Adolf Heckeroth and Mrs. Richare E. Thibaut, Jr.

Home Bureau Meeting

Woodstock, March 1 — The Woodstock unit of the Home Bureau will meet in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church, Tuesday, March 8, at 2 p. m. Miss Therese Kessel will give a short talk on Mexico, showing paintings, fabrics and prints.

Village Notes

Woodstock, March 1—During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Waterous, Mrs. Herbert Waterous is at her home receiving guests, contrary to reports that she has been in a sanitarium.

Eno Compton 3rd arrived last Friday to spend his spring vacation at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon. He will be her guest for a month, from Rumsey Hall, Washington, Conn.

Nelson Shultis and Charles Bailey and some guests went hunting for rabbits in Delaware county over the weekend.

From Coral Gables, Fla., Archbishop William H. Francis, of the Church of Christ on the Mount, Woodstock, writes of many speaking engagements—at the Miami and Palm Beach forums; the Young People's Group of White Temple Methodist Church in Miami, where he has already spoken several times; at a Palm Beach synagogue; at a Negro church in Palm Beach.

Zena Card Party

Woodstock, March 1 — There will be a card party at the Zena Country Club, Saturday, at 8:15 p. m., for the benefit of the Zena School Band. Refreshments will be served.

Matusow Invokes Fifth Amendment

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Harvey Matusow, self-styled former Communist, invoked his Fifth Amendment privilege today when asked if he had testified truthfully in a 1953 Texas probe of certain labor unions.

The 28-year-old turnabout witness protested against being pressed about the testimony he gave in Texas until he had a chance to study the transcript of what he had told the state investigators.

REFUSING TO ANSWER questions put to him by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, Matusow said he would invoke "the protection afforded by the Fifth Amendment." This amendment gives a person the right to refuse to give testimony which might incriminate him.

In the past various persons whom Matusow has accused of being Reds have invoked their Fifth Amendment privilege when called before the Senate subcommittee and other congressional investigators.

After testifying volubly for more than three days in the internal security subcommittee's probe into his repudiation of sworn testimony, Matusow suddenly refused to answer when he was asked about his appearance before the Texas Industrial Commission in December, 1953.

Official Is Slain

Casablanca, French Morocco, March 1 (AP)—Sherif Moulay Idriss, founder of the moderate Democratic Party of Freemen, was assassinated today. Two men were waiting for him as he left his home. He was hit by five revolver bullets as his eldest daughter looked on. The killers escaped on a bicycle. A French official said Moulay Idriss' party opposes the Nationalist Istiqlal and favors a republic that would collaborate closely with the French. He added, however, that the party is small and not influential. Two Moroccans were killed and four others wounded in a series of shootings at Casablanca last night.

Teachers Are Available

Trenton, N. J., March 1 (AP)—New Jersey's school districts soon will be able to call on a pool of almost 600 teachers specially trained to instruct mentally retarded and physically handicapped children. The division of higher education in the State Department of Education announced yesterday 581 teachers are taking special courses at five teacher colleges in the state.

Leibhardt

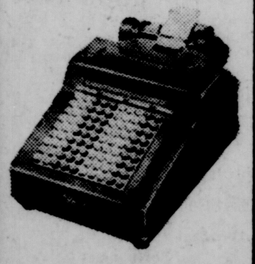

Leibhardt, March 1—Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Taylor of Wallkill visited their cousin, Mrs. E. B. Markle, Saturday, and on Friday a cousin, Miss Marguerite Kelder and Miss Lillian Hyatt of Kelder's Hotel, Rosendale, called. Floyd Brown was also a caller.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chrisey and daughter of Albany visited Sunday the former's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Chrisey.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Quick and family have moved back into their home that was damaged by fire and water some weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bredy of New York spent the weekend at the Tom Rice home.

Marriage May End

Miami Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Singer Jane Froman says her fairy-tale marriage to Pilot John C. Burn is threatened by "personal problems." She announced yesterday they had "decided to part for awhile" in hope the "very, very personal' 'differences would iron themselves out. When asked if she had any plans for a divorce, she quickly replied, "absolutely none." "We feel we can resolve our personal problems more easily if we're apart," she told reporters at a press conference.

Soldier Is Injured

Seoul, March 1 (AP)—Fire destroyed four buildings and injured an American soldier at the U. S. 3rd Transportation Railway headquarters here today. The soldier's name was withheld.

Trailer Driver Goes Over Bank Near Kerhonkson

A tractor-trailer owned by Luetta Smith, Dearborn, Mich., swerved off the highway on Route 209 about two miles north of Kerhonkson at 8:30 a. m. yesterday and plunged down an embankment, it was reported today by Ellenville State Police.

Troopers said the driver, Russell Smith, 37, also of Dearborn, told them he was proceeding north when a car came suddenly out of a side road on his left.

He said he would have hit the car, a 1953 sedan operated by Caroline Bowman of Accord, if he had not pulled off the west side of the highway.

Troopers said there was no collision and no arrests. The tractor-trailer suffered some damage, it was reported.

Third Atomic Device Set Off

Las Vegas, Nev., March 1 (AP)—A reddish flash so bright it was seen in five states accompanied the predawn detonation today of the third atomic device in the 1955 test series.

Touched off in clear weather at 5:30 a. m. (8:30 a. m., EST), the spectacle was visible as far away as Pocatello, Utah, 475 miles away. It was also visible in Phoenix, Ariz., 440 miles southeast. Observers in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, and St. George, Utah, also witnessed it.

THE ATOMIC ENERGY Commission said the explosion was similar in power to the second shot of the series, Feb. 22, which would make it one of the smaller explosions here. The Feb. 22 blast gave Las Vegas its best jolt in three years. Today's however, barely rattled windows here.

At the control station on Yucca Flat, 75 miles northwest, observers said they felt the shock as a "strong thump." The device was detonated from a 300-foot tower.

A mushroom cloud rose quickly to above 27,000 feet and formed an ice cap, then moved off toward the east under the impetus of a 40-knot wind.

SOME 60 SOLDIERS from Camp Desert Rock observed the sight from trenches an undisclosed distance away. There were no casualties and troops moved in toward the blast area shortly afterward to inspect vehicles, dummies and weapons exposed to blast effects.

Today's device was developed by the AEC's research laboratory at Livermore, Calif., and was the first exclusively Livermore project tried at the test site. Livermore's work is mainly concerned with hydrogen-type weapons, but the AEC has said no hydrogen devices are to be tested here.

THE ONLY WORD on today's shot was an AEC statement that it had a yield of "several kilotons." A kiloton is equal to 1,000 tons of TNT. The Hiroshima atomic bomb had a 20-kiloton yield.

Approximately 40 aircraft flew support, technical and training missions, including eight F84 Thunderstreaks of the Tactical Air Command which practices fighter-bomber delivery techniques.

Residents of many communities in the states where the blast was visible arose to witness the flash. Some reported it as yellow or orange, others as pink. The majority of witnesses described the predominant color as red.

A group of newsmen were permitted for the first time today to fly in one of the planes tracking the atomic cloud. The AEC granted the permission to underline emphasis being placed on safety of the Nevada tests.

THEIR MARRIAGE ON THE ROCKS—Singer Jane Froman and John C. Burn, shown before their marriage in 1948, have agreed to separate "for the present," she said in a brief announcement in New York (Feb. 28). Burn was pilot of a plane that crashed in 1943 in Portugal. Both he and Miss Froman were severely injured but he held her above icy water until they were rescued. They were married five years later as she walked to the altar on crutches. (AP. Wirephoto).

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Girl Scout Week Plans Are Given

Woodstock, March 1—At a recent meeting of the Woodstock Girl Scout Community Association, plans were made to have the window of the Woodstock Bank of Orange County decorated in observance of Girl Scout Week, March 8 to 12. The decorations will be made by the members of all Girl Scout troops in the village, and the decoration of the window will be under the supervision of Mrs. Theodore H. Alten Ritter.

The 43rd birthday of Girl Scouting will be observed with a party at the Woodstock School on Friday, March 11, at 3:30 p. m. The actual birthday date is Saturday, March 12, but the celebration will be held Friday afternoon. The program will include the flag ceremony, Girl Scout songs, the investiture of several Scouts, and Mrs. Aart Vos will speak on Girl Scouting in Holland. Each girl will donate the number of pennies equivalent to her age to the Juliette Low Fund, in honor of the founder of Girl Scouting in America.

Sunday, March 6, has been designated as "Going To Church Day" for Girl Scout Week. Girls attending the various churches in Woodstock will wear their Scout uniform.

The following nominating committee has been appointed for the election of new officers for the Woodstock Girl Scout Community Association: Mrs. Donald Jackson, chairman; Mrs. Adolf Heckeroth and Mrs. Richare E. Thibaut, Jr.
